WE'LL GIVE 'EM A RISE

Rich Scum Have We Got Plans For You

There's money pouring into the Eastend and there's probably more to come. What's this I hear you say has the government given a huge sum of money to help some of the countrys poorer boroughs? No way. The only new money around is passing from the rich scum hands into the estate agents, building companies and other rich scums bank accounts. You would think that these middle class mutants would have been content with taking over Islington, but no, these parasitic 'city limits readers' are now spreading into areas such as the Isle of Dogs, Hackney and other parts of the Eastend. Houses which were once inhabited by working class people who had to live in them while landlords refused repairs, until the houses were so run down that they were no way fit to live in. Now these houses are sold for anything up to £90,000. And who are the people who can afford such prices? Not people like us who can just about survive on pathetically low wages or the pitiful sum they call social security money. I don't think it is worth trying to get a mortgage by putting up your UB40 as security. Look in any local paper in Hackney the amount of houses for sale is staggering and the prices are unbelievable, for example, 'Gore Road, E9, 3 floor Victorian house with garden beside Victoria park' for only £90,000. Meanwhile people live in massive high rise blocks, paying out of order rent; where the lifts don't work and if you have kids there is nowhere for them to play where you can keep an eye on them.

In Wates brochure they set the scene for the idyllic place of Victoria Park Road they rattle on about Hackney a place with history and character. Not the history we know, that is the history of poverty, deprivation, unemployment, and housing shortages. Things that these parasites have never experience in their priveleged and pampered lifestyles.

The same goes for the Isle of Dogs, Docklands and other areas along the Thames. Barrett have got places in Gun Wharf Wapping, 1 bedroom apartments from £56,000 and penthouses from over a quarter of a million. Or if you live by the river in Tower Hamlets you can probably see those lovely apartments priced from £67,000 at Luralda Wharf.

What's more its the working class themselves that have to build these houses we build them, they own them and at the end of the day we trudge back home up 14 flights of stairs (because the lifts are broken) and back into our pokey little flats which are just about ready to fall.

Already people living in the docklands who have had their livelihoods destroyed by past and present governments and the poxy capitalist system, are putting up resistance to the building of homes for the rich scum. The houses have been sprayed with anti-rich graffiti and rich scums cars were trashed. People occupied one site to prevent builders moving on and demanded that homes were built for the people of the area. We should follow their examples tell the rich scum they are not wanted and fuck off back to their own areas to await the retribution of the working class.

Wates have some charming designs for you in Hackney.

Wates are putting their plans into action for an exciting new development in Victoria Park Road, an increasingly sought after location with excellent investment potential. Everything from 1 bedroom flats to 3 bedroom houses, built around landscaped squares, with exteriors that reflect the Victorian theme - bow-top sashed windows, soldier courses and wrought iron railings, whilst their interiors echo grace and charm with the benefits of Wates modern quality throughout. Each home has its own parking space and you're only one stop from Liverpool Street Station on the Central Line! (Bethnal Green is only half a mile away).

DECENT HOMES
FOR ALL !!
NOT LUXURY
FOR THE FEW !!

It is sick that people live in an area all their lives or the best part of it only to get priced out by a bunch of 'OK Yah!' tossers. These houses should be done up for the people of the local area who lived in them originally or for the homeless. Instead working class people are forced to move into sub-standard accomadation with whole families living in one room B+B. There are thousands of homeless people and families in London alone and at the rate council houses are being built it will be the year 3000 before they would be housed! Meanwhile in 1984 140,000 private homes were being built. One building firm Wates advertises "Hackney Have We Got Plans For You" of course they have eased out the working class from all the choice spots such as near the parks. Old factory lands near canals and rivers are turned into beautiful areas for housing the rich who will pay a pittance for someone to come in and clean for them.

Elegantly furnished Penthouses overlooking the Thames at Tower Bridge, now available for viewing.

LIVE AID-PISSING in the WIND

We live in a world of surplus, yet every where millions are starving. Two thirds of the world's population are mal-nourished, while in the west overeating is one of our biggest killers and still we have massive stockpiles of food which stay stuck in their warehouses because it is more profitable to the owners to hang on to it than to distribute it to those who need it. This sick joke is the reality of capitalism. That their filthy profits are more important than people. The history of capitalism is that the profits of an elite, our so called social betters, come before the interests of the poor who live under them, those like us at the bottom of the pile. The capitalist machine is fueled by over consumption and greed, and just as they exploit and abuse their own workers, they systematically do it abroad, resulting in, for the people of the third world, destruction of their old lifestyles and means of support. Because we cannot ignore this suffering that our system has created in Africa we must occasionally wash our consciences through public spectacles like Live Aid. Of course it is great that some money is raised to help feed people yet really it is nothing but a smokescreen to hide the real problems and the faces of the guilty. Live Aid provides no future for the people it claims to help. It papers over a few cracks but ignores the roots of the problem, it is nothing more than flinging the Ethiopians a few crumbs of 'Our charity'.

The real way to end their suffering is to destroy the causes of exploitation where ever we find them. To destroy the power of the new slave masters of the third world, the capitalist multinationals... corporations like IBM, Thorn, Coca Cola, Nestles etc. These corporations create more wealth for themselves while ripping off the poor left, right and centre, with the full approval of their governments and the people who claim to care for the 3rd world. Ethiopia has no future in the efforts of a bunch of pathetic, posing, filthy rich pop stars, who help prop up the system of world exploitation, while mouthing trendy slogans about 'Feed the World', driving round in limousines and sniffing cocaine.

Gelding and Big Ears guzzle pints of Pimms while they gawp from the Toffs Box.

No chance of this fucking stand catching fire..too bad for us!

Since Live Aid the record sales of the bands and artists involved have risen by about 25% so that these people are actually profiting by their involvement in Live Aid. Most of them knew all along that for themselves it was just another publicity stunt and there would be a profit in it for them. Yet another example of the rich exploiting the poor of the world. If these bastards had any sense of decency they would turn over their whole bank accounts to Ethiopia. Not just give a few days work.

The only solution is to free the world of this disgusting system that has us all in its grip, of profits before people. This is not a time for charity but a time for political action against our rich oppressors.

THE CLASS WAR MUST BE FOUGHT IN ALL COUNTRIES

ROB THE ROBBERS

ROBBING THE POOR

So the bastards really are preparing to grind the faces of the poor. The new social security proposals cannot be described in less vivid terms. Those of us at the bottom of the shit heap are to be punished for the crimes of those at the top. Obviously, the idea is to force us to take any shitwork at shit wages, or be starved into submission. Just as obviously, this isn't the only thing that's going to happen. More and more people are going to see no alternative but robbery. However, many will end up robbing, not the rich, but those as poor as them. Working class areas will be even more plagued by muggers and burglars, and the response will be calls for increased policing. Racists will have a field day blaming black kids for every petty crime that occurs, and the community will enter a downward spiral of deprivation and division. As we have said before, we are absolutely opposed to stealing from our class. To do so is to be no better than the capitalist scum who have stolen our whole world from us. The garbage who beat up the old, nick from council flats, and leave working class people scared to walk the streets deserve the same treatment as the bosses. But this is not enough, we must show people that they can have a decent standard of living without resorting to this level of activity. Many of us will have no option but to carry out expropriations.

But these must be directed against our class enemies. We must organise mass raids on supermarkets, we must loot rich houses and cars, we must not only give individual rich scum a kicking, but empty their wallets as well. And recognising that not all the poor are in a position to take part in these actions, and in keeping with anarchist principles, we must share our ill-gotten gains with other victims of this new and vicious instrument of thatcherite terror. In this way we will show not only that these things can be done, but will also build support against the inevitable clampdown. We can ask for payment not in money, but in safe storage areas, alibis, etc.

The rich are robbing us of everything, let's try and even the balance!

People evicted from B&B accommodation by the new DSS rules have set up tent cities in Newcastle, Manchester etc, why not move into Hampstead to the posh areas.

HOORAY

Travelling down to Henley on a train full of Hooray Henrys prattling on about skiing in Switzerland and Lady Camilla's coming out ball. How i managed to keep my gob shut and my hands from strangling the bastards is the 8th wonder of the world!. This year there's a new topic of conversation though-the anarchists! Hooray Henriettas are assured by the Hooray Henrys that they'll be over a thousand police, some of them armed, there to protect them. They (but not me!) are reassured by the sight of a police helicopter and a hundred fat porkers sweltering in the sun in a school field just outside Henley. At Ealing Broadway 20 kids, many of them black, dive on to the train jeering the rich snobs and shoving them out the way. The considerable anxiety in the next carriage is further increased by the arrival of 10 casuals from Southall, well armed with special brew, and seemingly not going to Henley to watch the rowing.

Arrive at Henley station. Fuckin' hell, theres old bill everywhere! With our crafty disguises we slip through the police cordon but anyone not looking like an obvious rich bastard is turned back. The black kids don't make it off the platform. On every street corner theres a van load of pigs. By the bridge to the royal enclosure theres a control van, a breakdown vehicle to remove any motors blocking the bridge, and van loads of back up police. Police on the bridge are filtering people across stopping anyone they don't like the look of. By now we've clocked a lot of class warriors from around the country blending in to the background-or at least trying to! Some Welsh hooligans have spent the night on posh boats on the Thames and have a few souvenirs to take home. We dive into the nearest boozer-all the pubs have security on the doors to keep out potential trouble makers, but we manage to sneak through. More news comes through-there's riot police at the back of the police station and van load after van of pigs.

After a few pints its back onto the streets, a lot of punks have somehow got through. Let battle commence-we start harrasing the stuck up toffs on the streets. Stand in their way, trip them up, spit on them, abuse them, open well shook up cans of lager as they pass by in their hundreds of pounds dresses. Knock their boaters off, smash their sunglasses, kick the bastards. They start to look really scared-despite the fact that theres a thousand police on duty they still can't be protected. Others are walking along the river bank kicking over hampers and champagne buckets there's no resistance, they look petrified. Gradually a sizeable mob is assembling near the bridge—about 200 of us. We give up the low profile and stand hurling abuse, spit and the odd can and bottle the rich. The Hoorays stop coming down the road. The police seal off the bridge, more pigs come running down the road, we're surrounded. We keep up the abuse for about 15 minutes. The police are getting fed up as we get into the second round of "Harry Roberts is our friend", very soon they're going to move in and nick the lot of us. Time to move on and resume guerilla warfare. We filter away in 2's and 3's—there is no mass arrest: Back to the guerilla harassment of the bastards. We maraude all over the town. A BMW is turned over, the tory club window goes in, fists fly and some hoorays decide to sunbathe fully clothed on the streets. Bricks and bottles fly over the back lanes into the gardens of rich mansions and startled sunbathers flee inside. Now a mercedes has gone over, all it's windows caving in, posh cars are booted as their drivers try to speed past us down the road, pig vans are racing around trying to keep up with the action, there are some arrests. This goes on for a couple of hours till we gradually leave Henley. A trainload of Hoorays are plastered with their own strawberries as they leave, soaked in beer and anything else that comes to hand, their boaters and sunglasses end up on the tracks. They wish they'd never boarded this train to leave Henley but many rich bastards after saturday wish they'd never gone there in the first place.

SAY HELLO TO

So what did Henley achieve

For the first time ever the rich have had to have over a thousand police, with helicopters, riot shields and armed units to protect them at one of their major social occasions. Many businesses, including garages and posh shops, closed down for the weekend preferring to lose their expected large profits rather than risk being smashed up. The rich now know what it's like to be under siege conditions, to be scared shitless everytime they wandered more than a few hundred yards from a policeman. The police are there to protect the rich and their wealth from the rest of us—well, from now on from now on they're going to have to work a lot harder at it. This year there were a few hundred of us at Henley but next year there'll be thousands and the police will have to turn the place into a virtual prison for the rich to stop us getting at them.

The millionaire musician was attacked by a thug who jumped on him from behind.

Rick said: "I didn't see him at all. I was knocked out cold pretty quickly."

"I've got a black eye, a few loose teeth and a swollen nose. And I've had a dreadful headache," he said.

Mob

HUNDREDS of anarchists bent on ruining Henley Royal Regatta avoid a security clampdown by disguising themselves as toffs.

The police are trying to make places where the rich are at their leisure, or where they live, no go areas for working class people. At Wilmslow in Cheshire the Chief Inspector has said that black people from Moss Side will be arrested if they go there since their only reasons for being there can be to burgle the rich houses. At Henley black kids and anyone who didn't look posh enough were denied entry to the town or harassed or arrested by the police. We will continue to take our fight in to the streets of the rich ghettos. There will be no no-go areas for us but we must make sure that working class areas become no-go areas for the rich—where they fear for their safety whenever they enter. We must continue to make them live under siege conditions.

Of course our sophisticated, intellectual revolutionary friends on the left will continue to deride us. From their well payed jobs as lecturers, social workers, probation officers and teachers propping up the system the allegedly despise, they will laugh patronisingly when we talk of jostling the rich in the streets. In Hampstead and Islington these wankers will prattle on about Nicaragua, Marxism today, yesterday and every fucking way. Cosily insulated from the rising class anger on the streets, for them politics is a trendy hobby. For us class hatred is a daily reality and one these wankers will find out about soon enough.

Henley is only part of our fight to build a working class movement designed to get rid of the rich and the police and politicians who protect them once and for all. We made mistakes at Henley, there were 43 arrests, we must improve our organisation and increase our combativity everytime. In September we are organising another Bash the Rich march to Britains richest borough Hampstead. We can make this the biggest demonstration of class hatred and anger we've had for years. If we organise to get the homeless, those pissed off with being fucked over by the DHSS by the new bed and breakfast regulations and all working class people, employed or unemployed to come along we can get thousands of us to march into Hampstead. We have no demands to make of the rich, there are no reforms or concessions they can make to stop us. In September class war will rage in the leafy avenues of Hampstead. Make sure you're there!

HAMPSTEAD !

WOMEN!

Capitalism is a system in which they, the few, have the power over us, the majority. To keep us from uniting and rebelling they divide us so that we're not only kept down by them, the rich and powerful, but also by each other.

So where do women fit into this then? The Trots would say that women's oppression is just to do with capitalism, and how it makes money out of women feeding, clothing and looking after the workers, buying the things that they've produced, and having kids to keep the whole thing going. Once capitalism is gone, they say, women will no longer be oppressed; once they're no longer dependent on men for money they will no longer be in chains. They forget one small detail on the way, which is that women's oppression started long before capitalist society developed, and so just changing the way wealth is shared won't liberate women. What they stop at is questioning the whole idea of authority; they don't realise that power is not just to do with money.

As women we're treated as though we don't really exist - we are not treated as significant beings, neither by men nor by ourselves. And so our suffering becomes invisible too. The only time we're noticed is when we attach ourselves to men. They treat us as though we're empty dolls, put on this earth for man's pleasure; we're here for him to fuck and spew out his sons. Our position as his servant gives him power, it makes him feel like he's a real MAN. When he gets tired of looking at us or listening to what he considers our empty talk (not because it is, but because it must be since we're women) then we're ordered back into the kitchen,

When we walk down the street men touch us up, whistle at us or rape us, because they think of our bodies as being there for their pleasure. Porn, tele, books, ads all encourage them, telling them what they want to hear - that there's nothing a woman enjoys more than being seen as a sex object - when she says no, she really means yes. Their conceit blinds them - its unthinkable that she should not want them to. Once she rejects them she becomes a threat to their whole idea of their own masculinity - therefore the line that what lesbians really need is a good fuck / men.

Blaming ourselves is quite central in our oppression. We have been brought up to see ourselves through men's eyes, we are made to feel inadequate, stupid etc. This makes sure that whenever anything goes wrong we blame ourselves, or accept men blaming us, and so the more shit we get the less we think of ourselves. This makes us perfect for domination of any kind.

Having said that all women are oppressed it is, of course, important to realise that in a class society there is no room for a womens movement including all women. Women are divided, just as men are, and even though they are all oppressed as women, the middle class feminists have completely different aims, interests and methods from working class women, and so the line that because we are all women we speak the same language is bullshit. In many ways middle and upper class so-called feminists conspire to make their supposed women's liberation exclusive; their oppression is a lot more comfortable than ours, their rebellion is usually only a fight to be seen as equals with men and that's as far as they go. They sell us down the river because our oppression guarantees a more comfortable, if not free, way of life for them. We know it makes fuck all difference to our lives whether there's women cops, women judges and women prime ministers, because it's still the same shit they're dishing out.

We want total revolution, an end to any form of power, dominance and submission. While the middle class 'feminists' slot neatly into the male dominated system, go off to become witches, to pray to the great Earth Mother, or join the Labour Party, we are left in our shitty jobs, slummy streets and estates, and in the marriages we have to stay in because we've nowhere else to go.

As women we're being forced into a more and more desperate position at the moment, as the rich increase the oppression in a last attempt to contain us all. We're getting forced into even worse jobs than before, getting fuck all pay for our drudgery. More and more of us will be forced to sell our bodies on the streets to survive. Our rights to our own bodies will soon be completely non-existent, as the few reforms that women in the past shed blood and tears to obtain are being chopped away. As society falls apart, we are left to pick up the pieces, meanwhile valium addiction soars to unknown heights, and new laws make us more and more dependant on men.

We don't believe that just because we shoot the rich and burn down their institutions, women will be radically free. Just like the rich who hold the ultimate power will not step down and hand it over to us if we say please, men will not give up their power over women unless they're forced to. We don't think that things will be different after a revolution unless we start challenging male power NOW.

But that isn't to say that men should sit back and wait for women for women to think everything out, and do all the work. In fact we're sick of hearing men's tearful accounts of how hard it is to be oppressors. If they really feel so badly about it, then they'll start changing by themselves. If we have to correct, lecture them and remind them that we are people too, then it's obvious that they never really wanted to change in the first place.

What we must do, is organise round our specific experience as women, in our streets, communities, workplaces etc.. By sharing ideas and experiences we can develop together and give each other confidence. We have to develop solidarity between ourselves and to talk about the best ways for us to fight back. Whether we are fighting in the work place, in our streets - making them no go areas for the gasboard, cops, bailiffs, rapists, violent husbands etc.. We'll get a taste of what taking our lives into our own hands means. However important they are, these are only emergency measures, ultimately we're fighting for an end to all hierarchy, all leadership, all government and the whole sick idea of authority. Each woman knows how she is oppressed and what she wants to do about it and so it's up to her if she wants to work with men or not.

Us women in Class War have started meeting as often as we feel like, to talk about ourselves, our ideas and so on (and get pissed). We hope there'll soon be loads of us!

Rate - Capping

The farce of the metropolitan labour council's so called defiance of the Tories rate capping and council abolition plans is nearly over. Billed originally as part of a 2nd front to the miners (the comparison is an insult to the miners!) a 'united' group of lefty councils were going to 'stand firm', 'defend local democracy' and force major financial and political concessions from the Tories... what happened?. Surprise surprise, the threat of being held 'personally responsible' for overspending - and the loss of their power and middle class comforts scared the majority of councillors into setting rates.

So many times we've seen so called representatives of the working class go in to battle on behalf of 'their' people and then bottle out. It's not surprising though cause we know that real change, or just resistance can only come when all of us are organised and fighting. The councils never asked for or wanted real mass support or actions - their fight was just petty council career struggles... a publicity stunt aimed at a few voters.

The whole idea of defending services doesn't really hit home to most people anyway - What services?! The non-existent nurserys, the street lights that got broken but never mended, the damp flats on run down estates, the mass squatter evictions administered by £15,000 a year 'right on' lefty bureaucrats etc etc. People dependent on council services didn't jump to defend the councils because the councils never really cared for them at all. The idea of people rallying round a mixture of right wing mafioso in the O'Grady/Mellish tradition of Southwark supported by a racist trade union bureaucratic powerbase, and of trendy lefties like the Islington group e.g. Margaret Hodge mansion owner and heiress to the Oppenheimer fortune, is a sad joke. The corruption and arrogance of councils left and right hardly needs to be argued.

Defend council run services? No! We've got to fight with real class anger against the condition we're forced to live in, for decent community services run by us and for us, rent strikes, occupations of threatened nurserys, squatting of buildings left empty by the councils, the intimidation of bureaucrats and councillors who give and try to make us happy with shitty inadequate services and then have the nerve to take even these away. The key is in the action of those who need the services and of those who work for them now, not the council bureaucrats and careerists union leaders who are ready to shit on people as soon as it suits them.

The fight for services is one that will be fought and won by us, not the council tricksters and patronising bureaucrats - they are just as much our enemies as are the Tories.

Class War has been going for two years now, two years which have seen us move out of the 'ghetto of the faithful' which has traditionally trapped anarchist papers, to the point where we are selling 10,000 copies of each issue.

This is due to the fact that we've got out on the streets and sold the damn thing rather than leaving it mouldering in bookshops. And, wherever our ramshackle distribution system reaches, people clamour to buy the paper.

80 copies are sold in one bar in Glasgow 100 in an afternoon on the streets of Hastings, 400 the first time they make an appearance in Liverpool, 1500 on one demo in London.

BUT THIS IS NOT ENOUGH !

Its no good selling 100,000 copies if the people who buy them don't turn ideas into action. Class War is not about the few people who put this paper together. Its about YOU OUT THERE, or its about nothing. So what are you going to do about it?

Obviously, as anarchists we're not in the buisness of giving you a nice shiny membership card and a bundle of papers to sell, while we pat ourselves on the back for gaining another recruit. We want you to listen to what we've got to say, think about it, and then to organise with people you can trust to do whatever's necessary in your area to work towards the destruction of the owners and their multi death state machine.

In many towns there are already groups sympathetic to our ideas, and a letter to us can put you in touch with them.

However, if this is not the case, don't despair, you probably know some others who would be interested, so, get together with them, drop us a line, and we'll try to get someone with experience of forming a group to come over and have a chat (and a few beers or whatever) with you.

If, given our limited resources, this isn't possible, here are a few tips on organisation, drawn from our long (and bitter) collective experience.

Following on from the 3 previous national conferences of Class War and similar minded people, in London and Sheffield last year, and in Stoke this year, Class War held a 2 day national 'rally' in London, on a weekend in July. Over 200 people attended with debates and arguments etc. on...the Bash the Rich campaign, Ireland, Inner Cities, Class War and other papers, and the Future (!!) etc.

SPOOKS

Suprise!Suprise!We have heard from a number of sources that certain persons/organisations are showing a none too comradely interest in us. At last the 'anarchist' movement seems to be becoming abit. of athreat and Class War being the most visible has been singled out for particular attention. Class War is rapidly breaking out of the 'anarchist'ghetto and getting it's ideas across to ordinary people, and this is obviously going to be a source of concern to those in power. In order to deal with Class War's growing popularity, what better than to spread ' disinformation' about it. Don't be suprised then when perhaps a certain national newspaper or two publish some story about NF or MI5 infiltrators. This is of course only to be expected, but ..don't forget..you read about it here first!

Start off by working only with sensible people who belive in class struggle anarchism. One pacifist dork, junkie punk or nutter, can leave you wasting time and energy in fruitless arguments till everyone gets fucked off and gives up. Don't be too ambitious, only take on as much as you can handle. Don't end up spending every waking minute on it. That can safely be left to trot cults. 24 hour activism just leads to people getting 'burned out'

Beware of developing a leadership. Make sure everyone has an equal oppurtunity to contribute to the group. It may seem a bit bureaucratic, but having a chairperson at meetings can prevent them being dominated by those with the loudest voices.

Once you get going, make sure you don't get so cliquy that new people get put off getting invlved. Be friendly (but cautious) when people show interest.

Be aware that, as soon as you go public, especially i n a small place, the cops will sit up and take notice. Watch out for informers, surveillance and harrassment.

Personal squabbles, especially about whose sleeping with who, have destroyed far more anarchist groups than the state has. We havent found an answer to this yet ! If you find one that doesn't involve nobody sleeping with anyone, we'd be so grateful you wouldn't believe it !!

Once you get a local group off the ground, keep in touch. Send us reports of the struggle in your area. And, of course, if you DO want some papers to sell, you only have to write to: CLASS WAR, 84b WHITECHAPEL HIGH ST. LONDON E1

Hundreds of pensioners freeze to death every winter-others go without food for days living in poverty stricken conditions.

Meanwhile in millionaires row Hampstead the rich stuff their fat faces stupid.

CLASS ANGER HAS ERUPTED. WE'RE NOT GONNA STAY SULKING AWAY IN OUR ESTATES AND GHEPTOS, SCHOOLS, FACTORIES AND DOLE QUEUES, OUT OF SIGHT AND OUT OF MIND, ANY LONGER.....WE ARE ON THE WARPATH. AT HENLEY REGATTA THE HORDES OF RICH PARASITES WERE MADE TO FEEL OUR HATRED, TO SEE THE FIRST STORMCLOUDS ON THEIR HORIZON. WE FUCKED UP THEIR DAY JUST AS THEY FUCK UP OUR LIVES FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE.

BUT HENLEY, LIKE ALL THE OTHER TOFFY-NOSED SOCIAL EVENTS, IS JUST A CARNIVAL OF THEIR SWANKY LIFESTYLES - THE BASTARDS ALWAYS REMAIN SAFE BEHIND THE DOORS OF THEIR MANSIONS. NOW IS THE TIME TO TURN THE TABLES AND FIGHT BACK. WE'RE GONNA TAKE THE CLASS WAR TO THEIR FUCKIN DOORSTEPS.

HAMPSTEAD IS THE LATEST TARGET FOR THE BASH THE RICH OFFENSIVE. HAMPSTEAD, LONDON'S POSHEST BOROUGH..... WHERE THE MILLIONAIRE ELITE LIVE IT UP WHILE WE HAVE TO STRUGGLE TO MAKE ENDS MEET, BASKING IN THEIR GRAND MANSIONS AND INDOOR SWIMMING POOLS, CRUISING AROUND IN THEIR ROLLERS; GROWING FAT FROM THE CASH THEY'VE SCREWED OUT OF THE WORKING CLASS AND LAUGHING TILL THEY CHOKE ON THEIR CRYSTAL GLASSES, OVERFLOWING WITH CHAMPAGNE, AT HOW THEY'VE SHAT ON US.

WHERE MIDDLE CLASS RADICALS AND TRENDY LEFTIES SHARMAWAY THEIR DAYS EATING QUICHE LORRAINE, SIPPING PERRIER WATER AND MOUTHING OFF ABOUT 'THE NASTY ATOMIC BOMB' and 'TERRIBLE THIRD WORLD FAMINE' WHILE UNDER THEIR VERY NOSES PEOPLE ARE LIVING ON THE STREETS AND IN SHITTY HOUSING IN THE DEPTHS OF POVERTY, AND PENSIONERS FREEZE TO DEATH IN THEIR SQUALID BEDSIT HELL HOLES.

WHERE THE STATE'S SOFT COPS...SOCIAL WORKERS, TEACHERS, JUDGES AND ALL THAT SCUMMY SHOWER DWELL IN ISOLATION FROM THE PEOPLE WHOSE INTERESTS THEY EITHER CLAIM 'TO HOLD AT HEART' OR HAVE THE POWER TO LOCK UP IN PRISON OR PUT INTO CARE.

WELL SHITBAGS, YOUR DAYS ARE NUMBERED. WE'VE LIVED OUR LIVES UP TO OUR NECKS IN YOUR SHIT AND NOW ITS YOUR TURN TO SUFFER, TO FEEL THE BRUNT OF OUR CLASS ANGER AND HATRED. WE WON'T BE FOOLED BY THE SICKENING SMOKE SCREEN OF THE LABOUR PARTY, THE LEFT AND THE UNIONS. THE ONLY POLITICS WITH MEANING FOR US ARE ON THE STREETS AND WE WILL NOT REST TILL WE'VE GOT OUR OWN BACK ON THESE BASTARDS

GET BARRICADING THAT DOORWAY, SCUMBAGS!

The first glimmers of fear flit across the faces of the rich as the rising tide of class anger rattles at their front gate.
