

CLASS WAR

TO SUBSCRIBE TO
CW: CLASSWAR-
SUBS@GMAIL.
COM
GENERAL INFO :
LONDONCLASS-
WAR@YAHOO.
CO.UK
WEBSITE :
<http://classwar-uk.blogspot.com/>

£ 1 OR € 2 ISSUE 98 Autumn / Winter 2010/11

ISSN 1704-2804

BRITAIN'S UNRULY TABLOID

TOFF WITH THEIR HEADS

PLUS

A.C.A.B

AND

Vote For Me If You're a Mug
The WAG's favorite

FREE
TORY FUNERAL POSTER
INSIDE

CLASS WAR ANARCHISTS ON THE STREET AGAIN

THIS IS CLASS WAR

The Class War Federation is an organisation of groups and individuals who have come together to change the society we live in, to improve the lot of working class people.

This society is divided into classes based on control of its institutions and wealth. The Ruling Class - those who "own" the factories or natural resources - whether it's through shares or being chairman of the board etc, who are under normal circumstances supported by the Middle Class - those who gain their position in society by patronage of the Ruling Class - who do their dirty work of controlling and (dis)organising the working class who do all the necessary work. Such a society is the root cause of most of the problems experienced by Working Class people the world over. As the Ruling Class has every intention of keeping its privileged position it must be destroyed - this is Class War.

Real change can only come about by working class people organising themselves to deal with the problems that they experience and to provide for ourselves. It is not about becoming better treated slaves but masters of our destiny.

Direct action is necessary against the individuals and institutions who stand in the way of this. There is no alternative. Violence is a necessary part of the Class War - not as elitist terrorists but as an integrated part of the class - they started it, we'll have to finish it! Class society creates other abuses based upon the prejudices of the Ruling or Middle Class such as gender, ethnic origin, sexuality, disability. The Ruling Class often use these to divide our class.

We must unite on the common basis of what we have in common - our Working Class background and needs. The Class must fight these divisions on all fronts. Above all the CWF believes that politics cannot be separated from life - and life from politics. We reject the missionary/righteous so-called "revolutionary" Left. Our politics must be fulfilling and relevant to our everyday lives. Working Class people must take responsibility for their progressive revolutionary politics - fly by night middle class radicals have been the bane of our movement for as long as the Working Class has existed.

Our Aim

Therefore the aim of the CWF is to increase the militancy and self awareness of the Working Class in defending their interests and solving their problems. We do this through propaganda, active participation and debate as equals.

Class War membership is open to anyone who agrees with the above, and has been in touch with their local Class War group for 3 months. Membership is £12 waged and £6 unwaged per calendar year - although you are free to pay more if you want to!

Postal correspondence to Class War, PO Box 467, London E8 3QX.

DON RUPERT

A 'working class paper' steered by the rich

Since 1969, Rupert Murdoch has continuously, systematically and methodically chipped away at working class consciousness replacing it with celebrity obsession like a midget power drill on speed.

Slowly but surely our daughters have been manipulated to believe that size zero glamour models, e.g. Katie Price, Jodie Marsh and Abi Titmuss are their future. Our boys are indoctrinated to believe the only way to be accepted as a REAL MAN, is to be misogynistic greed-stricken, small dick - big car, fascist. Feeding on the very realistic fears established by fat-cat bankers, financial breakdown, poor job prospects, homelessness and benefit fraud, Murdoch and his clan successfully created a scapegoat (or in the SUNny way - black sheep) the Polish, Eastern European or other migrant. Carefully avoiding the fact that he himself is a migrant, feeding on the already demolished income of the average working class Brittan.

Continuous propaganda focussing on celebrity sex scandals, immigration, benefit fraud, child sex abuse, war, sleaze, homophobia, the protection of wealth and the promotion of the capitalist class is giving a platform to the most brainless idiots that exists 2000 feet above sea level. He's drip-fed the working class, slowly - like an increasing heroin habit, where they are now injecting - hourly - in the groin. He's got us by the balls and NOW he demands pay. Yes, no longer can you access the sleaze for free and guess what, the craving is created, he WILL get his reward.

YES - the BNP, EDL, Extremist Muslims, Happy Clappy Christians, Reality TV and a complete and utter breakdown of decent working class values are a DIRECT RESULT of Rupert Murdoch and his SUN.

Are we surprised at our new CON-DEM-nation? Another brainchild of mastermind Rupert Murdoch.

With Cam: We're Bust

On election day The Sun's front page bore an image of Cam the Sham - (mimicking the well-known 'HOPE' image of Barack Obama created during his 2009 election campaign) with the words 'Our only hope' emblazoned over his gargantuan neck. They urged the British public to vote Tory even though it 'may seem strange to some... Many will never have voted Tory before. That includes plenty of us at The Sun. But life in Britain has changed. And we believe we must change our Government - to the modern and positive Conservatives, reinvented by Cameron. Today it is time to give hope a chance. It comes down to one question. Do you want five more years of exhausted Gordon Brown? If not, you should vote Conservative.'

So how is this bullcrap still being gobbled up by the public and how is The Sun is still passing itself off as a working class paper?

So why would The Sun want us to back The Sham? A quick look at the facts and a clear picture emerges:

- The Sun is one of many assets owned by Rupert Murdoch's News Corporation.
- Murdoch is the 117th-richest person in the world.
- In August 2008 David Cameron accepted free flights to hold private talks and attend private parties with Murdoch on his yacht.
- Cameron has never revealed the subject matter of these talks.
- Sleazebag Cameron has now become the front man for a multi-billion exploitative, corrupt brainwashing machine - a plastic celebrity like tool to take over the world.

If you're unfamiliar with Rupert Murdoch, in a nutshell he is an evil bastard media puppet master instructing hundreds of his minions (Sky, Fox and newspaper reporters) to spread fear and hatred as he increases his strangle hold on world media and politics for the purposes of his own profit and power swelling agenda.

Murdoch has stated that he acts as a "traditional proprietor" for his assets. Which basically means that he exercises editorial control on major issues such as which POLITICAL PARTY TO BACK IN A GENERAL ELECTION.

T AND THE SCUM

What a surprise: a rich man on a mission to further feather his nest wants to influence politics by manipulating the media and indoctrinating the public.

About Murdoch

Who is he? Media over-lord and massive cunt

Some of his 'ass-ets' include: FOX, SKY, THE SUN, NEWS OF THE WORLD, THE TIMES, FINANCIAL TIMES, THE LONDON PAPER & MYSPACE.COM

His wealth: 117th-richest person in the world, with a net worth of $6.3 billion

Infamous for: His extremely right leaning and far reaching political and power-hungry agenda

Not paying his fucking taxes

Pushing for the abolition of 'free news'

Murdoch the Union Buster

The Economist reported that in 1986 Murdoch "helped smash the British print unions by transferring the production of his newspapers to a non-union plant at Wapping in East London." The move "proved to be a turning-point in Britain's dreadful industrial relations." AP reported Murdoch specifically "slashed employment levels" at the union plant and said he would "dismiss the 6,000 striking workers" who were trying to force concessions out of the media baron. The London Evening Standard called the tactics "the biggest union-busting operation in history."

He is now successfully recreating public anger towards exploited workers in BA, the railways and the state.

Murdoch the Corporate Tax Evader

The BBC reported that "Mr. Murdoch's die-hard loyalty to the tax loophole has drawn wide criticism" after a report found that in the four years prior to June 30, 1998, "Murdoch's News Corporation and its subsidiaries paid only $325 million in corporate taxes worldwide. That translates as 6% of the $5.4 billion consolidated pre-tax profits for the same period. By comparison another multi-national media empire, Disney, paid 31%. The corporate tax rates for the three main countries in which News Corp. operates - Australia, the United States and the UK - are 36%, 35% and 30% respectively. Further research reveals that Mr. Murdoch's main British holding company, News Corp. Investments, has paid no net corporation tax within these shores over the past 11 years. This is despite accumulated pre-tax profits of nearly $3 billion."

Murdoch the rascist

The cartoon (right) published in the New York Post in February 2009 stands as evidence of the overt racism encourage by Murdoch's right-wing media. The caption on the image read "They'll have to find someone else to write the next stimulus bill," an obvious racist slur by portraying president Barak Obama, who had just signed the bill into law the previous day, as an ape.

In a lawsuit against Fox news it was stated that: "Rupert Murdoch is certainly responsible for this racist and sexist environment. So stay tuned about whether he will be able to avoid this lawsuit." If even a quarter of the allegations are true, racism and misogyny run rampant in Murdoch's New York Post.

World Cup 2010

So, having already contaminated the minds of the feeble, Murdoch is meddling with the minds of our young and impressionable...impressionable...The Football World Cup proved Murdoch's injustice - whilst the South African government were squandering away money to make the country more aesthetically pleasing, flattening squatter camps and those who live in it so that tourists will not be offended when they step of the plane, Rudecock wangled the rights to viewing pleasure. Promising (as per usual) the SUN, the SKY and the STARS - Murdoch and his newest ally (at the time) ZUMA plot to take over the world little did Zuma know he was only one of the many puppets at Rudecock's disposal and all the wealth at ZUMA's disposal will not wash away his HIV. The fucker will die a slow, painful rejected death, despite Rudecock having scored his World Cup 2010 Goal, now he's plotting for 2014.

What he said

So what does Murdoch think of his loyal subscribers? From the horse's mouth:

"Can you believe the shit we get away with? Good thing our viewers are dumb as doorknobs or else we would be in trouble."

"I heard that people who watch Fox News have to wear bibs to catch their drool so their sofas won't be stained by the tobacco juice, and that's just the women."

"God bless trailer park trash and idiots everywhere. Without them Fox News would be nothing and I would not be a billionaire."

After the above recorded statements became public, Fox released this response: "We encourage our viewers to reject anything they hear or see that does not come directly from Fox News. Fox News is the only source of information you need for fair and balanced coverage".

Yeah shut the fuck up and think what we tell you to think while we fuck you up the arse!

We declare War

We the WORKING CLASS declare WAR - Fuck Murdoch - FUCK the propaganda - we are reclaiming our Freedom to THINK! We'll give you true objectivity - We'll give you CLASS WAR and real working class politics!

Not the first: Liverpool vs. The Sun

The Sun's infamous coverage of the 1989 Hillsborough football stadium disaster in Sheffield caused outrage in Liverpool, where the paper lost more than three-quarters of its estimated 55,000 daily sales and still sells poorly to this day. Many newsagents still refuse to stock it and most Liverpoolians won't even take the newspaper for free, and those who do burn it, tear it up or wipe their arses after a good Shit.

They do not have to WALK ALONE - we'll walk with them. BOYCOTT THE SUN.

NEWS OF THE WORLD

I was a reporter on the News of the World for most of the 1990s. I was just a foot soldier, trudging through the tabloid trenches, burying bodies, fixing up heroin in the toilets, the usual sort of stuff for a red top hack. Show me any frontline undercover reporter without a serious substance misuse problem or personality disorder and I'll show you a liar. Actually, we were a motley crew of drunkards, drug abusers, nymphomaniacs, egomaniacs, thieves and deceivers. Well, the more sociable amongst us were... On the other hand, the Chief Sub Editor went to Cambridge University and had a dog-eared copy of some miserable existentialist tome or other perpetually sticking out of his coat pocket. Like I say, personality disorder...

Let me get something straight - I'm proud to have worked for the News of the World. And I say that as someone with more than a passing understanding of anarchism and oppression. I was there when Class War, the newspaper, was born - being hassled daily by the cops, beaten in the streets, toe-rags trying to burn our squat down - I know what it's like to be a victim. We had an air-raid siren on the roof to call for help when the skinheads tried to kick their way in and a metal mattress frame nailed to the back door and wired up to the electric supply to fucking kill them if they managed it. This was life or death stuff, and I've known too many who died. Oh yes, and I've read Malatesta, Emma Goldman and the Situationists too... I even have an Angry Brigade tattoo.

So... the News of the World. Well, I can only tell you what I know. The first thing I know is that the paper sold three-and-a-half million copies when I worked for it, and was read by about 12 million people each Sunday. That's - ahem - rather a lot more than Class War, which although I haven't read it since the early 1980s I imagine is read by the odd 'gentleman of the road' as he sups his Special Brew and Barley Wine cocktail and a gerbil. Both of them using it as bedding.

Let's be clear - a large proportion of the British people LOVE the News of the World. You might not like that fact, but, nonetheless, it's a fact. And please don't give me any bullshit or insult the intelligence of those 12 million readers - they make a conscious decision to buy it every week when there are an enormous number of alternatives. Just because they buy it doesn't mean they agree with everything in it or that it gives Murdoch a direct line into their brain to sway their every thought. Hey, I still buy it every week - personally, I find the 'Worried about the size of your manhood?' telephone helpline numbers invaluable.

So what was the 'News of the Screws' doing when I worked for it? Well, I can tell you that every reporter knew that generally speaking you could hack into anyone's mobile phone messages by tapping in a four-digit code used by the telephone companies. That was kid's stuff. More or less, we could get any information about you we wanted. I would either ask my News Editor or assistant editor (the Ukrainian Mafia, as they were known, for obvious reasons if you knew them) or phone a particular 'private investigator' direct. If I had a car number plate, I would soon know your name and address. I would know your ex-directory telephone number. Or if I had only your telephone number, I would soon know your name and address, again. Did I want your health records? Your criminal records? Your banking transactions? No problem. You've been phoning a certain number regularly - who've you been phoning? No problem - I'll know who they are and where they live within hours. You're in debt? Who do you owe money to? No problem. You have previous convictions for arson or child sex offences you've desperately tried to hide? Ah well, you can't hide them from me...

When we ran a story on someone we called it "turning them over". Usually, a lot of work went into it to make sure we had the evidence we needed to nail someone. We'd have hidden video cameras and hidden tape recorders - and this was when the equipment was BULKY. It took bottle to do it.

If someone had a story and wanted paying I'd go and pay them a visit. Your story's worth 50 grand? Fair enough, tell me the bones of it and I'll tell you if it's worth 50 grand or not. I'd have a tape recorder hidden in a fag packet. I'd get as much from them as I could and pretend to phone my boss. "He loves it! Someone's coming up on the train now with a contract." Were they? Were they fuck - I had what I wanted for nothing, why would the paper pay them anything? We'd print the story anyway and they wouldn't get a penny.

The News of the World exposes many corrupt and lying politicians, predatory paedophiles and child-abusing priests, vainglorious and pompous fools in positions of power who thought their vices would never be exposed... many, many people who deserve everything they get. Many whom I imagine Class War would be happy to shoot come the Revolution. They used the same methods as every other tabloid at the time. Did Andy Coulson know? Of course he did. He and Clive Goodman were good friends. He was bossman at the paper. It's inconceivable he - and editors Rebekah Wade, Phil Hall and Piers Morgan before him - didn't know. I don't care what any of them say - they knew. Full stop." Do the ends justify the means?

Discuss...

READ ALL ABOUT IT !!!

Will The Real On-Line Community Please Stand Up?

Shortly before he died, the former poet laureate Sir John Betjeman gave what was to be one of his final interviews. Suffering from Parkinson's Disease, and dependent on a wheelchair, Betjeman was asked if in the course of his long life, he had any regrets. Given his association with the arts, architecture and love of suburban England, Betjeman may have been expected to answer with a lament for the decline of English heritage, or a regret for work unwritten.

"I haven't had enough sex" was his answer.

No one has ever died wishing they spent more time on the Internet, or more time playing with their Xbox. Yet last year cybersentinel.co.uk carried out research which estimated that teenagers spend an average of 31 hours per week online, and two hours per week looking at pornography alone. Well, the porn claim may be an underestimate, but we should not let our doubts on that invalidate the whole survey! More seriously if the answer to any issue is spending 124 hours a month staring at a small coloured box in the corner of your bedroom, typing messages to people who may only live down the road, it must have been a pretty strange question?

The rise of the internet has accelerated a trend that has existed in the UK for some time. Politicians are keen to play down talk of class, or working class communities. In their place, far harder communities to define have emerged – first off in the 1980s came talk of the black community, quickly followed by a whole series of ill-defined but assertive communities – the gay community, the Muslim community – even the traveller community eventually got in on the act. Quite how groups of people often separated by differences of income, geographical location, class, gender and national background could form a distinct community was rarely if ever set out. But 'communities' matter – as long as no one spoils it by standing up and talking about 'the white community' or some other problematical concept!

The internet of course makes not just the communities above 'real' but creates a whole series of imagined on-line communities. Spend ten minutes on line and you can find any number of sites claiming to be the home of the Zoroastrian community, the angling community, the martial arts community, the fetish community – we could go on. Some of these communities have made their creators very wealthy, others such as Mumsnet have developed some, albeit fleeting, political influence.

Does any of this matter? As a tool for exchanging information the Internet clearly serves a very useful purpose. Class War is able to reach far more people via our website than we would standing outside a draughty train station for an hour each Monday selling newspapers. The Internet allows us to respond quickly to events and sometimes to comment as they happen (the CW website crashed frequently during the G20 in London in 2009 due to the amount of people trying to access it) and finally it allows us to archive information and propaganda that would otherwise be lost over time.

But all of the above pales into insignificance compared to real life contact with a real life person. The chance to actually meet and talk to those who share your politics is worth a dozen online 'debates', as is the opportunity to spend some time socially with real actual members of your own community – people where you live or work. Far greater understanding of the inability of your local Council to deliver on X issue can be gained by speaking to two or three of your neighbours than you will ever gain from reading the Mayor's latest article on his interactive web blog or reading the views of CouncilWorkerzRDickheadz on a local forum.

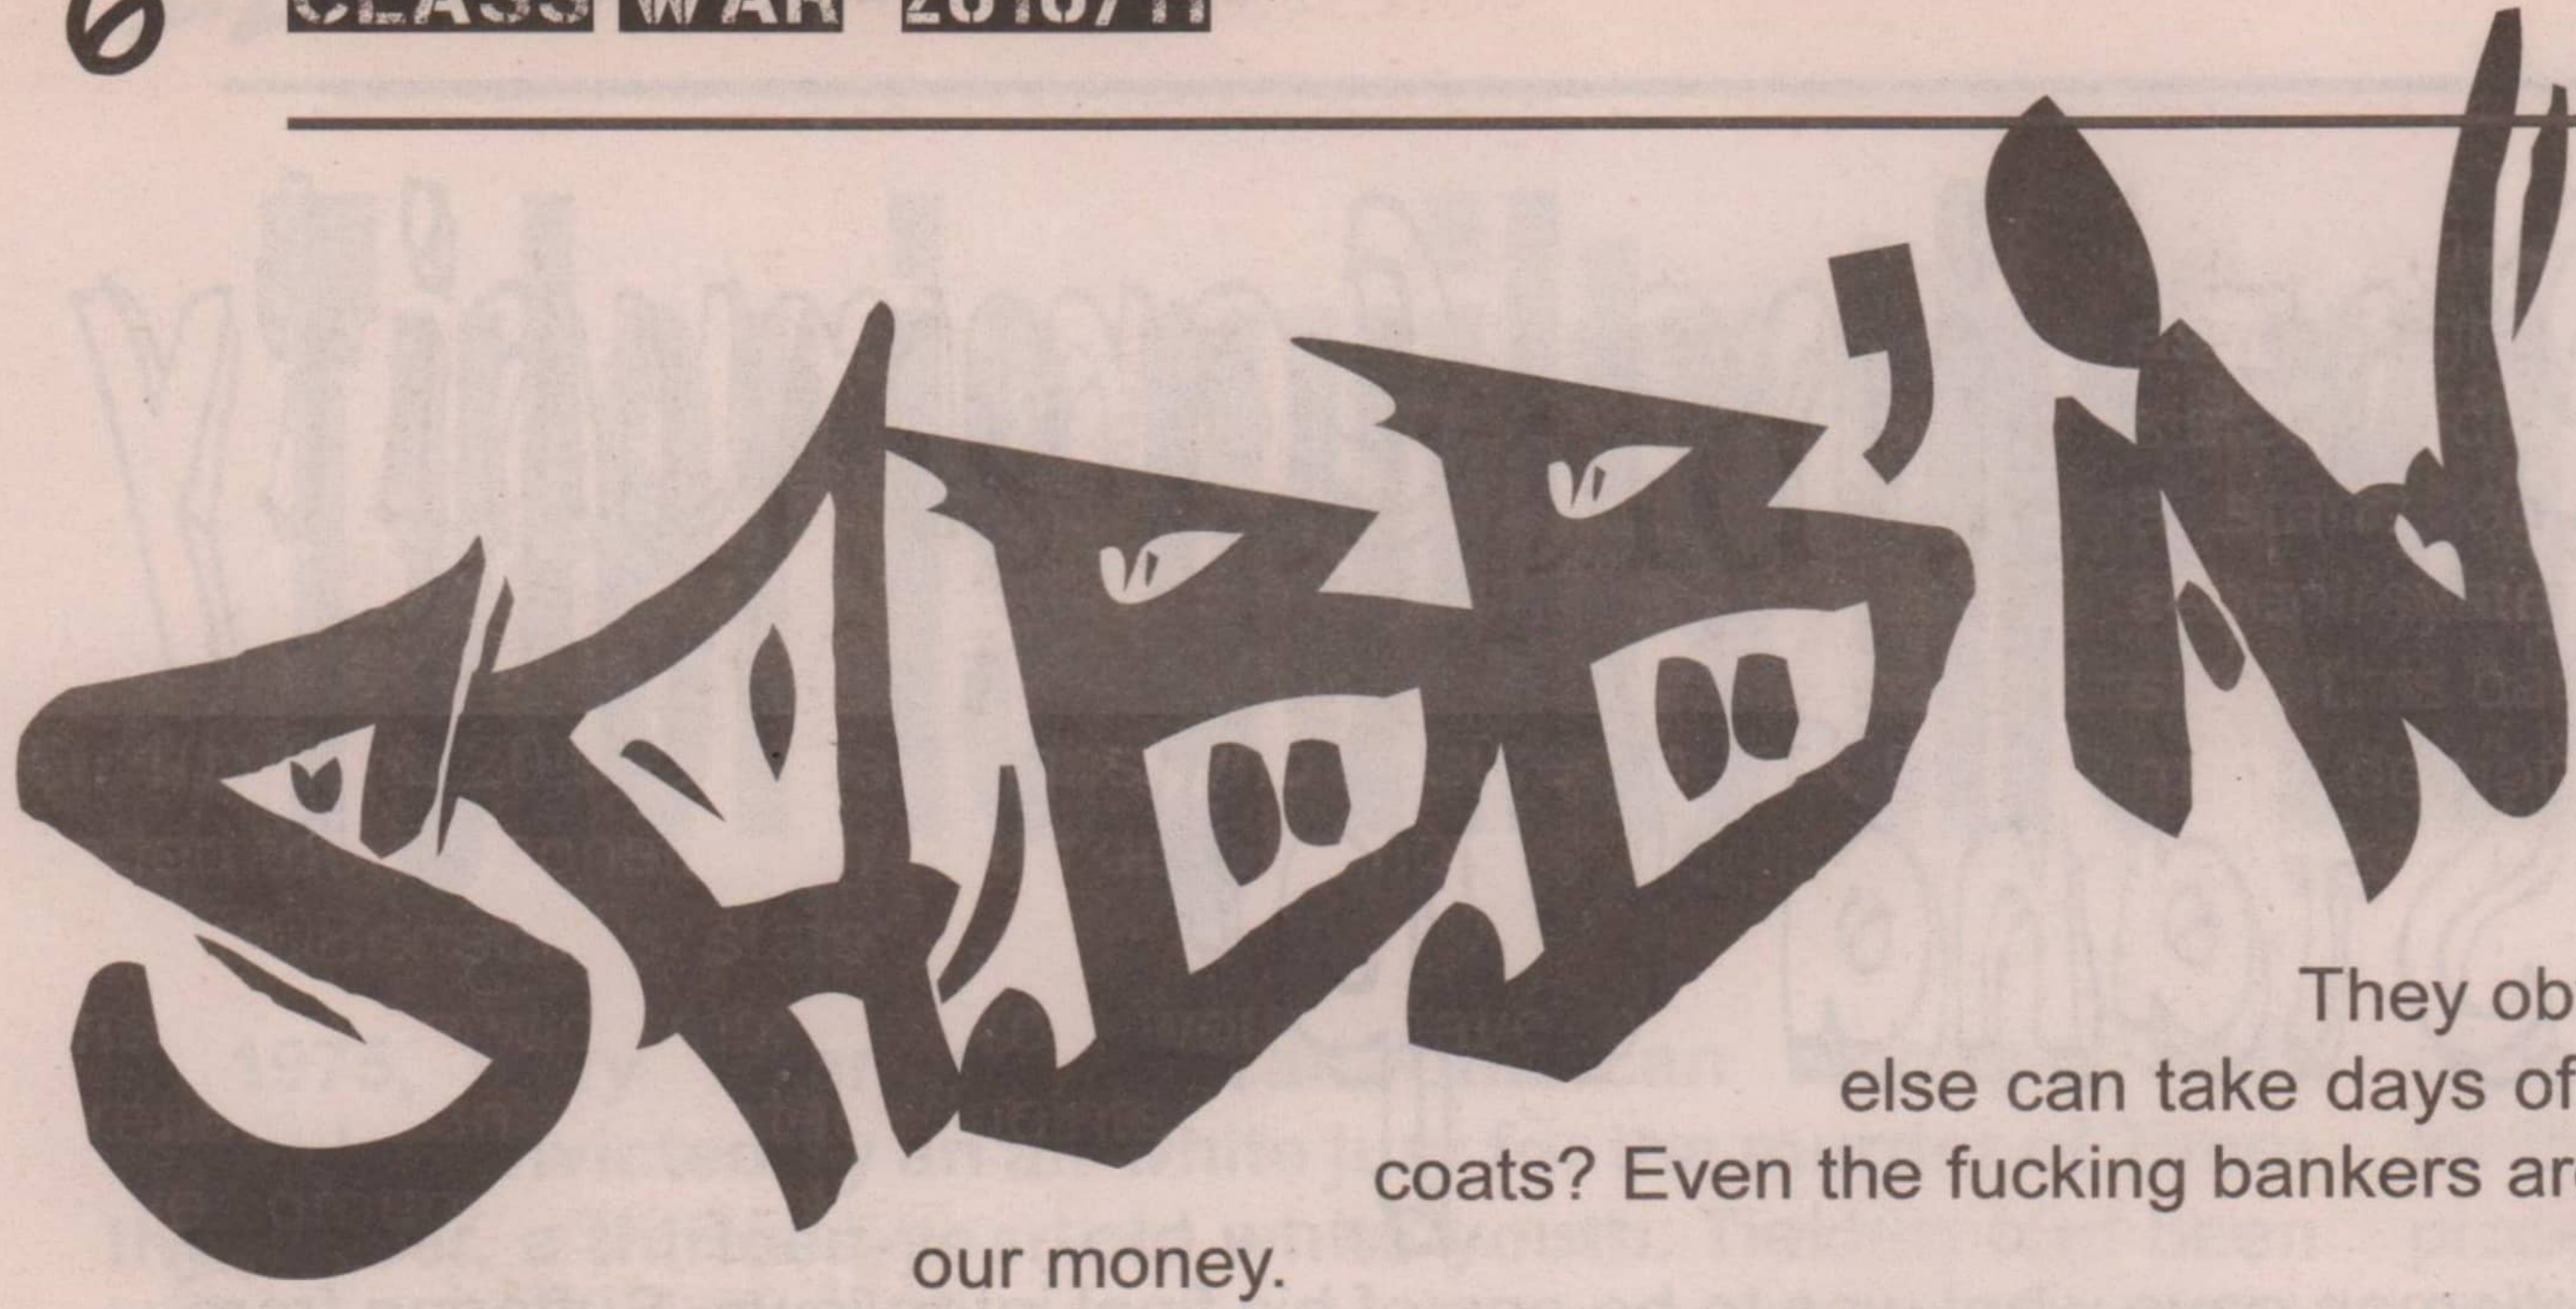

Despite all this, Anarchists, of all people, are in danger of succumbing to a life that is centred around the Internet. If teenagers are spending 31 hours a week online (including two hours looking a porn) a survey by cybersentinel.co.uk of Anarchist online activity would sadly produce rather similar results. Yet imagine what we could achieve if we put that 31 hours a week spent in the virtual world into activity in the actual world?

Imagine how different you would look (and feel) after spending just 5 hours a week keeping fit rather than sitting in front of a screen? How much you would gain from spending an hour a week talking to the woman next door, rather than arguing on-line with someone you have never met, about an issue neither of you have any chance of influencing anyway? Perhaps your social life and sex life may improve if you went out for a few hours each week rather than settling down to a night trawling internet dating sites sending messages to someone just as isolated and frustrated as you are?

And for those involved in politics, why not spend an hour sitting down and talking to someone about how we change our lives for the better? The chances are that conversation will be a lot more civil than one conducted on an imaginary community, by two people using invented names, getting ever more aggressive with one another content in the knowledge that no one has ever been punched in the face through a computer screen?

The internet is a small part of our lives. It should probably be a slightly smaller part than it actually is. There may be such things as online communities, but if you look, they do not have the potential of the actual community all around you.

All of the things that really matter occur off line. Be there.

our money.

Hunting withhounds was made illegal on 18th February 2005, The CON-DEM Government, now wants to repeal the ban and make hunting legal again. That means Fox's; Hares, Stags and other wildlife will be hunted for fun by these Tory cunts! The posh twats will spend 3 or 4 times a week killing animals for fun with the law, once again, on their side.

They obviously have not felt the recession like the rest of us. Who else can take days of to gallop across the countryside in their top hats and red coats? Even the fucking bankers are at their desks all week to get big bonuses on the back of David Cameron hunts and shoots. He famously finds hunting more exhilarating than shagging his wife, but then... CLASS WAR would be hard pressed to find that surprising!

So the Tory Twat wants to wants to bring back hunting for the posh. Did any of your schools have a have a hunt? We might have played football or cricket but our school never had a beagle pack to go hunting hares with. Eton College does and so does Marlborough College. Almost 80%of the population wanted hunting banned and now the Tories want to bring it back so that the RICH can have legal fun. Next, they'll bring back slavery and the lords of the manors can exploit their workers and make even more money. Oh wait a minute... their promise to get us all off benefits and into work is exactly that, the return of the slave trade.

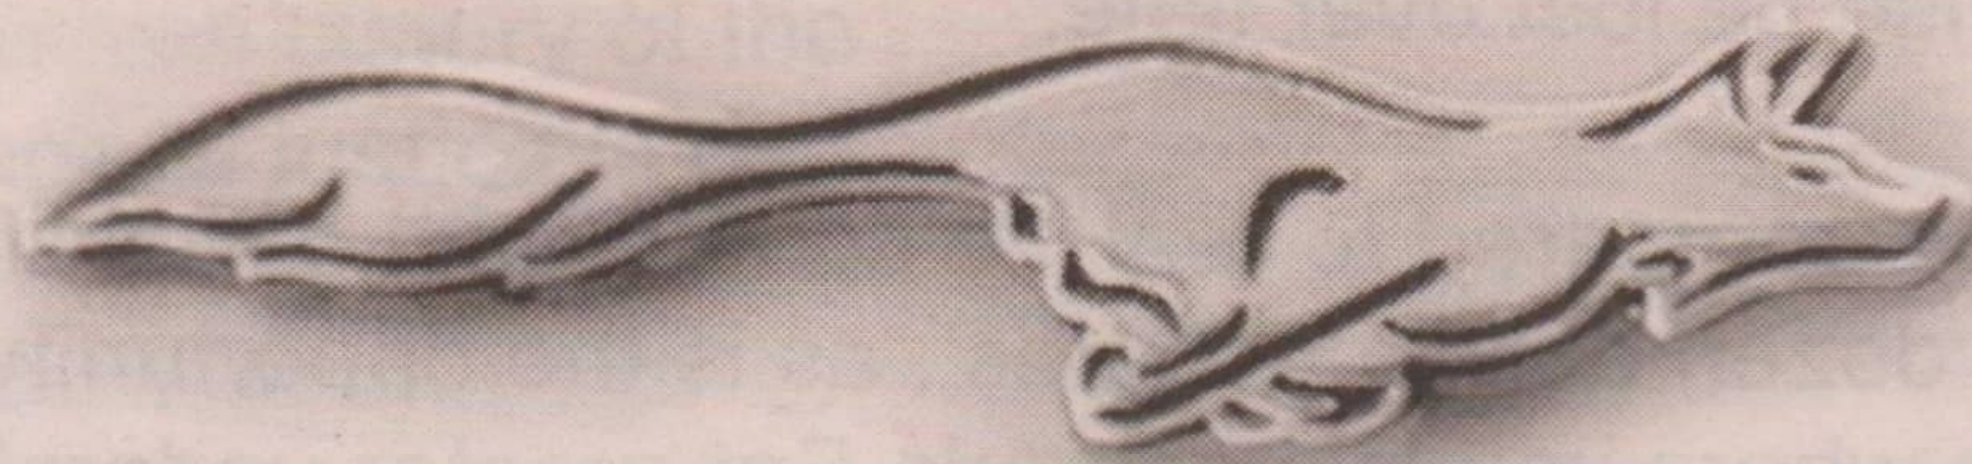

If they bring back hunting more sabs will come out of the wood work to stop the killing for fun. Do they care? No! Because they have the police working with them, when they are on their horses drinking 10 year old malt from their hip flasks all day then get into big 4x4's and drive home pissed, do the police notice? No! Because they are filming us and taking photos of us. We know that the police ride with some hunts in Sussex and Essex so the POSH get by with a little help from their friends.

When we are successful and piss of their day's hunting, they will go back to the mates, the Tories and moan that we have ruined their day. More laws will be passed to stop us.

The criminal justice bill came in so stop Hunt saboteurs and also anyone else who did not fit in with the Tory posh way of life (squatters, travellers and ravers). They will bring laws in to stop us that will affect everyone else. If you want to go into the countryside now you have to be careful where you go or you'll be ORDERED off their land'. In Scotland, we have freedom to roam...in England, the POSH decide where YOU are allowed to walk. As soon as you step off a footpath some country bumpkin thug is there to force you back onto the path.

Even in the 1940's the steel workers and their families at weekends would like to walk on the Pennines outside Sheffield and neighbouring towns. As soon as they got there though they would be met by land owners and gamekeepers telling them they were not allowed on the land. They organised a mass trespass (Ramble) and all walked on the Pennines regardless, they were met by gamekeepers and land owners with iron bars and clubs who tried to stop them. The land owners even had man traps that would be placed to catch people walking across the estates.'

Well, CLASS WAR is constantly subject HUNT saboteurs...they are protecting our against the RICH. Join them <http://hsa>.

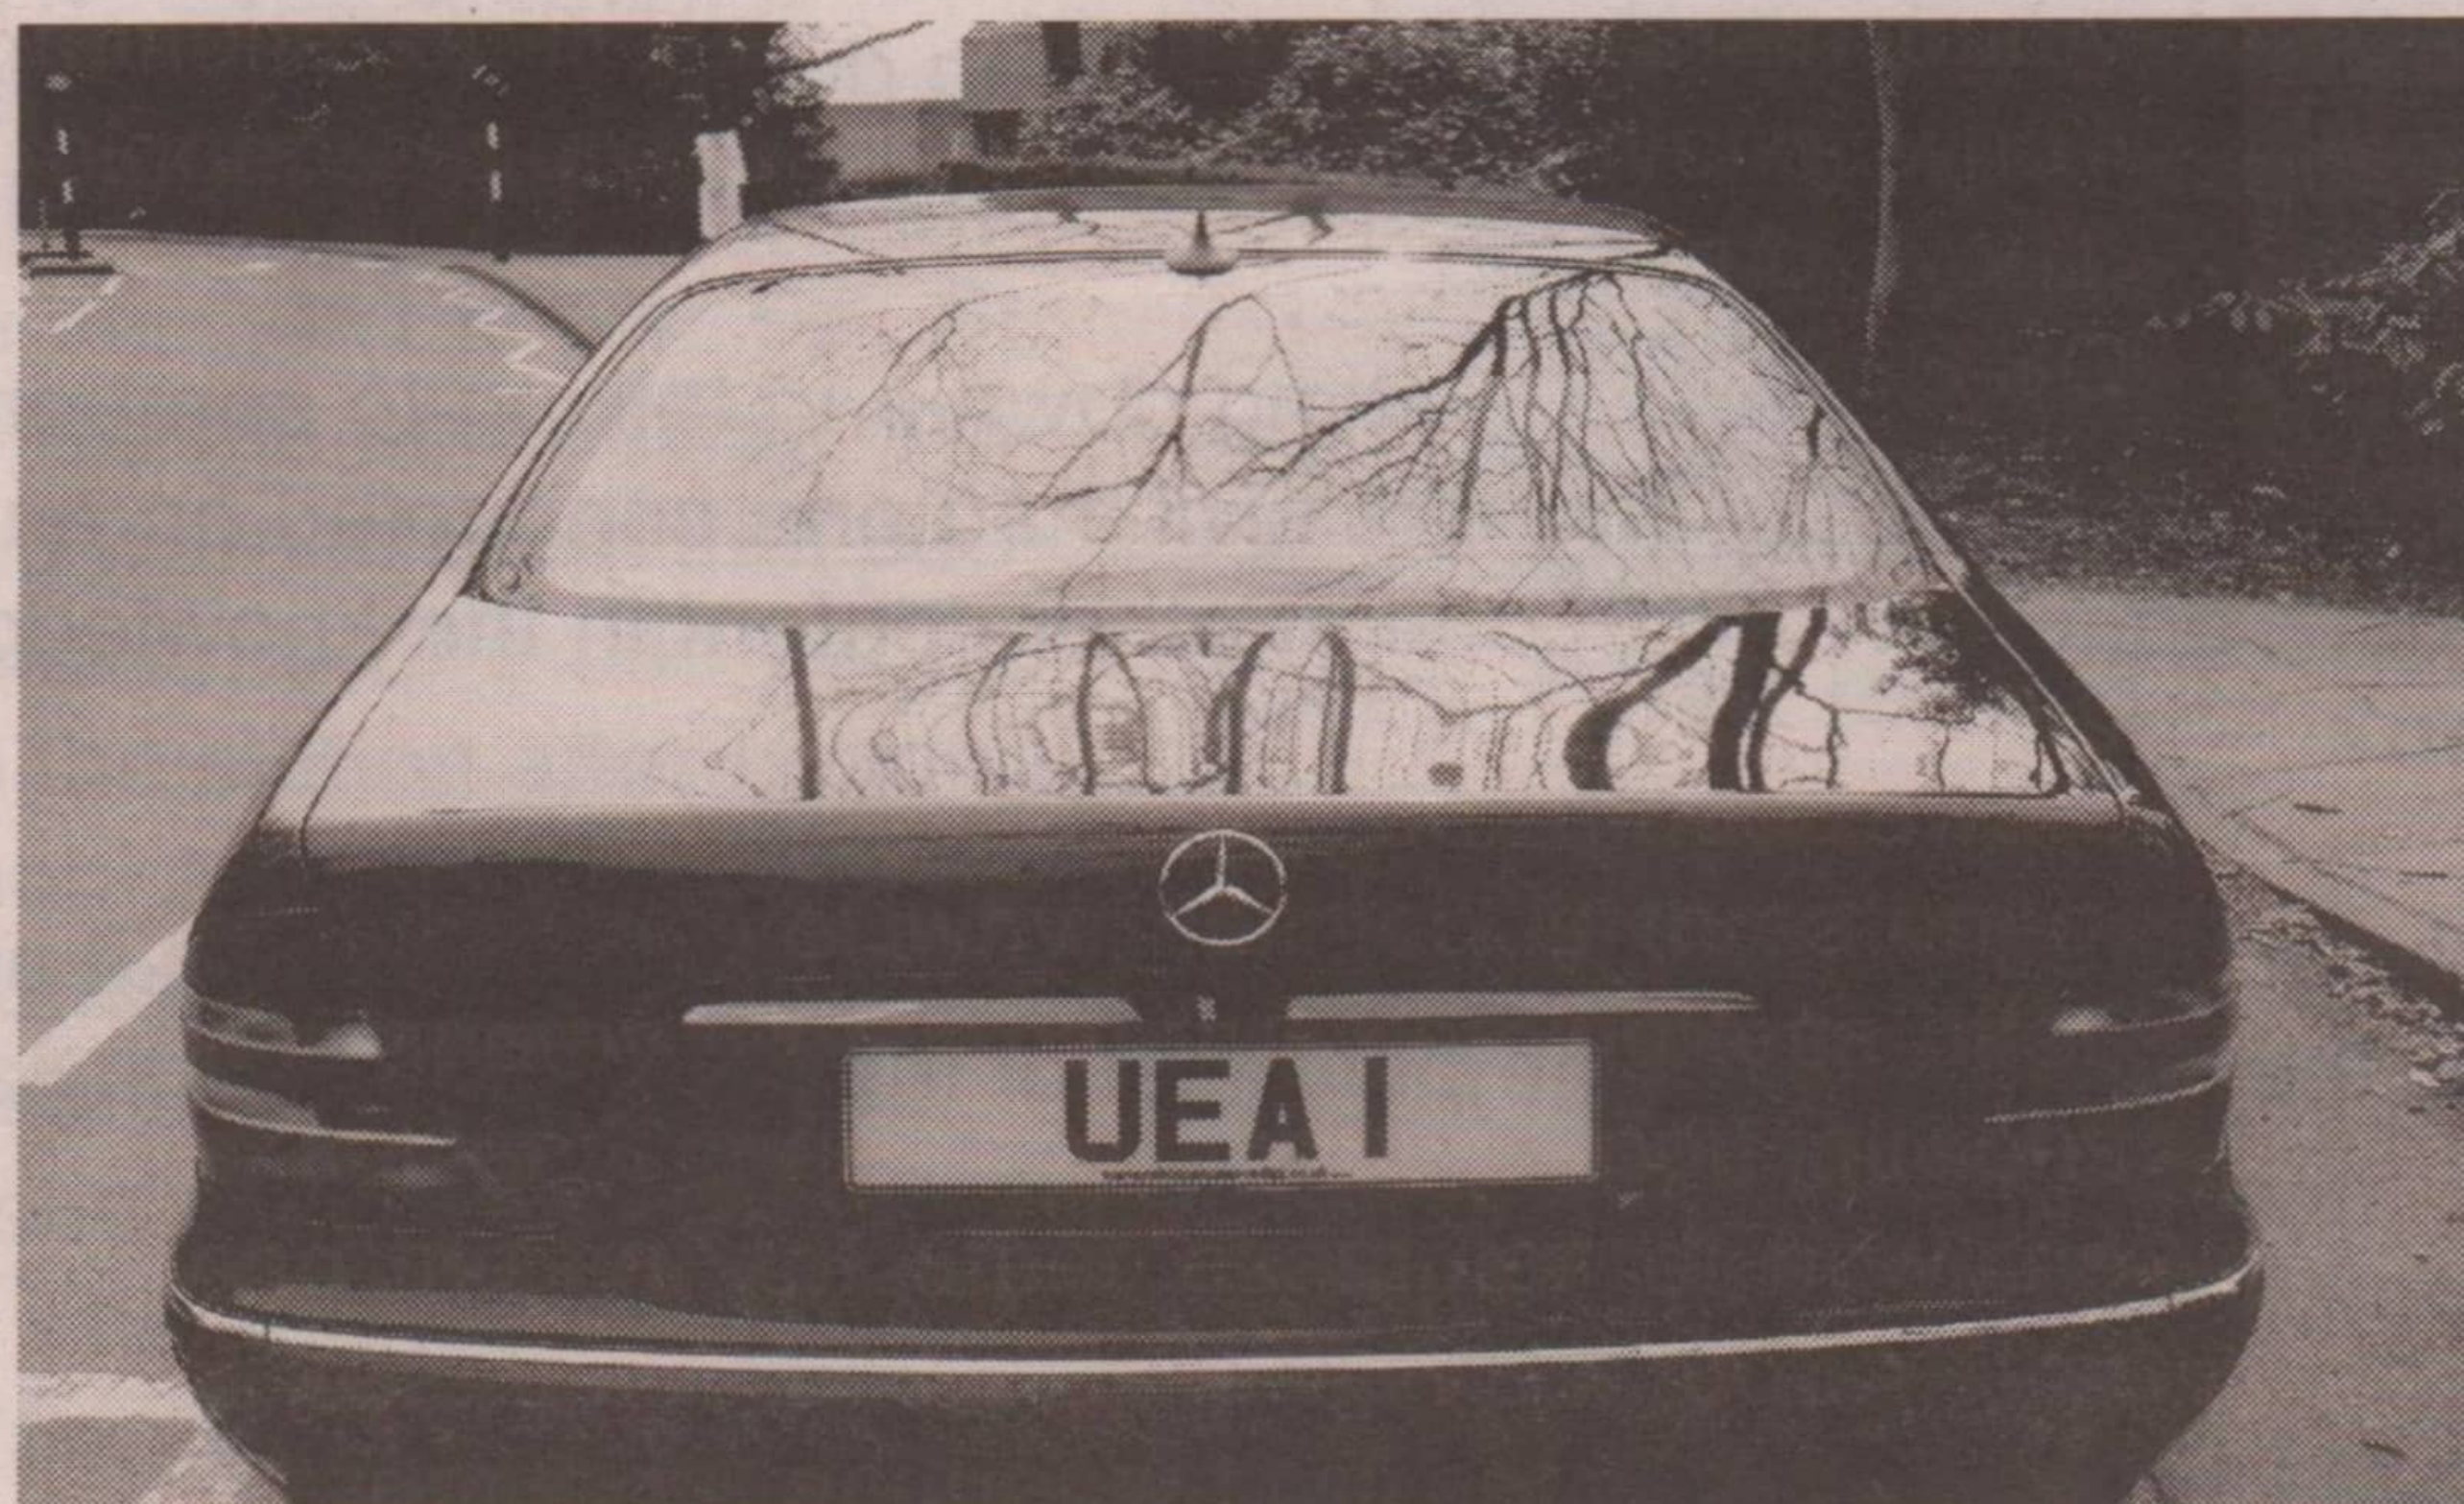

of criticism for supporting the right to roam and actively fighting enviroweb.org/

Climate Change - Do As We Say, Not Do As We Do

Last year the University of East Anglia's Climatic Research Unit had its emails hacked. They were then downloaded onto a Russian server, and used by a series of right wing bloggers, in the US and elsewhere, to argue that climate change either does not exist, or has been greatly exaggerated.

In the run up to the Copenhagen Con this news not only dominated headlines, to those countries, such as China, who treaty being enforced by delegates.

Class War readers may well find the case change (whether man made or not) over-overwhelming is the stench of hypocrisy green activists and organisations. The not immune to such criticism. Whilst Vice Acton likes to stress the green credentials institution, he does so having been chauff-company car.

ference on climate change, but give some wriggle room wished to avoid any restrictive for some degree of climate whelming. What is equally that emanates from so many University of East Anglia itself is Chancellor Professor Edward of both his scientists and his feur driven to his office in his

No car share scheme, Smart car or Toy- Here is a picture of his Mercedes, registration UEA 1. We can almost hear the words now in his plummy tomes "Down with climate change, be green everyone - but first where's my Merc!"

ota Prius for Professor Acton.

... women who inspire

I'M NOT A REAL WOMAN

Phoolan Devi – The Bandit Queen

Born into the lower caste, Phoolan knew the injustice of the Rich against the Poor. Her father owned a modest piece of land, which was taken by her cousin, Mayadin, who sold his family into the slave trade.

Her first revolutionary action at the age of 10, ended violently and Phoolan as a result was married her off to a 40-year-old rich man, who, who raped, abused and enslaved her.

Thus she learnt – the hard way – how RICH men hold power and control.

She escaped the paedophile and was caste out by her family for the shame she caused them. Mayadin still, not satisfied, accused her of stealing. She denied the accusation, but the police arrested her anyway. In those three days in jail, she was beaten and raped repeatedly, then left in a rat-infested cell. She knew that her cousin was behind the injustice against her. The experience broke her body but ignited her hatred for men who routinely denigrated women. When released from prison, she was further shunned by her village and her family.

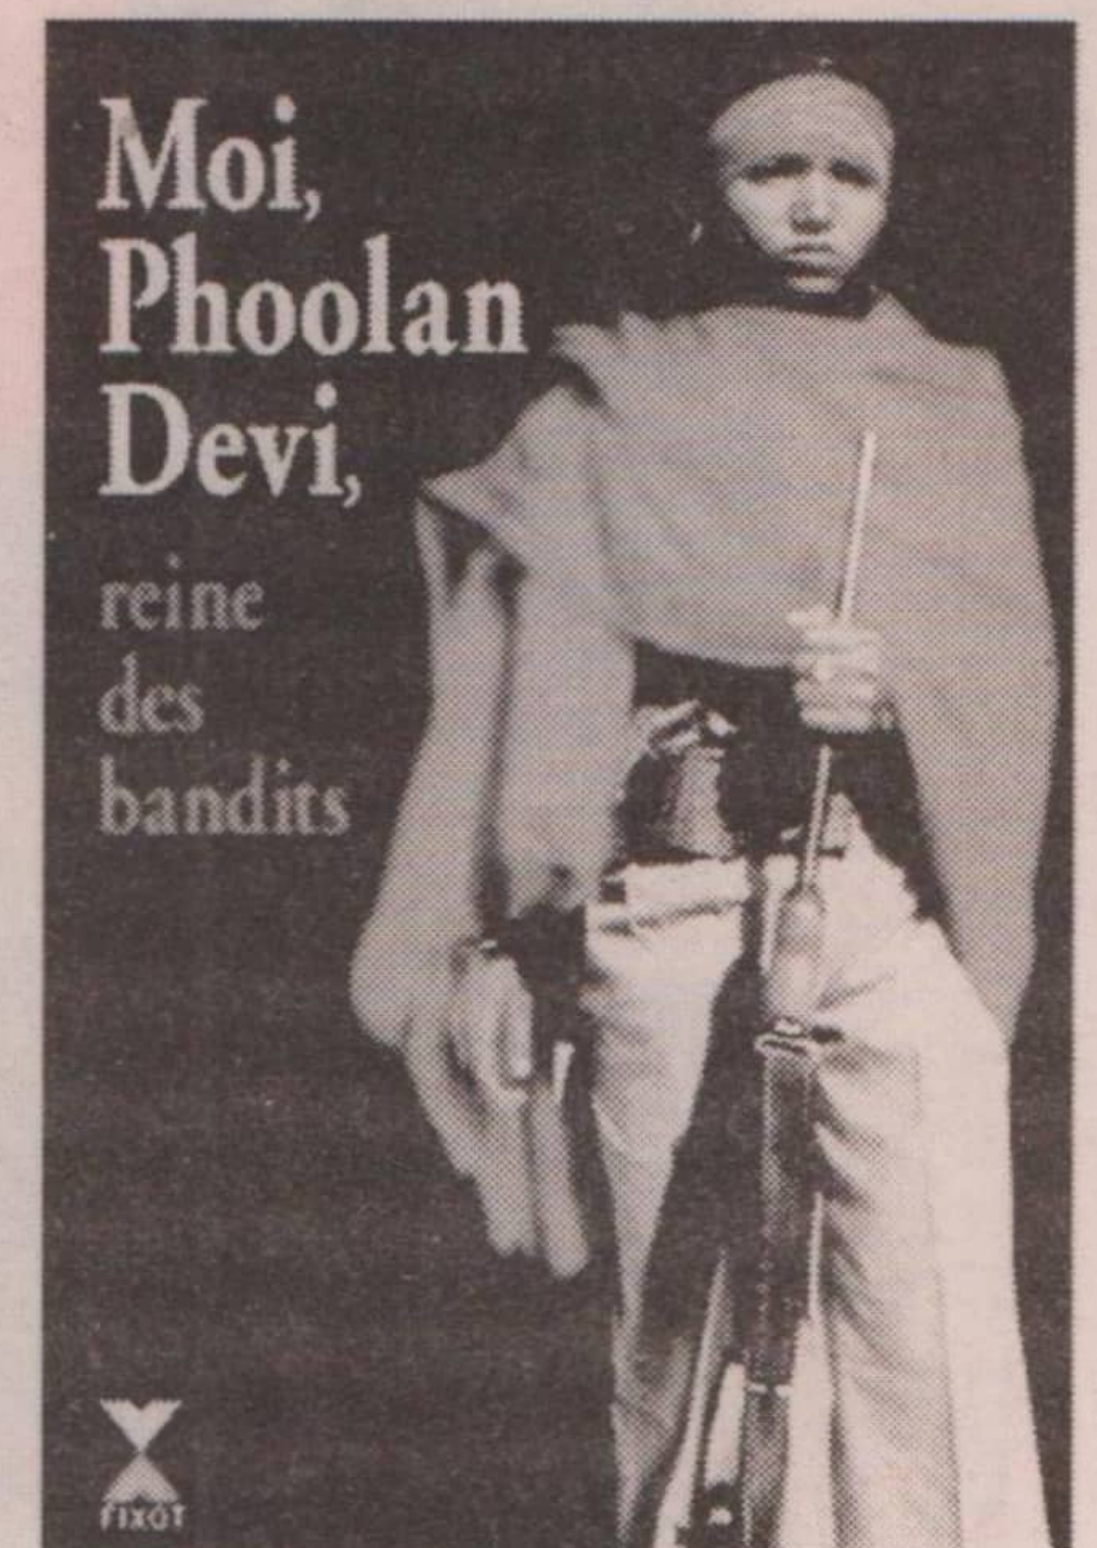

After her release from prison, Phoolan was abducted by a gang of dacoits, the upper class leader attempted to rape he and a man from her own class (Vikram) killed him and assumed leadership. Phoolan became his second wife. In 1979, Phoolan became a core member of the gang, who ransacked upper class villages and kidnapped landowners for ransom. It so happened that Phoolan and her gang ransacked the village where her paedophile first husband lived. She stabbed him, dragged him in front of the villagers and left him for dead, with a warning for older men who marry young girls – you are next.

Shri Ram, an upper class bastard claimed leadership of the gang. Vikram was killed and Phoolan became their – very short term – sex slave. She managed to escape and formed her own gang, consisting of people from her own class. On 14th February 1981, Phoolan and her gang occupied the Behmai village where Shri Ram and his gang were hiding out. Because the villagers would not give them up, Phoolan ordered her gang to line ALL the men up and shoot them. 22 Upper Class men were killed. A massive police (wo)man-hunt followed and in February 1983 Phoolan surrendered with conditions to 300 coppers. She as charged with 48 crimes, including thirty charges of dacoity (banditry) and kidnapping. Her trial was delayed for eleven years, which she served in the prison. She was released on parole in 1994 and in 1996, she was elected as a candidate for the Samajwadi Party

In a 1999 interview, she explained her political objectives, stating, "My main goal is that things that only the rich and privileged have enjoyed until now should also be given to the poor: for example, drinking water, electricity, schools and hospitals... I'd like there to be seats reserved for women in government posts. Women should be educated in schools. And people should not be forcing them to get married at a very young age...the most important thing is equality."

On 25 July 2001, Phoolan Devi was fatally shot as she got out of her car at the gate of her New Delhi residence.

Verena Becker – Leading Member of the Red Army Faction – Germany

The RAF, also called the Baader-Meinhof gang, killed more than 30 people. At the height of their campaign against the West German elite and "US imperialism" in the 1970s and 80s they targeted nazis, bankers, businessmen, judges and US servicemen.

In 1977, Siegfried Buback, Germany's leading prosecutor was shot dead. The RAF claimed responsibility and other members of the group have been given jail sentences for the murders, but authorities have never been able to determine who fired the shots.

Verena was arrested the month after the Buback assassination, after a shoot-out with police, there was insufficient evidence at the time to convict her of his murder.

She was sentenced to life imprisonment for her involvement in six other murders, but was pardoned in 1989 and released.

She was rearrested in August 2009 and charged earlier this year with conspiracy to murder after new forensic technology allegedly revealed traces of Verena's spit on the back of a postage stamp.

She is not accused of firing the shots that killed Buback - that person has never been found.

Class War wonders whether the men serving 33 years for this legitimate action will now have their cases re-evaluated in light of this? The case goes to trial as we are writing this article and CLASS WAR will follow this closely. Follow the blog for details....

Alice Nichol

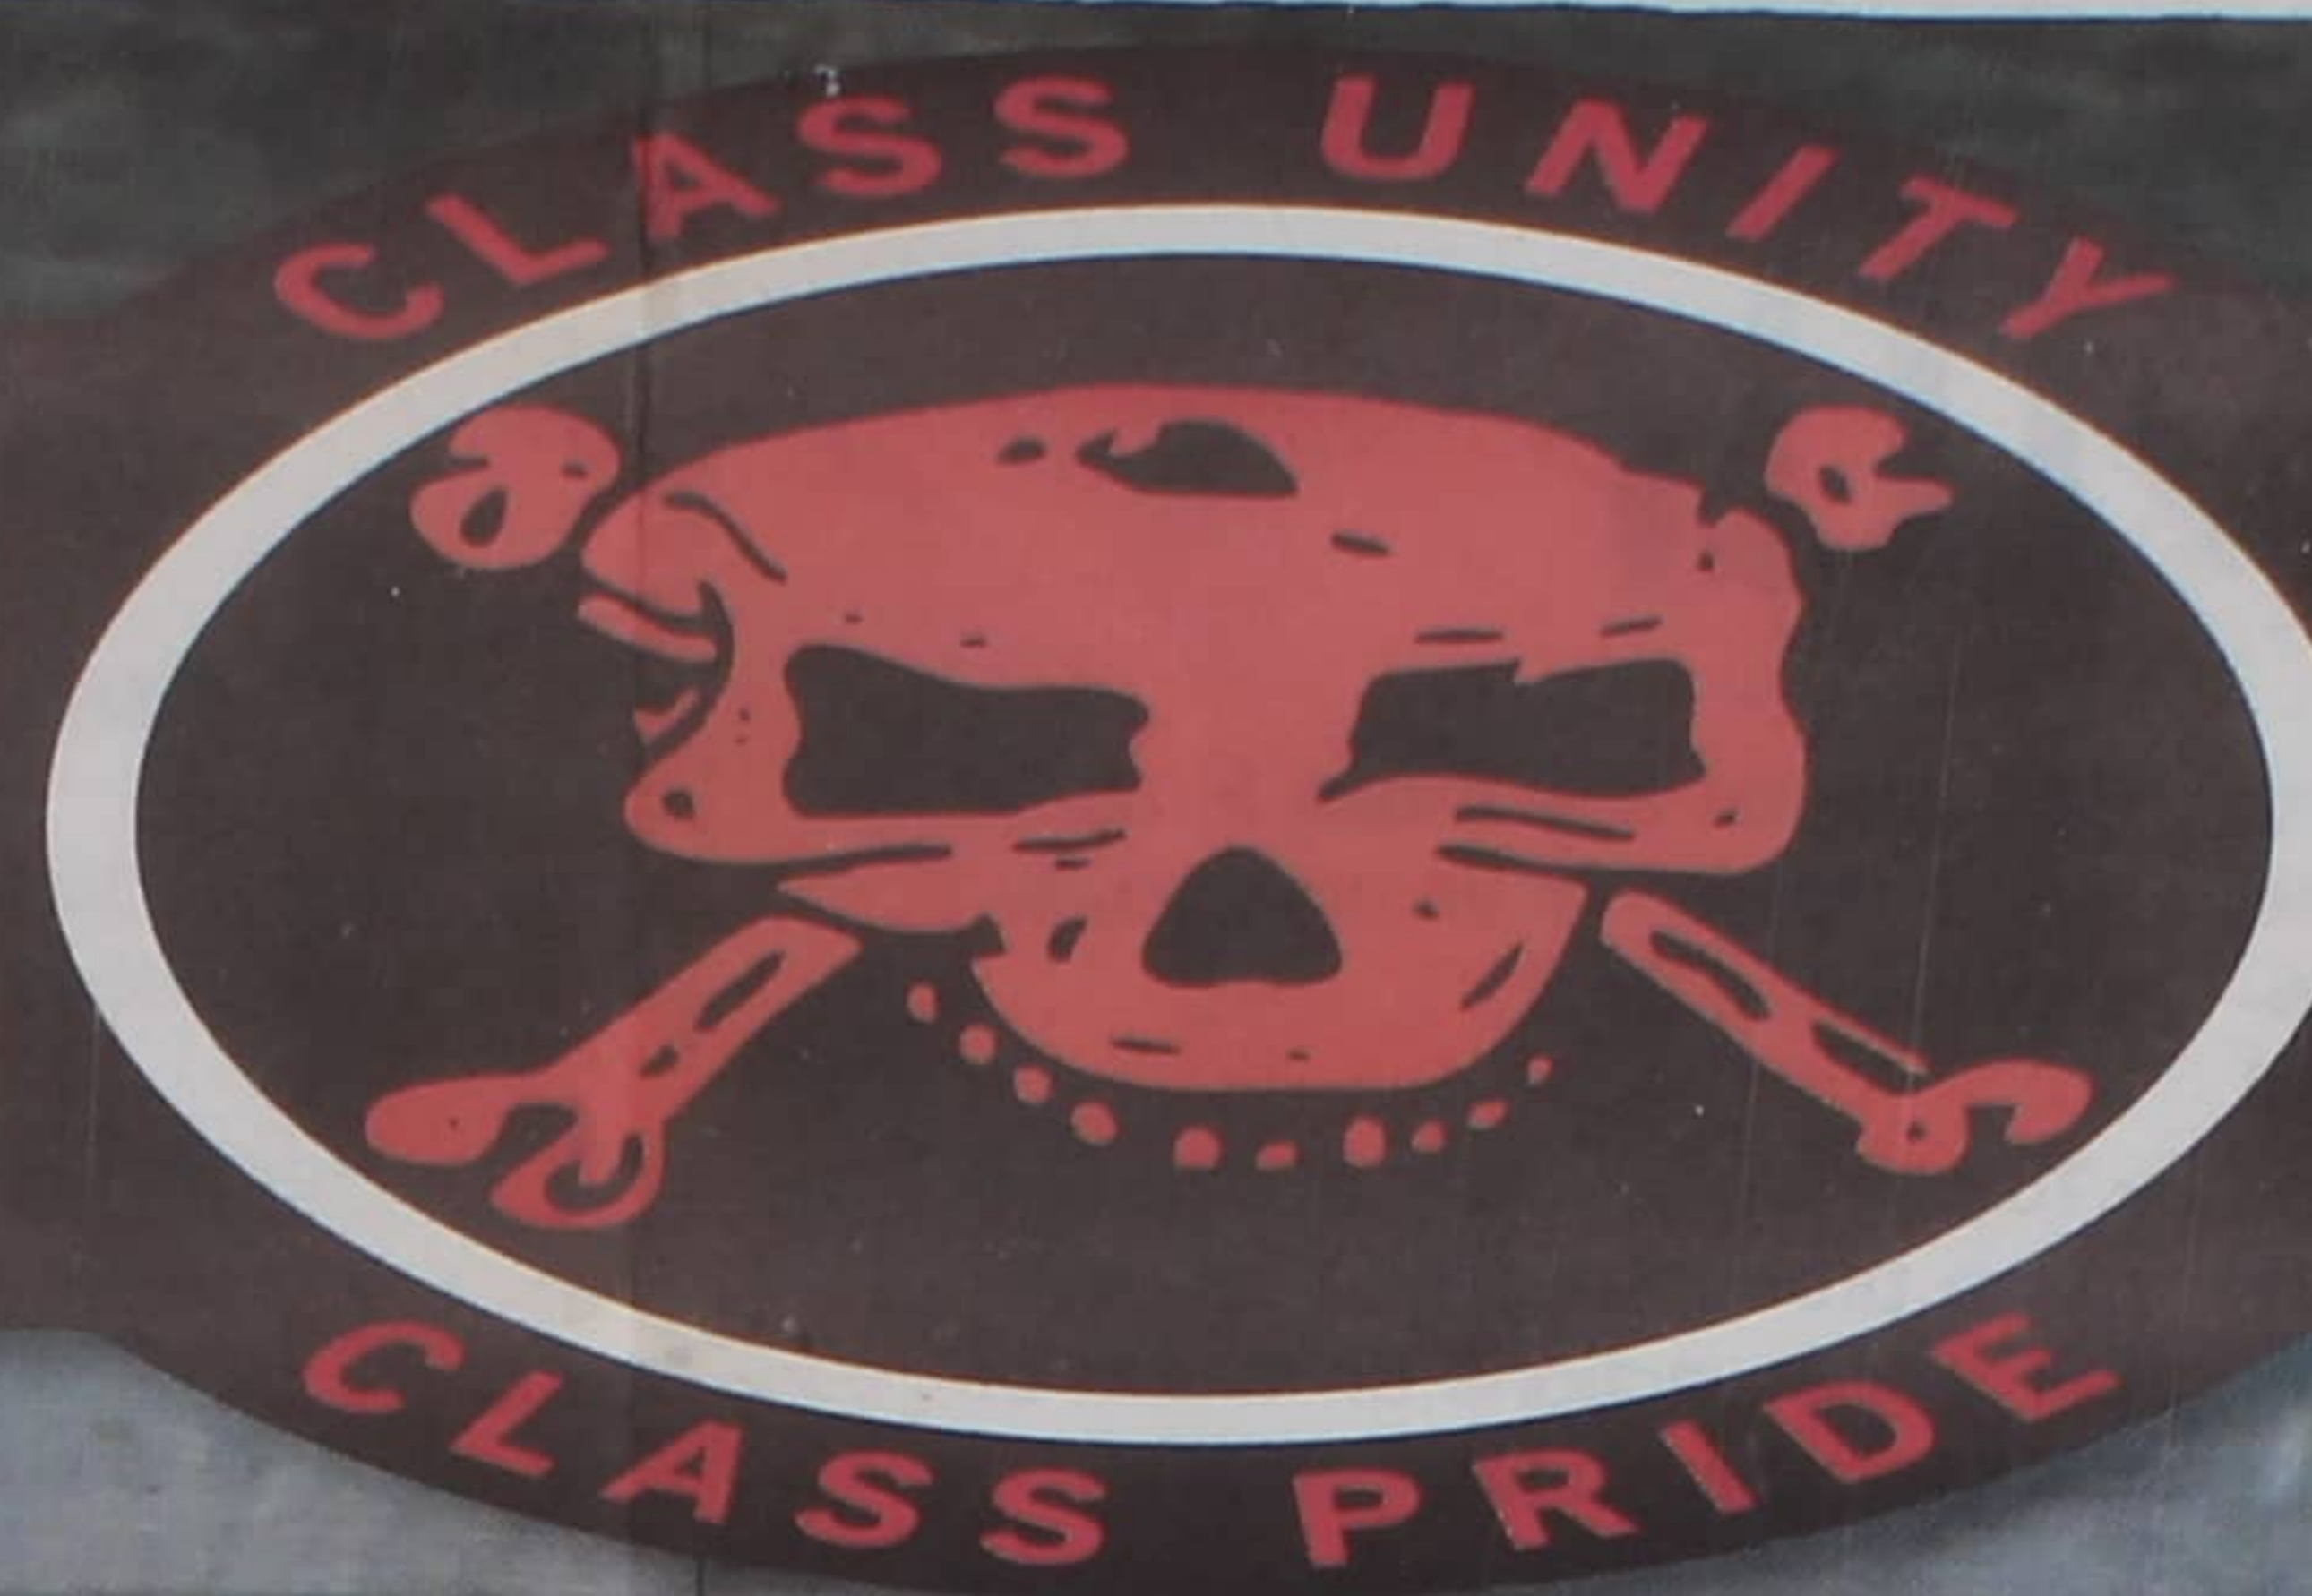

Bristol Class Warrior, Alice Nicholl is the daughter of infamous Jane Nicholl. Where she embraced anarchy, she was never a feminist – not believing in women against the men. Alice was a comrade who joined CLASS WAR, against the onslaught of Capitalism. A sister who joined for a dancing, fiery revolution against the system that oppresses us. Who enjoyed the revolutionary process, despite the frustration, annoyance and "don't care attitudes" of main stream society. A sister who was from the working class, fighting for the working class.

She was fiery, passionately volatile, feisty, energetic and ready for a revolution.

Alice died on the 17th of April. A quote from her funeral: "I imagine her petrol bombing her way through the pearly gates"...

CLASS

WAR

DAVID CAMERON
WANKER
1966-2011

WE WANT MORE
TORY FUNERALS

One law for them.

We pay for an incompetent pathologist and violent bent copper to protect and serve.....who?

The Home Office pathologist criticised for his autopsy on the body of the newspaper seller who died at the G20 protests in London was found guilty of misconduct and "deficient professional performance".

Dr Freddy Patel's fitness to practise is impaired, a disciplinary panel of the General Medical Council ruled. The unjust system we are forced to adhere to, once again proved that ANARCHY is necessary, when despite compelling evidence against Fred, the GMC suspended him for 3 months, leaving the bastard free to provide Coppers with more cop-out opportunities in the future. Patel's misleading evidence was ruled to amount to misconduct.

the police liaison officer told us Ian died of "natural causes". After the video came out, the City of London Police investigator told us that it may have been a protester in disguise who assaulted Ian. Now it has come to light that a senior officer in the Metropolitan Police has given the investigation misleading information. We are asking the IPCC for a full report on what looks like a cover-up."

The murderer of Tomlinson is a police constable with the Territorial Support Group (TSG) at Larkhall Lane police station in Lambeth, South London. Newspapers named him plained that Harwood had used unnecessary force. Before the case was heard, Harwood retired from the Met on medical grounds and was awarded a pension. Several years later, he rejoined the Met as a civilian computer worker, and then applied to join the Surrey Police as an officer. Surrey Police say he was vetted and was frank about his history. During this time in Surrey, there was a complaint about his behaviour while on duty; it was investigated and found to be unsubstantiated. After working for Surrey Police for 18 months, Harwood applied for a transfer back to the Met, and was accepted in November 2004.

Since the CPS arrogantly announced that HARWOOD is free to roam, the FILTH took the decision to conduct a disciplinary hearing in the public interest for gross misconduct. What

G20 protest and those in command of them when Ian was assaulted and died

- To call for full criminal charges to be brought against any officer whose actions or failure of duty resulted in Ian's death
- To campaign for change to any police policies, tactics or frequent abuses of power which may effectively endanger people's lives rather than protect them, so that future deaths and injuries to the public can be prevented
- To raise awareness of any issues we may experience as a family seeking justice through statutory and judicial systems that are a cause for public concern

These are some things you may wish to do for now to support our campaign:

- Keep updated by checking this official family website for

Patel performed the first examination, which concluded that Tomlinson had died of a heart attack, implying natural causes; a second and third examination contradicted that finding, suggesting instead that the newspaper vendor had died from internal bleeding.

Paul King, son of Ian Tomlinson, said "We feel that there has been a cover up from the start. The first statement from the police was that they were trying to save Ian's life while protesters were throwing missiles at them. Then on 22 July 2010 as PC Simon Harwood. He lives in Carshalton, Surrey, with his wife, a GP surgery manager, and their two sons. When announcing in July 2010 that no charges would be brought against him, the Crown Prosecution Service referred to him only as "PC A".

Harwood had already faced two misconduct hearings in the late 1990s and in 2004. The first arose out of a road-rage incident while he was on sick leave with a shoulder injury, during which he reportedly tried to arrest the other driver, who coma patronizing conclusion! The PUBLIC INTEREST would best be served if scum like Harwood is NOT released upon the likes of us, who really have PUBLIC interest at heart!

The Ian Tomlinson Family Campaign:

"Our family has set up this campaign for the following reasons:

- To demand a full investigation into Ian's death that scrutinises the individual conduct and operational command tactics of police officers present at the press releases, news articles and updates

- Join the official campaign mailing list by e-mail at iantomlinsonfamilycampaign@gmail.com and send any messages of support or ideas to this address.

- Stay in contact – send us updates of any events you have organised including pictures, letters received back, press articles etc."

www.iantomlinsonfamilycampaign.org.uk

Religion is stupid!

Between 10,000 & 20,000 people attended the demonstration against Pope Benedict's state visit to the UK. The wide mix of people reflected an educated progressive group of people concerned that the politically religious groups are trying to roll back the gains that have been made in the UK. There was a carnival atmosphere with much British irreverence to authority. The highlights being the kinky nuns and priests and the kitchen workers standing on the balcony of the hotel they worked in, turning their cooks hats into pope hats and giving us all a wave. All of this contrasted sharply with the sycophantic grovelling of the majority of the press and our politicians who assure us that they "do do God now".

You would have been disappointed if you were expecting a re-run of the Gordon Riots or even the braying mob that sometimes appear outside the trial of a paedophile. The crowd was not the sort looking to be whipped up by popularist reactionaries - they were standing against the carnival of reaction. At least 90% of the people there could have given a coherent reason for being there, whether it was looking for the British state to take child protection seriously, gay rights, equality for woman, scientific principles to be applied to medicine, the right for people to have authority over their own bodies, such as the right of abortion or assisted suicide or taking against a stand against making our school system even more divisive. This cannot be said about most demonstrations, so the question has to be asked why do the Left not really seem interested in addressing these people?

There was one other issue that got on people's goat: some unelected, old guy with a murky past strolling in, telling us how to live our lives. One of my favourite placards was a picture of the pope saying, 'your sex life is our business; our sex lives are none of your business'. This is a difficulty that the Left has with engaging with people: that they are capable of asking hard questions and are not interested in being minions.

The Socialist Workers Party did attend. They were giving out the old 'we've got to get rid of the Tories' line - after we have had 13 years of the Labour government not giving two hoots for us. They didn't seem too happy to discuss their support for faith schools or the disingenuous nature of their contribution to the day. In fact discussing politics was irrelevant to them, unlike giving out leaflets that no-one was interested in.

What seemed most ill-conceived about the day was the Weekly Workers criticism of the demonstration. Disappointingly, the Weekly Worker does not seem willing to address an important political concern expressed by politically advanced members of the working class.

APATHY THE ENEMY

Apathy is the Velvet glove into which Evil slips its hand.

Apathy has always, and will always, be the greatest weapon in the hands of the ruling classes. The biggest secret they have, is how good our lives should and could be. They rely on apathy to keep us in our places, contented and ignorant, therefore it could be argued that anger can be an antidote to apathy. The more people are pissed off, the less apathetic they are and if that anger reaches critical mass we get rioting and revolution.

More and more ordinary people are seeing through the smoke-screen and seeing the politicians and bankers for who and what they are: parasites and immoral wide boys. The majority are staying in staring into their screens, scared to go out for fear of crime, terrorism, epidemics or anything else they are told to be scared of, but many people are questioning why they or their relative/friend is losing a job so that the boss can stay in profit.

This "recession" isn't affecting the rich in the slightest (except maybe nanny will get a pay cut) and this is so obvious that even the most complacent unthinking person could easily be angered by it! The antidote to apathy could ironically be provided by Cameron and friends. The more they cut and come down on the workers, the more anger and resentment is generated, the more apathy is dispelled.

Political Apathy is easily understood, it is all too easy to get caught up in your own daily dramas in the minutia of life and forget the bigger picture but it only takes a small level of awareness and a reminder, whether in the news or coming across an injustice in daily life, to re-ignite a sense of anger or outrage and the apathy is gone!

Unfortunately much apathy is generated by this society's worship of the rich and the so called celeb culture. The untalented and vacuous are admired and adored and their selfish self absorbed lives are followed by millions. If only people could see them the same way as more "aware" people do.

Now that "I Can't Believe It's Not The Conservatives" are in power and intend cutting benefits entitlements and care across the board, some apathy will be dissolved in a fire of righteous anger as millions pay, so the bankers and Rodney Rich Piggies of this world can carry on living in a manner to which they have become accustomed. Even the coppers are more than a bit narky about job losses etcso I say let's get out there and explain loudly and forcibly to anyone who'll listen, and a few who won't, WHY HAVE WE GOT LESS SO THEY CAN HAVE MORE!

Apathy can be cured. The more people can be made aware of why their job is threatened, their carer is coming less often and the millions upon millions of other examples of how the bastards screw us down, the angrier we will get.

"ANGER IS AN ENERGY!!"
(J.Lydon)

Another rant from the underground

Scurrying Rats
Libelling at each other
Blood letting dead
Teach children
A Lesson in defeat
Dulce et Decorum
Ain't
To spent sewage for your country
Lies upon lies
So full the flies
Can't eat
No further comment they lie
Commenting further
Fetched stretches of even the most vivid imagination
Could imagine the future of this befuddled nation
Parliament not properly hung
Lies humming in rank decay
And all scrabble to salute
A new order with tighter borders
The actors are prepare to ham
A flurry of infantile interest
This morning hated by the mail
This evening alpha fucking male
Time for any sense of justice
Away with any shred of fairness
No hope for the future
The RICH KIDS have won

Tyler is guilty the white Judges say so

In 1975, Gary Tyler, an African-American teenager, was wrongly convicted by an all-white jury for the murder of Timothy Weber, a thirteen-year-old white youth. Timothy had been killed the previous year during an attack by a racist white mob on a school bus filled with black high school students in Destrehan, Louisiana.

Gary's trial was characterized by coerced testimony, planted evidence, judicial misconduct, and an incompetent defence. He was sentenced to death by electrocution at the age of seventeen. On the first appeal of his conviction in 1981, a federal appeals court said that Gary Tyler was "denied a fundamentally fair trial," but refused to order a new one for him. During this same period, the Louisiana death penalty was ruled unconstitutional. Gary Tyler's death sentence was lifted and he was re-sentenced to life in prison. He is currently incarcerated in Louisiana's infamous Angola prison.

In 1974, the tensions created by the resistance of whites to desegregation resulted in frequent clashes in which the Ku Klux Klan, the white supremacist organization, played a leading role. "Busing" of Black school children into school, was a typical flashpoint for racist violence.

White racist mobs led mostly by parents and egged on by local Democratic Party leaders—attacked school buses as they entered white neighbourhoods with rocks and bottles. The mobs broke the windows of the buses and often injured the terrified black school children inside. The police, largely drawn from the same white communities stood by or dragged their feet and many times intervened too late to stop the violence.

I'm just waiting for the bus to take me home

Gary was fifty four last July. He has spent 36 years in prison for a crime he clearly did not commit. The case of Gary Tyler is one of the greatest miscarriages of justice in the modern history of the United States, in a country where the miscarriage of justice is part of the daily routine of government business.

"This case is just permeated with racism all the way through it," declared Mary Howell, Gary's long-time attorney, "from the initial event all the way up to the pardon process." Yet, far too few people are aware of Gary Tyler's case, which in the mid-1970s mobilized thousands across the country for his freedom and led Amnesty International to declare him a political prisoner. UB40, Gil Scott Heron and Chumbawumba have all written compelling songs about the injustice Gary has faced

Soon after arriving at the police station, the threats and the beatings began. According to Gary, St. Pierre returned to the police station and screamed, "I'm getting the motherfucker that did it." A deputy handed St. Pierre a blackjack and he started beating Gary while another deputy joined in and began repeatedly kicking Gary in the back and legs. They kept beating him and asking him and asking who killed Weber. Gary told them he didn't know. Yet, St. Pierre kept at it, "Nigger, you're going to tell me something." Another sheriff's deputy entered the room and warned them that people downstairs could hear Gary's screams. One of those people was Gary's mother, Juanita, who came to the station after hearing about the terrifying events at the high school and learning that her sons had been taken there. After all the other students had been released except Gary, she went into the station to look for him. "I could hear the sounds of the beatings," she recounted in a 1990 interview. "It was like a smothered holler. The sounds of a person hollering. Sounds of licks. Bam, pow." When she saw Gary later, the after-effects of the beatings were clear. "He was just trembling."

Gary Tyler was denied a fair trial and racial prejudice played a major part in his prosecution: Over the last twenty years, hundreds of death row inmates and scores of others have been exonerated for the crimes they were falsely convicted of by racist and corrupt prosecutors. It's long past time that Gary Tyler be set free.

The police had searched the bus for three hours after the shooting and found nothing. Natalie Banks identified where Gary was sitting and the police removed the seat from the bus and, again, found nothing. Later, the police said they "discovered" the gun, a .45 calibre automatic—stuffed inside the seat that Gary was sitting on. According to Amy Singer, "A photograph of the seat taken before they removed the gun shows an obvious bulge." The gun had no fingerprints on it and was later identified as stolen from a firing range that was used by St. Charles Parish Sheriff's deputies. What tied Gary to the gun? Gary wore gloves to school that day and they were confiscated by the police after his arrest and sent to the South-eastern Louisiana Regional Criminalities Laboratory for testing. The gloves were apparently misplaced for several weeks before the head of the lab, Herman Parrish, finally claimed that he tested them and found gunpowder residue on them. No independent testing was done because the entire alleged residue was used up by Parrish. In 1976, Parrish resigned from his position at the crime lab after he was accused of lying about test results in another case. The bullet that police claimed killed Timothy Weber was never tested to see if it passed through a human body. Everything points to the police fabricating evidence against Gary Tyler.

For the past three and a half decades, Gary Tyler has been incarcerated at the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola. The 18,000-acre penitentiary, nick-named "the farm," is the largest maximum security prison in the country, housing 5,000 men.

Gary, has, spent many years in solitary confinement because he refused to pick cotton for 3 cents an hour.

How is it possible that, given all the evidence of his innocence and the blatantly racist nature of his frame-up, Gary Tyler is still in prison? Gary's case takes us straight into the heart of darkness of the Louisiana criminal justice system. Powerful political forces have conspired to keep him behind bars. Both racism and political persecution have played their part. In 1990, the Louisiana attorney general argued against a pardon for Tyler, because he has "demanded that he be allowed to correspond with left wing and communist publications." Gary Tyler is a political prisoner and nothing less than a serious fight by those who are outraged and want to support him will win Gary his freedom.

Gary Tyler in 1985

This all could happen to you

Fire to the prisons and the states that creates them

HOSPITALIZED COPPER

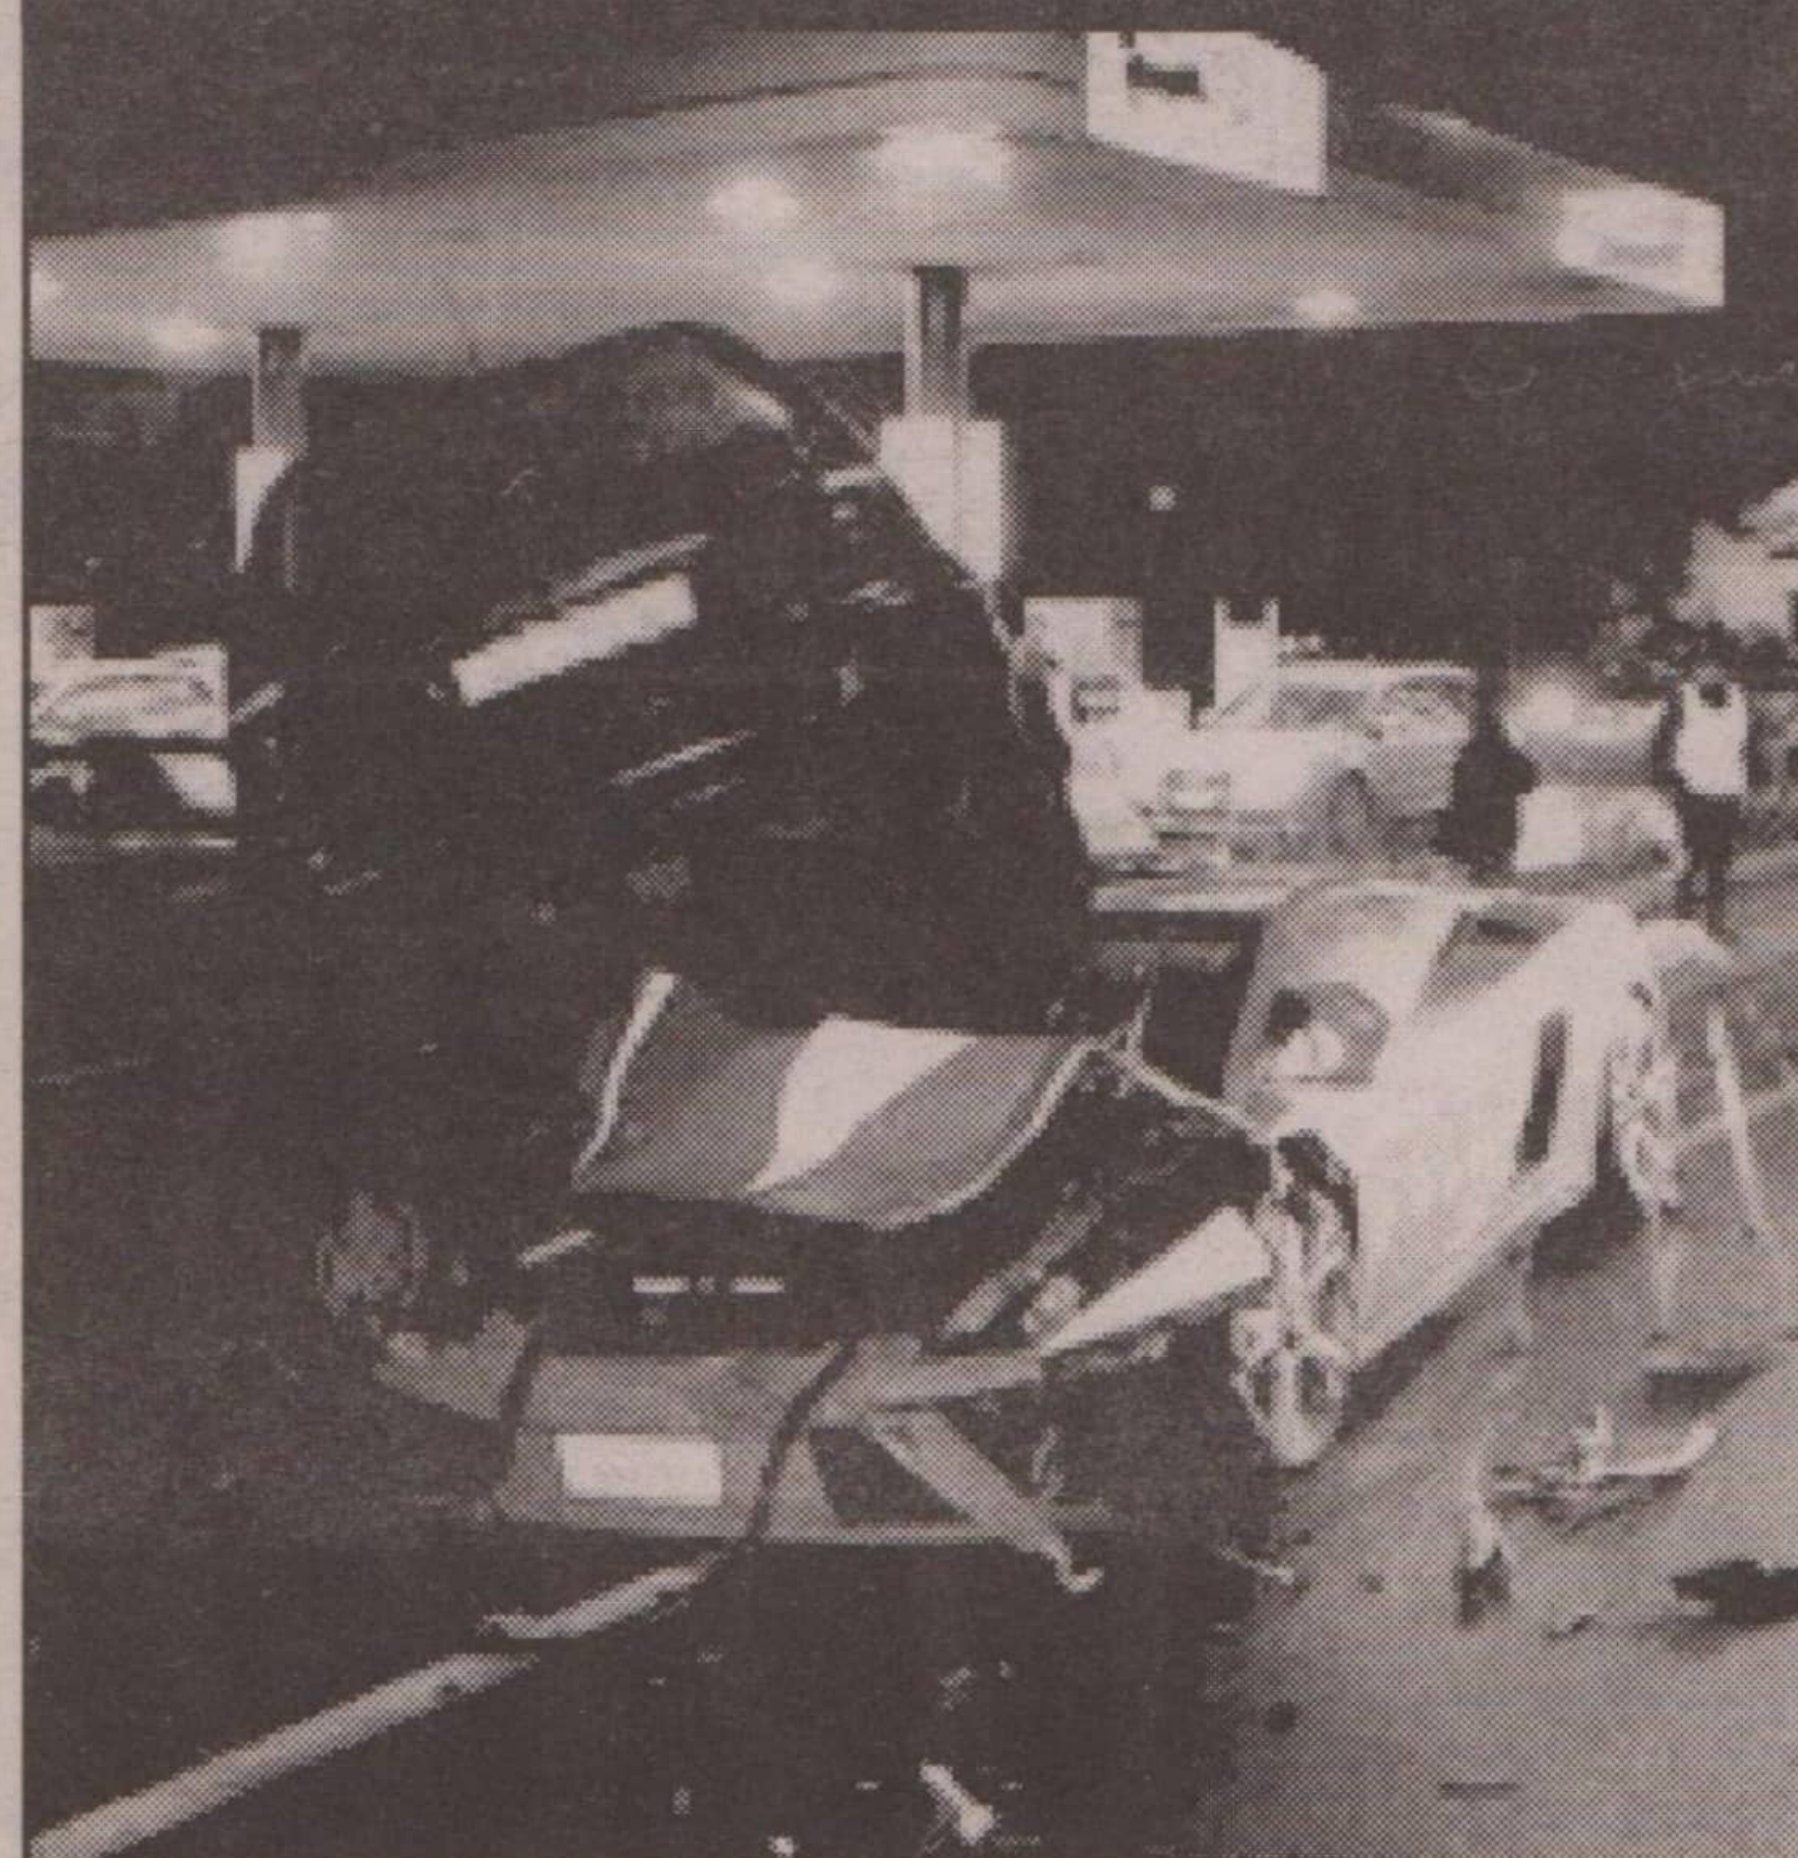

As you flicked straight through to page 3 of this latest issue of ClassWar, we're sure the disappointment, of not seeing your hospitalized copper on its usual page 3 must have been devastating. However we giving you one better this time round. One wounded and one dead and of course note the symbolism of these arsholes now being put on the unlucky page 13.

One Hospitalised another DEAD EQUADORian COPPPER, although it looks as though they were killed by other coppers, because their pensions were cut, or something. Wonder if our boys in blue will manfully take up the task of self slaughter, and save the rest of us the effort.

"GOT A LIGHT, ? GOV' "

INFAMOUS CAR CRASHES

What's this You might wonder. The third in the series of infamous car crashes and this time it a couple of italian macho coppers, who straight after being given the keys to their new Lamborghini crashed it while supposedly giving chase to a speeding granny.... Wonder if that 3 points off the license then chaps??

Hereford Solidarity League report

Hereford Solidarity League is a community based action group. It was formed by a handful of like-minded individuals in 2007, and now consists of well over a dozen members, with activists from Anarchist Federation, Class War, non-aligned anarchists and a couple of communists. In early 2008 it first published its paper – the Hereford Heckler. It was decided that this should be a bi-monthly newspaper that addresses local issues from a radical perspective, in a relevant, simple and accessible way. Since this time, the Heckler has been consistently produced every-other month, and its now about to hit its 16th issue. Each issue anywhere between 3,000-5,000 copies are printed and distributed (mainly door-to-door). The Heckler has now become a well-known name in the area and beyond.

Recently we have been involved in a campaign against the number of people on the councils housing waiting list, and the number of empty houses in the area. By reporting on the number of empty houses in the county, we have been pressurising the council into do something about it. This seems to have had an almost immediate affect. With many issues on the horizon and the cuts about to kick in, it appears we have our work cut out for the foreseeable future.

We think that our growth in size of organisation, presence and impact show that consistent hard work, a bit of initiative and simplicity can go a long way. If Hereford can have a flourishing anarchist group with a high-quality paper and large base of support – then quite frankly anywhere can! Get out there and get active!

<http://www.herefordheckler.wordpress.com>

As well as producing and distributing the Heckler, HSL have also been engaging ourselves in numerous campaigns. Over the years we have been involved in the 'Save Our Schools' campaign against council plans to shut dozens of county schools. We have done a lot of work against the BNP; exposing meeting places, protesting at events and most importantly distributing thousands of our own anti-BNP leaflets. Most re-

DOING THE BUSINESS

CLASS WAR ON THE STREETS

The Tory party con-on October 3rd saw the big-for over a decade. Old Class blockers marched behind shouting 'What do we want and merciless till we grind the 'When do we want it – All the march groups of Class Warmingham in the evening giving vitriolic and visceral class ha-Class war's determination to position to the Tories Cuts. tion of the Trade Union lead-one –offering only a series of marches and rallies with their return of another Labour gov-these marches you'll find the seek to push things one step beyond the control of the Labourites and into the kind of opposition that brought down the Poll Tax and Maggie Thatcher. Our opposition means nothing if it's not out on the streets, insurrectionary and rebellious. Join with us.

ference in Birmingham gest Class War turnout Warriors and young black the Class War banners Class war – unremitting bastards into the dust' fucking time'. After the riors roamed round Bir-the Tory grandees some tred. October 3rd marks be at the forefront of op-We know that the opposi-ers and leftists is a false mind numblingly boring final aim being only the ernment. On everyoneof Class War banners as we

CLASS WAR.

Vote For Me If You're a Mug

The Olympics are happening and nothing can be done about it. In Whitechapel and across the east end promises of improvement to the area being revoked. The promised jobs have been changed by Boris to volunteers. 70,000 local jobs made into volunteer placements. And who will end up doing the volunteering? The "flexible new deal" includes a work for welfare programme, and soon East Enders will be forced to volunteer through the jobcentre for work they were promised a decent wage for.

Working class people are gaining nothing from these games; we won't even be able to afford entry.

As well as being shafted by an Olympic trophy people are watching the rise of the EDL, vicious and malicious cuts to public services which are as good as unopposed by sterile lifestylism, squat rot, internet absorbed, dead end actavist'a movement.

How can an anarchist's depart from this maddening boredom? Were going for the most depraved and disgusting Anarchist tactic ever imagined.

Were standing in elections. Next year, the class war legend Martin Wright will take up the challenge of standing on a populist class struggle platform in the new super borough elections.

We know we're not going to win. We know we can't stop the Olympics. And we know no gods, no masters..... people can protest a politician or a system any time without standing in an elections...but the truth is most people don't, most anarchists don't seem to give a damn about being on the streets and voicing politics unless its outside and embassy or chained up at Biggin hill airport.

This election is nothing but an opportunity. A chance to gain free publicity posted to every home in the area, a chance to confront politicians on tv and in front of a press that will listen to us. A chance to confront the

INSPIRING DAY OUT IN NORWICH

We went to Norwich for the Ian Tomlinson support day organised by Norfolk Community Action Group....

by Ian Bone

A surprisingly unflustered member of the Norwich Community Action Group picks me up at the station to the venue in Aylsham Road. An amazingly eclectic bill of music and speakers. Out the back of the pub are two marquees plus barbeque stall offering fine selection of burgers and homemade cakes. There's fearsome looking punks and skins and a happy gaggle of students face painting and strumming guitars. Takes a lotta bottle to walk about with a cats face amongst these desperados but all are getting on famously. The small field is a cross between village fete, scout jamboree and punkfest. The students engagingly encourage all to listen to their mates' poetry. Ian Gibson former MP for Norwich North arrives - everyone says he's a top geezer - and so it proves. We discuss Queen of the South and Inverurie Locos. He says he's doing just the same now as when he was an MP - Helping people with their problems. He has an easy facility talking to punks and skins alike - born out of a genuine interest in what they have to say. I leave him talking to some yarmouth punks. Paul Lewis of the Guardian arrives - the reporter who did so much to expose the police lies in the Tomlinson case. All the Tomlinson family are coming apart from Paul King. I'm a bit worried it'll be a bit of a cultural shock what with all the punks and loud music and that. They arrive in a minibus - the familiar wife and mum and daughters and son. They do look a bit nonplussed at first. The Organiser does a good job at putting them at ease but I see them exit on mass up the road. 'they're leaving' I panic to him. 'Calm down' he says 'they'e just going to get some fags'. I talk to Richard Tomlinson. Then it's time for the speakers. Everyone crowds into the marquee - maybe 100 or so. The two standout speakers are Paul Lewis and Richard Tomlinson. Richard is standing in for brother Paul king who usually does the talking and he does great. you can't fail to be moved by this ordinary family trying to make sense of what has happened to them. Paul Lewis makes the point that gatherings like this are vitally important to keep the fight for justice going. We should be proud of ourselves - we need a hundred more such events round the country. Bellah from Class war makes the point to the Tomlinsons - 'We may look weird - but we're on your side'. The ice is broken. After the meeting everyone is interacting with everyone else - the Tomlinson girls are having their photos taken with mohicanned punks. the bar is crowded -one happy mass of humanity rather than separate tribes. the barbeque smoke rises above the jamboree field. 'One day all human life will be like this' I muse to myself before heading home. Well done Norwich Community Action. I'm sure after today the Tomlinsons would be happy to come to your town too. Ask them. Just heard benefit raised £950 for Tomlinson family. Doing the business

BNP, we will be heading to Barking to conduct a militant anti fascist campaign.

The cuts to public service, the attacks on working class people need to be opposed with a many headed hydra of action. This election is one part of what anarchist opposition needs to be and for now will give us a greater voice on the streets to attack the ruling class with, and once we've lost the election we should have reached more people and be able to step away from propaganda and move onto more action....or we might win

Lyric of the moment

TORY FUNERALS...
To a jaunty beat!

There's some occasions,
some special events
You could say they were heaven sent

They engrave the stones
with Roman numerals
My favourite ones...

They're Tory Funerals
Conservative Ministers or
Tory MPs

There's one sure way for them to please

They can call me a bastard, call me a red
In return... Just drop dead

Tory Funerals... Tory Funerals

I want more of Tory Funerals

Tory Funerals... Tory Funerals

I want more of Tory Funerals

ORDER! ORDER!

The Speaker of the House of Commons - for it is he!

"It is my painful duty to have to inform the house that the Rt.Hon member for Finchley Mrs Margaret Thatcher has... dropped
dead!"

(Cheers, laughter, party poppers, etc)

I couldn't care less I couldn't give a toss
At the sudden death of a factory boss

The ruling class are really hated

All I want... Is them cremated

Dig 'em out the graves
when they're dead

Corpse don't care if it's kicked in the head

Rip 'em apart, forget former glories

One good thing... More dead Tories

Tory Funerals...

Be aware, be very aware. The ConDem nation is an unadulterated display of the rich protecting their profits and making the rest of us pay.

We are already seeing their true colours as they swiftly abandon any pretence of "liberalism" and will destroy public services as quickly as they can, while they can still blame the last bunch of Wankers for the "austerity measures".

These will consist of scraping most local authority responsibilities to protect the vulnerable, under the guise of "deregulation" a true blue term for the wholesale flogging off of even the most basic public services to their mates, who as we know will allow them to descend into the ugly hands of Group 4 and capita who will ensure no one except the few at the top get anything other than shit wages, no unions no chance of a decent pension or any job security.

While the apologists on what's left of a very statist and self serving "left" will try to ensure any real rebellion against this assault on human and civil rights is dehumanised into a well policed kettle, politically and physically.

The months to come will be a full tilt into a rerun of bankers being bailed out and the rest of us sold out. It is our duty to ensure that resistance is alive and dangerous.

We will be there. On every demo every strike and every passionate act of insurrection against this assault on our class.

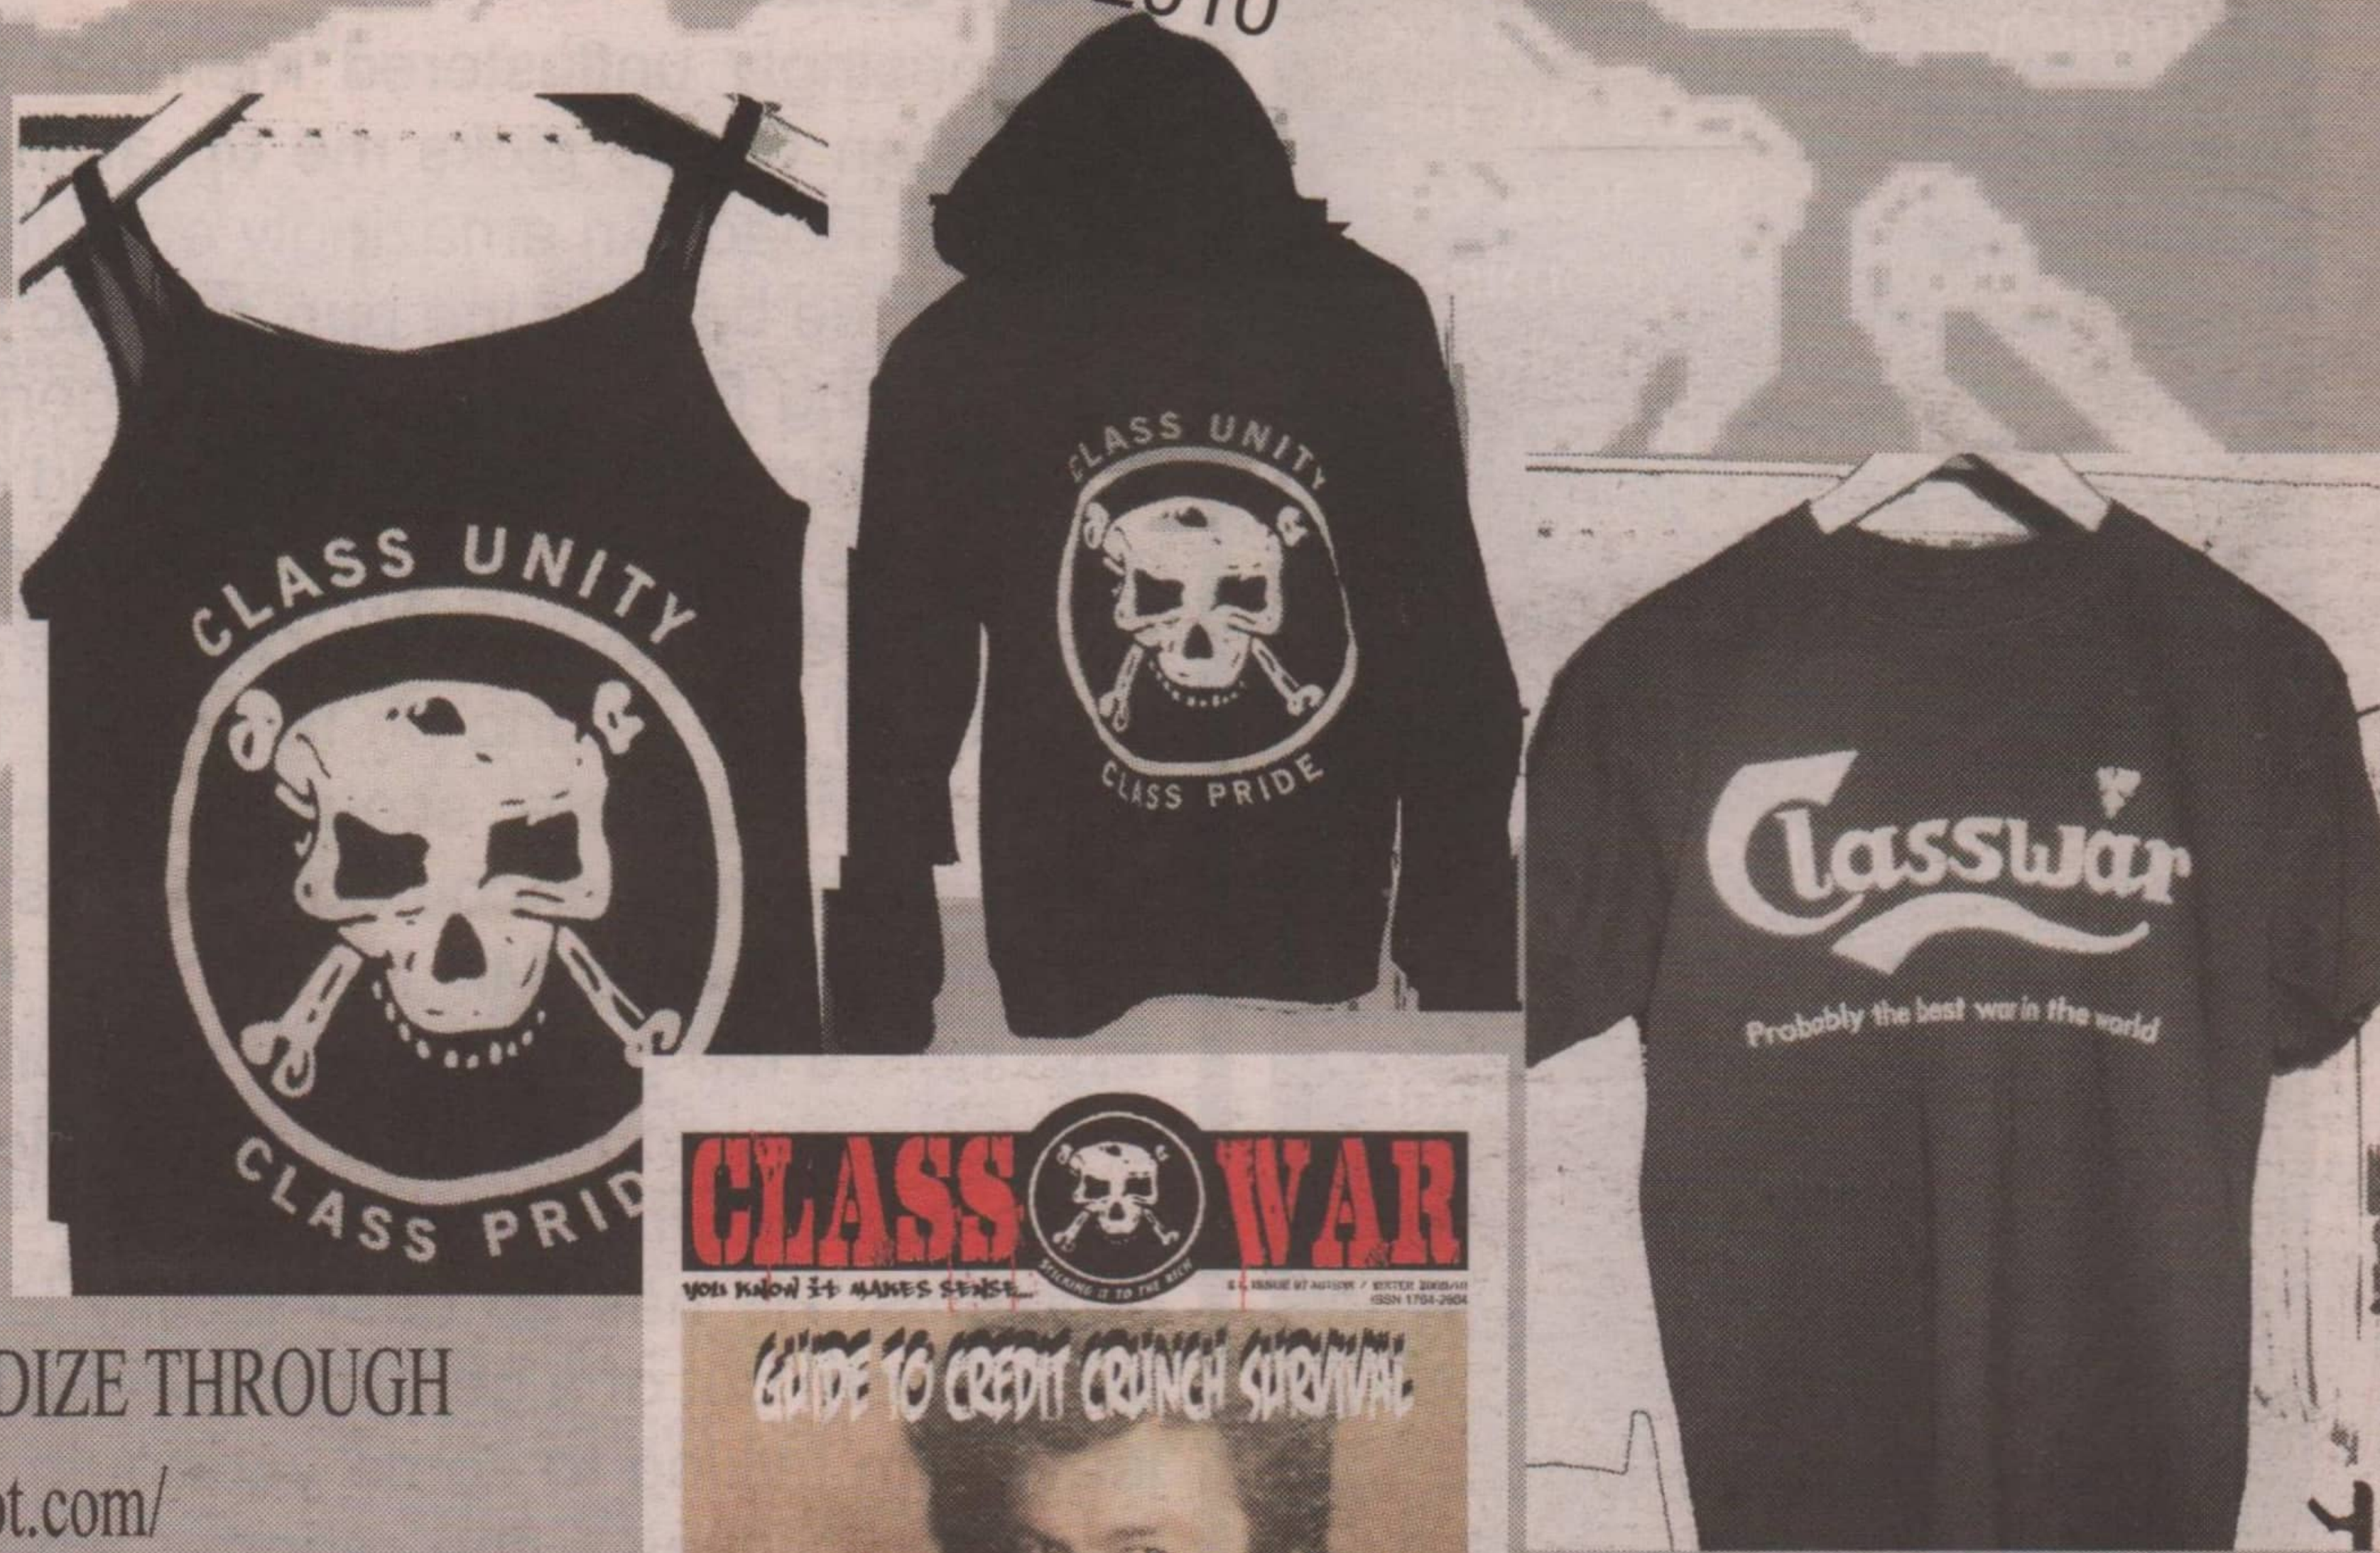

Get out from behind your key board, join us on the streets. Let battle commence.

Behind our banners and behind the barricades, on the street, in the work place, in picket lines and dole queues.

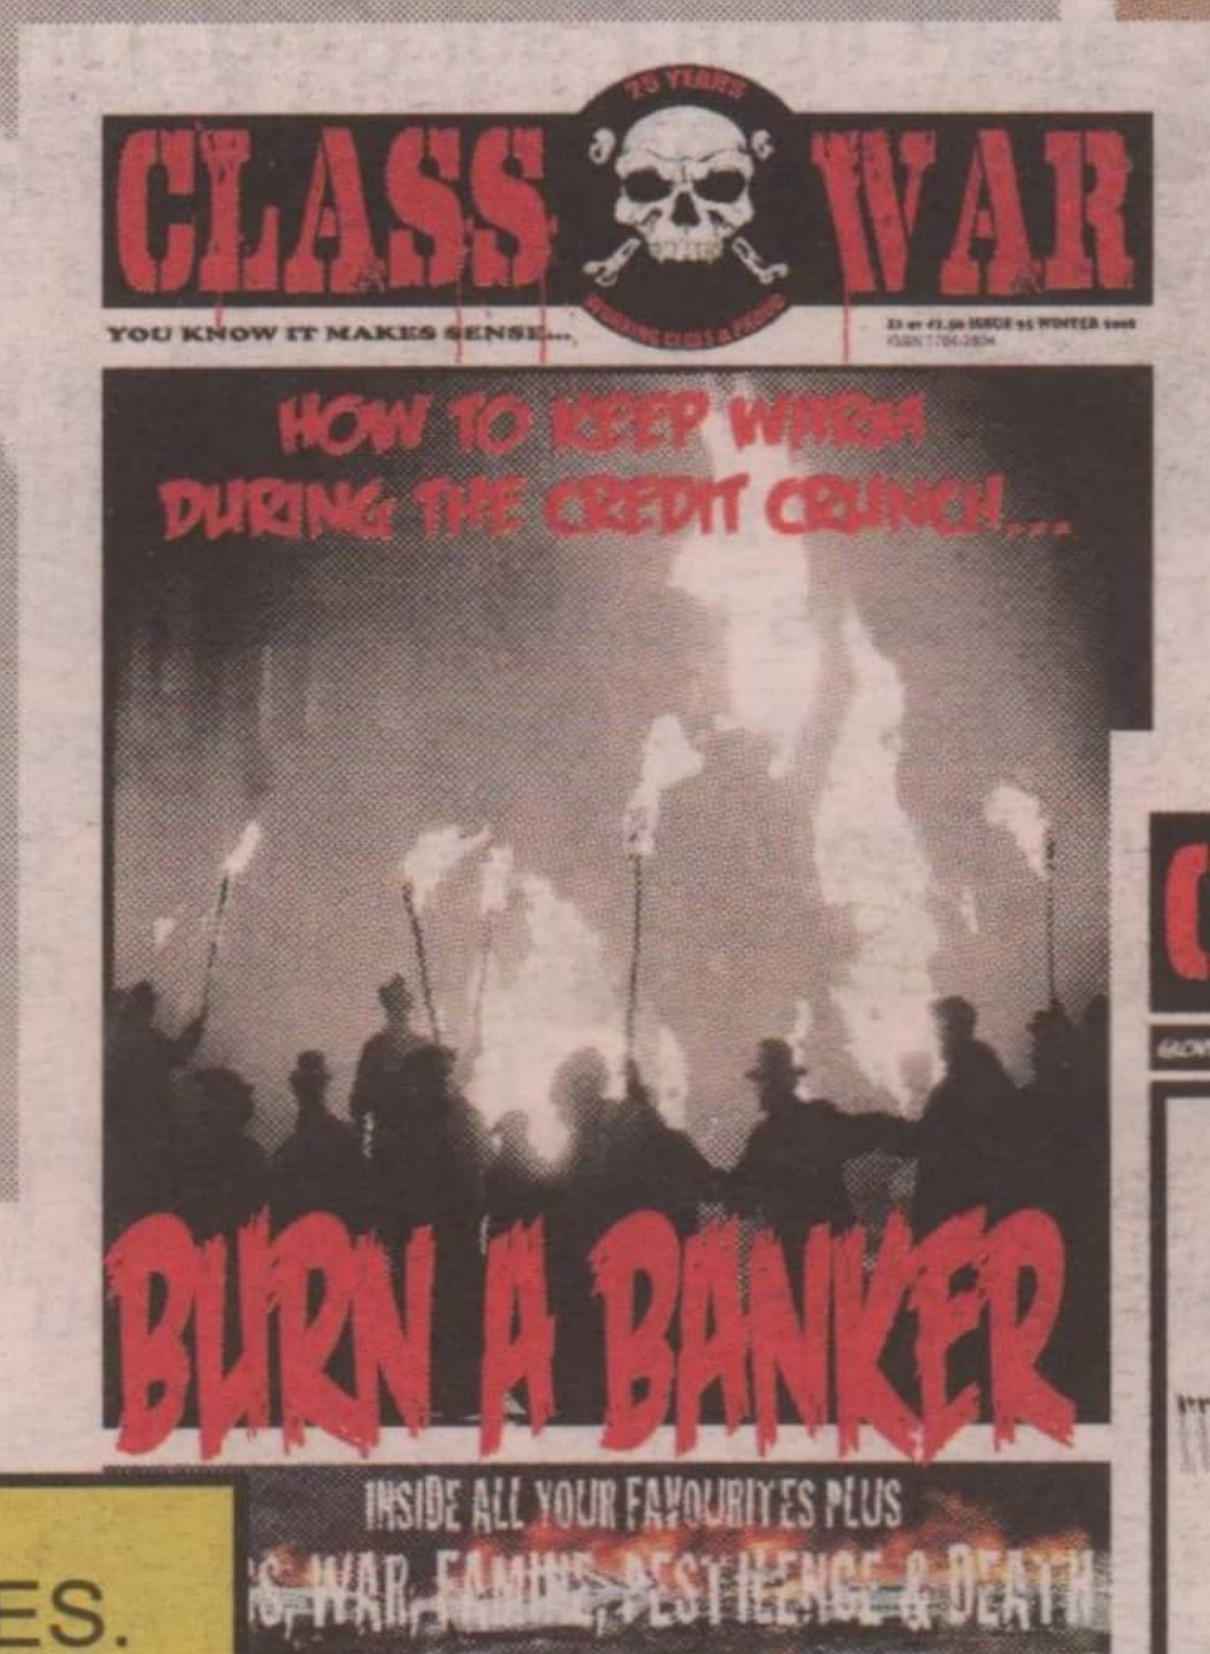

No war but the class war, are you angry yet?

SUPPORT TO ALL ANARCHIST PRISONERS

"Revolutionaries do not apologise to the criminals of the State."
NIKOS MAZIOTIS
 GREECE 2010

GET YOUR MERCHANDISE THROUGH
<http://classwar-uk.blogspot.com/>

PLUS BACK ISSUES. NOW ALSO ONLINE FOR DOWNLOAD

GET YOUR FREE POSTERS ON
<http://bunchofwankers.blogspot.com/>