

BRISTOL BROADSHEET

SCANDAL :

THE LIARS OF CITY HALL

There have been 540 reported cases of Dysentery in Bristol over the last few months. Most of these have been in working class areas, such as Knowle. This rise is not an isolated incident but part of a countrywide increase.

In Bristol, council officials tell us that the only way to avoid it is to improve our personal hygiene. As anyone with an ounce of common sense and without their class interest will tell you, the cause of Dysentery is the fouling of fresh water supplies. In Bristol this has been caused by the collapse of the sewers, which no doubt to save money were laid next to the fresh water supplies.

We have been lied to about this disease which can kill. Middle class bureaucrats don't trust us with the truth. They try to make decent working class families feel they're dirty and it's all their fault their children have dysentery. We are too scared to tell our neighbours so again our communities are divided.

It's no surprise rich areas like Snade Park and Clifton haven't been hit. Corners weren't cut when the pipes were laid and since then repair work has been done. The state created by the rich serves the rich.

We will not feel guilty. We will not hide the fact our lives are being ruined by local government, central government and the state. We must direct our class anger against the liars and those they serve, the ruling class.

TELECON

Remember the days when if someone ripped off the money from a telephone box, it was free calls for all. Now the bastards at British Telecom have changed all that.

The problem is that those who were nicking haven't wised up to the fact. If you need to make an urgent call you have to walk about two miles to find a phone that works. B.T aren't interested they'd rather we all had phonecards then they could sack a few workers. On top of that many working class people won't be able to afford the cards. So next time your off to fill your pockets with 10ps, hop off to the rich areas, don't leave your own without phones for months on end.

SUPPORT THE STRIKING PRINTWORKERS!

The Purnells' print workers struggle on. The sacked workers, according to Robert Maxwell, "dismissed themselves" by not lying down and agreeing to 185 redundancies, no pay rises for 1986, increased hours, reduced holiday pay and other "non-negotiable" demands.

They have maintained a daily picket at the Paulton works outside Bristol. While this sustained pressure has had limited success in turning away a few lorries it has not won back those jobs. The Bristol Graphical Society, part of the NGA, continues to deter others from joining the picket outside the factory. Like the SOGAT leadership nationally and locally who have hampered effective picketing, they appear scared of losing control of workers, who recognize the need for more direct action to win the strike.

Support the Purnells' print workers and visit the pickets.

PARASITES

The Labour Party has traditionally been held up as 'the party for the working class'; the party that supposedly serves us. What a joke. ANYBODY who steps into the House of Commons serves only the ruling class, and is an enemy of the working class. Christ, I thought the old lot were bad: well-educated, and very wealthy vermin like Healey, Wilson, Callaghan were so obviously ruling class parasites that a disgusting, new breed are being brought in, for us to vote for. Local wankers like Pam Tatlow and Dawn Primarorola are typical of this: snobby-voiced, spoilt middle class brats, desperately trying to sound proletarian. Like lice, they have infested traditional working class areas like Windmill Hill, Totterdown and Southville to gain some sort of credibility. With rips in their knees and 'right-on' stickers on their 2CV's, they think were stupid enough to think there on our side. WISE UP TOSSERS. More and more people are realising what a pile of shit the Labour Party is (and the rest of the bourgeois left, for that matter). But the answer doesn't lie in equally verminous bags of scum like the SDP/Liberals/Tories, or in religious loonies or in the 'just dont vote', drop-out, cop-out cesspool. The only answer to capitalism, the state, the class system: the whole bloody thing is a WORLD-WIDE WORKING CLASS REVOLUTION, without politicians and bureaucrats, with each one of us playing a part in it, not just some jumped up toerag, straight out of university.

We are at war - CLASS WAR

DON'T MUG YOUR OWN MUG THE RICH

While the rich are in power, there's not a great chance of us getting our hands on much of the wealth that working class men and women create, until we organise and fight to get rid of the parasites. In the meantime there are ways of redistributing it amongst ourselves.

In the rich scum areas of Clifton and Westbury, they are easily found in and out of their rolls, jags and Mercedes and to and fro their all-night cocktail parties. It's sickening to see them strutting around in their dinner jackets and fur coats, parading their wealth in front of us who can't afford to eat out every evening in expensive restaurants or drink in wine-bars. These shits must rub their hands when working class people beat up and mug others for a fiver in our local areas, when we are robbed of a decent living by their mere existence.

It's time to stop this mugging where we live and make our way to Clifton and the rest. The money can only come one way.

SATURDAY NIGHT FIGHTING

The weeks frustration at being on the dole, or in some poxy, low-paid, boring job, is usually taken out on other working class people in some drunken brawl down the city centre. Apart from being a total waste of time, this is crap 'cos the cops can pretend to be 'the good guys' and break it up, thus reinforcing the media bullshit that the cops aren't mercenaries of the state, but there to protect us from nasty criminals.

THINGS ARE CHANGING.

With the recent closure of certain city-centre clubs and pubs, and warnings to others to stop serving after hours the po-lice made the feeble excuse that they were worried about innocent passer-bys being attacked by drunken mobs. Bollox. What the filth are really worried about is the amount of violence increasingly directed against them. A burning hatred of bully-boy police tactics on the week-ends is the one thing that unites every one out on the streets, be they black, white, man, woman or whatever. Every week end there's some new attack on some cop or another. Brilliant. As the cops get stretched because of the convoy, it's our chance to increase the level of violence in the centre and spread it further, until these lackeys of the bosses are ridden of once and for all.

They may be Hippy dropouts but at least they know how to bring up their kids.

A young boy armed with a handful of mud singling out Mr Robert Boscawen, Conservative MP for Somerset and Frome, as his target before the hippy convoy pulled out of the farm.

SILENTNIGHT

The Silentnight strike began in June 85, at a time when public eyes were on the plight of the miners. It is still going on, entering its 1st anniversary this month. The Silent night company manufactures beds and bedding and is one of many companies owned by "rich scumbag", Tom Clarke and family. This blood-sucking money grabber sacked 300 workers, six weeks into the strike for refusing to abandon their rights.

The strike occurred because piecework rates had been imposed without any negotiations or agreements. Six months had previously been spent asking the company to pay the nationally agreed pay rise for the bedding industry. Then shitbag Tom Clarke announced 52 redundancies anyway, claiming company poverty after having made a nice packet of £640,000 in dividends from his holding company! After a vote to strike the company agreed to a rise but not on piecework earnings which affected the majority of Silentnight workers. They have refused to accept this "conjuring trick" and have been on strike to this day-- and the fight goes on with a campaign already launched, against the sale of Silentnight beds throughout the country.

There are several things we can do to support the strikers in their fight for human rights in Tom Clarke's slave camps and prevent him from treating people like shit;

1. First and foremost, don't buy any product made by Silent night or any of TC's companies.
2. Leaflet outside local shops and stores where Silentnight beds are on sale, in particular, the Co-op and Queensway who are the major stockers and who voted against the strikers. Others include; Debenhams, Carmichaels, Howes, House of Fraser shops, Bensons, Owen & Owens plus most large furniture stores.

3. Invite a speaker from the strike to any meetings or workplaces you are in—a good way of getting others involved. Contact: 22, Garrick St NELSON Lancs. BB9 8JA or Tel. 0282-603055/814556/843649
4. If your'e feeling ambitious the picket lines are at Sutton between Keighly and Skipton and at Barnoldswick between Burnley and Skipton.

4. Financial donations are also needed to prevent the strikers from being starved back into slavery. Donations can be sent to: FEAT Cravendale 92 Branch Strike Fund TREASURER is Mrs Ann King, 10 Rainhall Cresnet, Barnoldswick, Colne, Lancs..

MAY DAY '86

Saturday, May 3rd - a miserable little march assembles on college green and sets off to dribble through broadmead past the Saturday shoppers who haven't a fucking clue what's going on. Anyone who saw it could easily be forgiven for thinking it was a death march after the unfortunate death of Mr. Kinnock. But Kinnock sadly, was not dead and the march was supposed to commemorate MAY DAY—the day for solidarity between workers worldwide in their struggle in the CLASS WAR. It was quite obvious from the faces of the slimey little union officials that this day has absolutely fuck - all to do with them.

There was one gleam of hope on this hypocritical occasion; a merry band of Anarchists—30 strong, who had come to reclaim the day. The flags were held high and the faces of the organisers—the people's leaders, grew red.

No wonder the profiteering Union officials don't exactly advertise the history of MAY DAY.

The plan to "reclaim MAY DAY" from the lefty parasites had gone well—only the start of taking back what's ours.....

KILL THE NAZIS

As most of us are aware, by now, the NF and other fascist/patriot/nazi groups are rearing their ugly heads again. Nationally this has taken the (public) form of rallies, demos and marches; and away from the public eye: with petrol bombings, razor attacks, beatings etc. In Bristol we have seen increased fascist graffiti and stickers. To combat this we must win the battle of ideas. It only takes a leaflet to convince the vast majority of working class people that they stand to gain FUCK ALL from the NF. Even more important than this, however, is to defeat them in the battle of the streets. A lot of the working class youth who support the NF, especially the less intelligent 'skinhead' section of it, do so 'cos the NF are seen as the 'hardest working class political bunch' on the streets, and that the anti-nazis are all 'middle-class wankers' from Clifton. This is why the demos, rallies and marches—in fact all street action—is so important for the fascists. The way to defeat them, then, is not paper selling five miles away or having a public meeting the night before (though they may be a good supplement) BUT OUT ON THE STREETS, READY TO HURT, MAIM AND KILL. Everywhere fascism appears there must be people ready to inflict class violence upon them. And we shouldn't wait to be attacked either. Anyone caught doing graffiti, putting up posters, stickers etc is already committing acts of violence against us. The only answer to this, is a fucking good beating. FASCIST SCUM BEWARE—WE ARE AFTER YOU.

ANGRY!
CLASS WAR

Command The Community.

Since May Day 1986 we've seen the strikes at Wapping and Silentnight fall, victims of the British trade unions unwillingness to support the struggles of workers. The workers at British Telecom have seen how union leaders always mislead and sell out their members. The strikers at Purnells in Paulton felt the effects of union mismanagement and its unwillingness to fight the bosses.

It is becoming more and more important that workers form their own rank and file fighting organisation to face the bosses increased attacks.

Since May Day 1986 the workers of France, Spain, Yugoslavia and countries around the globe have shown we can fight back.

In Britain the strikers at Traders in Nottingham and Ardrbride in Scotland have fought on despite the Unions. The strikers at Hangers continue their nine month fight. The bosses and the T.U.C will never defeat our class. SOLIDARITY FOREVER.

Mayday is traditionally Workers Day all over the world and its high time we reclaimed it from the 'community clowns' and career building parasites of the Labour Party. This is our day, lets celebrate it our way.

You will be able to spot us on the day by our flags and banners. Look for the Red and Black flags and the anti-rich and rank & file workers banners.

OUR DAY, YOUR DAY,
MAY DAY.
