IN TODAY'S ARMY-IF YOU CAN

The Perishers

Well, we've managed to get to issue number 7 of this mag. but so far we've not had as much interaction as we'd hoped for. This journal is produced by members of Brighton Anarchist Group and puts over libertarian, anti-authoritarian views. At the same time we'd love to have contributions from outsiders—information and articles from people working on the buses, in the factories, in the hotels and kitchens, in the hospitals and in the schools. We'd like YOU to use this paper as a vehicle for your views and grievances, to tell us and the readers what the conditions are like where you live and work, how your boss is treating you. The Argus, Radio Brighton we feel do not represent the views and opinions of the people, they always report things from the side of the establishment. There are very few ways in which the man in the street, the rank and file worker, the housewife, the schoolkid can hear their voice be heard. So, make sure that those letters, those articles, those snippets of information start coming in.

Manchester - Ulster

Workers in Manchester in a fight against the bosses for higher wages, better conditions, five hours off the working week, And equal pay for women, are on strike at the moment. Not only that 4,000 of them have occupied 9 factories in the Manchester area as part of the struggle. Employers at one of the occupied factories have retaliated by bringing a High Court order against the sit-in workers under a new act that was intended for use against squatters -which means people have to leave the building in question within 24 hours of a case being decided against them. Perhaps we will soon see the spread of sit-in tactics in industrial disputes to the South East despite the use of such laws.

Heartfelt condolences to Nick for doing the "right thing".

The troubles in Ulster have been going on for quite a while now but there is still widespread ignorance in this country over the ins and outs of the situation. This ignorance is to be found amongst radicals as well. The crisis there is treated by many as a purely sectarian religious fight, and this is exactly what the State wants us to believe. Of course it involves religious difference but to a great extent this was fostered by British rulers who are now naturally fanning this intolerance still further. The Ulster trouble also involves the Catholic minority fighting for civil rights----- and the unemployment, poverty, and slums affects Catholic and Protestant workers alike. The rulers of Ulster are hoping to draw attention away from the economic crisis ; but on two memorable occasions in the past fifty years when the system was on very flimsy feet, Protestant and Catholic workers have united against the bosses.

Naturally, the very complicated situation in N.I. cannot be gone into at any great depth....readers are recommended to read the issue of ANARCHY on Ireland...or to attend meetings of the Anti-Internment League, a non-sectarian group that calls for the withdrawal of British troops from Ulster and the ending of internment now. It is open to all who agree with these two things and there is room for wide discussion. There is a branch here in Brighton and all those who are interested in joining, in attending meetings, etc can contact AIL by writing to Gutter press who will send you their address and other details.

Letters

TO 'GUTTER PRESS'

well, well we finally got some all this time and nothing
before now
keep them acomin' in to whom it may concern

do you realise that the soldiers of your country's army recently shot in cold blood thirteen people, and have injured many others?

do you that the irish people have been struggling for two hundred years to gain freedom from english domination a freedom which your country has always claimed as a right for all people?

do you realise that the british t.v. and newspapers are being regularly censored?

do you know that your troops are still torturing irish people?
..... as they are known to have done in aden, cyprus and other places

DO YOU REALLY THINK YOUR GOVERNMENT IS JUST?
freedom for the irish ... end internment now

Dear Editors,

There are several methods of healing by natural means.
Macrobiotics is at present probably the most well known. Nature Cure which contains a variety of different ideas on diet is another such system. Although varying in certain details most practitioners are agreed upon the benefits of fasting and water application therapy for specific conditions. Nature Cure clinics exist in Britain and research into all methods of natural healing should prove highly rewarding. Books on Nature Cure can be obtained at most health food stores or at the library.

Natural Healing.

Dear Editors,

While I agree with a number of points raised in your journal
..... which I think by the way has little care and attention put into it's preperation I fail to agree with your basic premise that man is good enough to be able to live without government.

Perhaps you could set my mind at rest?

yours etc.

J. Humphreys. postmarked hove.

Dear J. Humphreys,

We never said that man ... and woman ... was good enough to be able to live without authority people are neither good or bad, but a mixture of both anyway, good and bad as we know them are concepts defined by this society, and have little meaning to us No what we want is a more rational society a decentralised society where one man cannot decide the fate of millions ... as today ... no man is good enough to be another man's master.

and now for something entirely different

EXPANDING DEMOCRACY

The present University of Sussex Tenants' Association campaign is bringing to the fore the whole nature of institutions, executive committees and power itself and the aim is an approach which quite frankly would ultimately lead to the opening of all matters concerning the life of the campus. It has already emerged that a meeting is an insufficient ... though vital ... part of true democratic process. What the campaign has revealed is that people need to be able to use all media and any means to consolidate mass participation. There will soon be a need for a room or rooms where if necessary everyone can lodge suggestions and look through documents. And it will be necessary to ensure that any proposals received in writing are aired at meetings and are freely available. One can easily see meetings whose sole function may be to accumulate ideas. Debate is only a part of the evolution. The accumulation and consolidation of information and its subsequent free availability and the encouraging of proposals and counter proposals are other vital parts. There may arise a need to elect delegates to co-ordinate information and activities but they should be subject to recall and replacement and have no power of decision making on their own. It might also be necessary to use the referendum if there is a demand for it due to the existence of insufficient agreement.

The management had changed the worksheet system without telling the Works Committee and the union advised workers not to fill in the new sheets.

Further show of solidarity was expressed by Sussex workers when Crawley Trades Council and other workers organisations threatened strikes at every factory in Crawley if any tenants on the local estates was victimised for being on rent strike against the Fair Rents Act-things seem to be livening up!

Meanwhile the State and the employers are hitting back...The Transport and General Workers Union was fined 5,000 quid for blacking container units--Under the new laws blacking is illegal.

Aloha, aloha, aloha. ^{what's going on here then?}

Beginning (and, we hope, ending) the strange exploits of Stan, Stan, the Housing Man.

S. Theobald, Mayor of this Borough, ex-chairman of the Housing Committee and (coincidentally of course) proprietor of George Whites, Estate Agents, has ceremonial use of a Mayoral, municipally purchased Rolls during his term of office. The said Rolls recently figured in the court hearing over riotious behaviour at the Seven Stars disco-pub when it was stated that on occassions it and its chauffeur had been belaboured verbally and physically by merry-makers leaving the pub in the afternoon when the auto was parked outside the offices of Geo. White in Ship Street.

Now either Mr. Theobald is a very lazy man incapable of walking the 200 yards or so from Ship Street to Bartholomews or one is perhaps excused for doing a bit of quick mental arithmetic involving the answer four and asking a few questions about the permitted uses of the Rolls and who pays for the petrol.

No doubt if rotund Comrade Stanley had been in the Rolls himself at the time of the "attacks" he would have accounted for himself like a man. Old Timers in Brighton will remember the dynamic performance which Stanley, of Aloha, Dyke Road Drive, put up at an election meeting for J. Amery in 1970 when a vandal in the hall started blowing bubbles. Cherubic Stan's face went scarlet, bald head flashing and smoke issuing from the ears he leapt from his seat into the audience and, aided only by a gang of half a dozen retired Tory gentlefolk, succeeded in expelling the offender from the hall. It was suspected that the incident had some traumatic effect on his nervous system as observers say that he shook for about half an hour afterwards.

Such men make Brighton the town it is.

Joe Hill

The film "Joe Hill" has been and gone in Brighton, but we did not get a chance of reviewing it at the time. However, we feel that this film cannot pass without comment of some sort. Joe Hill was a militant member of the libertarian revolutionary union, the Industrial Workers of the World which was active in the States, and elsewhere, during the first fifty years of this century.

Joe Hill arrived in the States from Sweden and by 1910 he was a member of the IWW; he took part in the San Pedro dockworkers strike the San Pedro free speech campaign, and an abortive insurrection in Tia Juana which aimed to make Lower California into a commune. He went to Utah where he helped organise copper miners and other workers in and around Salt Lake City. The Copper Trust and the Mormon Church realised how dangerous he was and he was framed for murder. He was executed by firing squad in 1915. He had been responsible for many revolutionary songs, which had catchy tunes and much satirical comment, including the famous "Pie in the Sky" "Dump the Bosses off your Back" etc.

The film, I feel does not do enough justice to Joe-the music, incidentally, is good, great guitar work by Stefan Grossman-and rather dilutes the personality of the Fellow Worker. Facts are more or less adhered to, but if you did not know what the IWW was before you went to the film, you would be none the wiser afterwards, and the Mormon Church instrumental in Joe's death, is not even mentioned! I left the show with a rather empty feeling. I feel that big business is exploiting the current interest in Anarchism to make money-witness the highly priced reprints of Anarchist classics in the States and soon over here---works that have been reprinted again and again by Anarchist groups in cheap pamphlets. This film is a bit of a con, there is a much better film about Sacco and Vanzetti the Anarchists who were framed and executed in America in the 20's but it is not planned to show it over here. A postscript--Paramount, on the site of "Joe Hill" hoped to pay the film workers (in California) less money by acting under the auspices of an European production company-European pay for filmworkers is lower-but the IWW going through a miraculous resurrection, organised on the site, struck, and won the higher wages!

informers this is serious and true ... there is a man in brighton living under an assumed name ... PERRY ... this man is dangerous .. he has already shopped a young deserter from the british army ... and in the process dropped alot of other people in the shit ... he is about 45 to 50 years old, bald, between 12 and 15 stone and 5ft. 6ins. very into asking questions and giving bad advice ... he must be stopped if you see this man tell him brighton doesn't want him and he must leave

bill butler got a heavy fine and the books destroyed by order of the magistrates he says thanx to all those people who helped during the whole thing people in brighton seem to be putting somethings together for themselves ... their own organizations to deal with specific issues and problems, but all the time these very people are becoming entangled with the forces of law and order still if we pull together, we might be able to beet them at their own game

PEOPLE NOT PSYCHIATRY

Numerous groups operate under the name of P.N.P. throughout the country. Contact between the various groups is minimal, but all have similar goals. The mental health services are based on the assumptions which we do not share. They concentrate upon the psychopathology of the individual, largely ignoring the patterning of relationships which contributes frequently to the initial diagnosis of 'mental illness'; ignoring for the most part, too the pressures of social norms to which we are all subject. Also, the possible significance of social network in recovery is grossly underestimated. Insufficient preventative work is carried out; hospitals rely heavily on drugs and electro-shock 'therapy'; and after-care provisions are plainly inadequate. Some of the problems are endemic to organized 'help', and the shortcomings of the system are more marked in some fields than others, but the need for alternatives is obvious. P.N.P. cannot hope to make up for all the deficiencies, nor does it aim to work as a pressure group to change the system. Mental illness can develop in conditions of isolation: we hope to make contact with anyone beginning to lose touch. Equally we hope to provide alternatives to intolerably stressful situations in offering undemanding supportative relationships. P.N.P. believes in human contact, and the confirmatory experience of developing relationships, which we hope to be able to offer to anyone who wants to take part.

The Brighton group has been in existence for several months now, and activity centres upon the Wednesday meetings at OPEN. Many people have become involved, to a greater or lesser extent, bringing an enormous variety of problems and ideas. The meetings are totally unstructured, and are generally lacking in direction, but this means that the individual can participate at any level. If you come along and want to talk things through with one person, that's fine or with a few people ... or whatever. Smaller groups meet during the week to explore the implications and the possibilities of relationships, in conventional and unconventional ways: find out about these on wednesdays.

Nothing is for sure guaranteed: it is all very experimental though maybe not as exciting as that makes it sound.

BRITISH DRUG HOUSES, I.C.I. and BEECHAMS made 150 million pounds profit between them last year on drugs to fuck your mind.

Of course there are difficulties. How to establish and maintain an atmosphere of trust and openness? How far to commit yourself personally in whichever role you choose, knowing that whatever you give or whatever you receive is limited by the situation? P.N.P. can only offer possibilities, but people do need people, and a wide variety of relationships to fulfill their varied needs.

PEOPLE NOT PSYCHIATRY is for YOU

YOU are PEOPLE NOT PSYCHIATRY.

it's the Durnuti Column

What exactly is Brighton Corporation doing? They plan to knock down 47 houses in Upper Gardner Street, King Street and Church Street, Windsor Street and Portland Street—they want to get rid of the houses, but seem very vague as what to put in their place. One of the two blocks might be a multi-storey car park and the other one might possibly be used as a carpark until something more definite is decided. The demolition plan throws a lot of people out of their homes, most of which are in good condition—this at a time when there are 1,073 people on the council housing list.

Look at the acres of wasteland in Kemptown, the hundreds of boarded-up houses which have stood vacant for years—it looks like Brighton has just been through a blitzkrieg. And what usually happens when houses are knocked down—yes, you've guessed it, they're turned into car parks.

Look into the crystal ball and see the town in 1980—one huge car park, with the homeless inhabitants pushing prams and belongings around looking for accommodation. Who gets fat meanwhile? National Car Parks and the Council.

As Dennis Hill of the Brighton Trades Council said recently, most workers in Brighton are getting "coolies' wages" and accept as a fact of life that because they work in Brighton they will earn up to £5 a week less than if they worked in another part of the country. (See article in last Gutter Press on white collar workers.) Some bosses are making very large profits, but the situation was not related to the unemployment figures but has been the same for a very long time indeed. The cost of living in the town has to be taken into account when one considers these wages, and it's higher than in other parts of England (as much as 60% dearer in housing costs) Brighton workers have been sitting on their arses for far too long

Its about time they woke up and started to fight back against the bosses who are bleeding them dry.

The Phantom Chalk Scribbler has been on the rampage recently around Brighton-some of the slogans to be noticed, especially on the walls of the Public Library are "Let Tate and Lyle be your dentist"--- "Heath is Nero"---"Make-up is fake-up"---"So who owns news".

Congratulations Dave and Jeane on the arrival of Joseph--let's hope things are better in the world by the time he grows up--who knows he,(and us too we hope)will see the birth of a free society.

Form Fives

There are now thousands of people, tens of thousands even, who regard themselves as "left" or as "underground" or as "revolutionary". They know themselves to be powerless. Every so often they protest at arbitrary dictates by the Silent Minority rulers. They know their protests mean nothing. Meetings, however militant and advanced the ideas expressed, are as little effective as those held in a pub bar. Yet these same people, at work, represent an enormous factor--stronger perhaps than the TUC itself. In every shopfloor dispute one looks around for allies, for other militants. If only one did not have to look. If one accepts the idea of WORKERS COUNCILS, cutting out state control from above, then form the embryos NOW. Just get to know, at any meeting, four others of a trade. Meet them occasionally. See to it that at some time each of the five tries to form a group of five in his ACTUAL PLACE OF WORK. There you will have a framework of militants all over the country, all believing in militant action. Their other political views are irrelevant. Those fives will be the forerunners of workers' councils. Try it and see for yourself. Workers' Councils, of ALL the workers, will bypass political action and destroy capitalism.
