

The Captain's Fund is dedicated to the memory of a "very special person who died recently. He was an example to many of living positively with AIDS, and as the name of the fund suggests, was in control of his life until the end". The fund is dedicated to his memory and is about helping others with HIV or AIDS to put control back into their lives by helping to relieve them of the stress caused by financial hardship. Whilst National Charities exist which are sometimes able to help with grants and one-off payments for essential equipment bills and respite care there is a large shortfall especially locally. This fund seeks to help and support local people with direct financial help and assistance.

BLACKGAY 'VOICES' HEARD Union campaign wins concessions

The Afro-Caribbean newspaper, 'The Voice' has finally given in to pressure from Black Lesbians and Gays Against Homophobia (BLGAH), the group set up to oppose the paper's anti-gay stance. Last week former Nottingham Forest soccer star Justin Fashanu's experiences and a positive review of 'Tongues Untied' - a film about black American homosexuality - appeared in the Voice. In the same issue the editorial read; "Justin Fashanu's description of life after he revealed his homosexuality is a brave and moving testament to one man's battle against bigotry." This U-turn is a direct result of the successful advertising boycott mounted against the Voice by the Town Hall union, NALGO who overwhelmingly voted for the ban at its annual Lesbian & Gay Conference last October. The Voice had carried articles attacking gay men and in particular Justin Fashanu who came out as gay in a Sunday tabloid. The Voice followed up their smear campaign with an article by his brother fellow footballer, John Fashanu disowning him. Following a letter from the union General Secretary, all NALGO union branches were instructed not to buy or advertise with The Voice and instead to use other black newspapers and journals. The paper's directors, worried at a fall in advertising revenue, as a result of the boycott, decided to reverse their anti-gay policy. Editor Winsome Cornish-Brown says "we have gone a long way in repairing any damage caused by The Voice. We have printed a front page apology, carried positive articles about the gay community, allowed Justin Fashanu to give his side of the story and drawn up an equal opportunities policy which states we will not discriminate on the grounds of sexuality." Spokesperson for BLGAH, Ted Brown said: "Although the Voice is attempting to address its homophobia it has still noticeably excluded any reference to black lesbians in its policy."

The Trustees of the Pavilion Trust will soon be meeting to assess further applications for financial assistance, so now seems a good time to remind readers about the Trust. The clearly defined aim of the Trust is to give financial assistance to gays or gay-related projects in Derby, Leicester, Nottingham and surrounding counties. Do you know of anyone or any project which you feel should be considered? If you do, let them see this. It could well make all the difference to them...! All serious applications are given consideration and the Trustees try to help where ever possible. Applications should be addressed to J.C. Hardy, Esq. Hon. Sec. Pavilion Trust, One B, Belmont Avenue, Breaston, Derbyshire, DE7 3AA.

£1,500 IN THE BUCKET

Over 400 people attended a film benefit for "Longtime Companion" and charity auction at the Broadway Cinema last month to launch an HIV/AIDS organisation. The event was organized jointly by Nottingham AIDS Information Project and Nottingham Body Positive to launch the Captain's Fund for people living with HIV/AIDS. Broadway Cinema donated the takings from the box office, which together with the proceeds of the auction amounted to over £1,500. The event was introduced by Chris Hinchley, Co-ordinator at the Nottingham Aids Project and auctioneer Bill Smith, one of the many Project volunteers, was assisted by a team of runners, reminiscent of Wimbledon.

"We hope to capitalise on the great reservoir of talent that exists in the area, and, among other things, are hoping to arrange a series of performances soon including a women's benefit", said Chris Hinchley.

Paul Smith shirts, CD's, cycle shorts, books and the odd winter coat all combined to keep people interested and the runners panting. Chris Hinchley said it was hoped that the Captains Fund, which is jointly trusted by the Project and the Body Positive,

The photos (back page) show what appears to be a series of stunts with Bill Smith standing in a plastic bag, Matthew Toresen wearing a pretty hat, and Chris Hinchley holding up a bingo card.

One of the many Labour Councillors to sweep into power in Nottingham City in the recent elections is Noreen Baker, a recently retired health services worker. If some of you think her face is familiar you would be right. Remember the time you first attended the STD clinic at the old General Hospital in Park Row? Many will remember Noreen as the friendly, down-to-earth ice-breaker who made an, often anxious wait at the clap clinic, more bearable. Noreen now represents the ward of Bulwell East in Nottingham, is an active trades unionist and school governor and has supported gay & lesbian rallies in the past. Well done me duck, no retiring for you!

SHUT YOUR GOB!

Know anyone who could be called 'Gob' on a stick or are you a compulsive chatterer yourself? If the answer is 'yes' well here's your chance to take part in a sponsored silence on Wednesday 12th June and raise some money for PRIDE 28 Housing Co-op. The Co-op is now making a concerted effort at fundraising for the deposit on a house in Nottingham.

Their first year was expensive with the usual cost of registration which means they have arrived as a legal entity. Treasurer of Pride 28, Glenis said: "It is our first attempt at a sponsored anything! We now hope to attract money from other larger and more cautious organisations but thanks to donations, we managed to break even in our first year". So if you have a big gob and fancy taking part, or would like to help invigilate to make sure no-one speaks, get in touch right away with Glenis on (0602) 819486. The Sponsored Silence takes place at the International Community Centre, 61b Mansfield Road, Nottingham (Room 2).

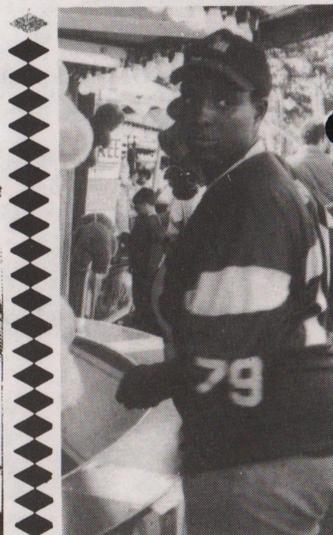

"For the generations of people who will come after us, we have to remember that someday the Aids crisis will be over. And when that day has come and gone there will be people alive on this earth - gay people and straight people, black people and white people, men and women - who will hear that once there was a terrible disease, and that a brave group of people stood up and fought and in some cases died so that others might live and be free."

VITO RUSSO, (1945-1990)

A celebration of the life and works of the late Keith Haring is to be held at the Gay and Lesbian Community Services Centre in Hollywood on July 8th. Subjects include ACT UP & the Peace Campaign Anti-Apartheid

NEW GAY GROUP IN CHESTERFIELD

A new gay men's social group has started fortnightly meetings in Chesterfield and already is attracting about ten people to a meeting. The group has the official support and backing of Derbyshire County Council and meetings are held in the town. This group fills a much-needed gap in provision in North Derbyshire and organiser, Frank hopes that the group will cater for those who find commercial venues unappealing or are not confident in attending them without social support. And if you can think of a name for the group they would like to hear from you as well! The Group can be contacted via Sheffield Gayphone, 0742 758880, Mon. Weds, 7.30-9.30pm, Derby Friend, 0332-49333 (Weds, 7-10pm).

APPOINTS FIRST WORKER

Nottingham Body Positive Group have just appointed their first fulltime co-ordinator from a short list of thirty applicants from around the country.

Fran Walsh, brings considerable experience to the post, coming from a background in mental health. She has worked for several voluntary projects over the years, lives in Nottingham and is an experienced Counsellor and Trainer

When OUTRIGHT spoke to Fran she said she was "obviously delighted" to get the job and will be starting work at the end of June. "We aim to broaden the base of services currently on offer at Body Positive to embrace the growing number of communities now affected by HIV. In this way, we will continue our work with people who are antibody positive and endeavour to offer them what they want and need", she said.

OUTRIGHT will keep you posted next month with Fran's new phone number as soon as it arrives.

SWIRLING IN A CESSPIT OF OUR OWN CREATION

Paul Woolf is putting the finishing touches to an exhibition which forms the cornerstone of his final exams in Fine Arts next month at Nottingham Polytechnic.

"When I told the organisers of the exhibition what I wanted to do for my portfolio they said it wasn't proper art". Thankfully that did not deter Paul from steaming ahead, and in a joint venture with photographer, Matthew Toresen he produced a video of lesbian and gay pride, entitled "Swirling In a Cesspit Of Our own Creation".

The video is interspersed with black and white photographs and represents what it is like to be gay in this country at present.

"It speaks for itself", says Paul. He has also completed a video filmed at the International Aids Day in London last year, around the ACT-UP's involvement which forms the other part of his work.

Institutionalised homophobia still shrouds academia and the heavy hand of censorship by the Polytechnic Fine Arts Faculty decreed that an image of two gay men showing affection for each other (without hard-ons), was not fit material for the Polytechnic Degree Show catalogue and he was banned from using it. But Paul remains defiant and will be using the banned image in his presentation he says.

"It is ironic that, at a time when nuclear and chemical warfare are glorified, any meaningful display of serious affection is annihilated", he adds.

For Paul the personal is very political and he believes it is worth making an issue out of it. "Besides it makes me feel good about myself". And after all, isn't that what Lesbian & Gay Pride is all about!

The exhibition can be seen from Mon-Fri, 9.30-5pm, Saturday 10-4pm. Paul's Film video show is on Wednesday 3rd July, 11am 7 Thursday 4th July, 2pm, in the Bonington Lecture Theatre, opposite the Library in Dryden Street, Nottingham.

DERBY FILM FESTIVAL

Cinema Fantastique is the name of the game at this year's Derby Film Festival
The Festival spans three venues - The Metro Cinema - familiar to our readers and the Derby Assembly Rooms and the smaller Guildhall. The festival opens with "Fantasia" at the Assembly Rooms and closes with "The Cabinet of Dr.
Caligari" at the Metro. The festival runs from the 14th June to 23rd June and includes "Metropolis" and "Fahrenheit 451". Bookings can be made through any of the three venues.

A VIEW FROM THE TOWPATH

ON NAVIGATORS AND IRON HORSES

Those among us in search of romance could do much worse than forsaking the tranquil delights of the canal side in favour of the more subtle pleasures available by courtesy of British Rail. I do not refer to the Guy Burgess style of pleasure, who, finding himself on a boat train from Southampton with a group of Seascouts as fellow passengers, had three of them in the smallest compartment by Basingstoke. Being in the days of steam, this would not qualify for membership of the 125 Club, and indeed on that route still wouldn't.

Surely most of us have experienced romantic delights similar to those portrayed in 'Brief Encounter'. We may not have the steam swirling around or the climactic bursts of the iron horse to accompany us, but some of our finest moments have, no doubt, taken place on Railway Stations. I refer to those meetings and partings with Lovers which, afterwards, we remember as though they were a dream.

You may deny it through embarrassment, but I know because I have seen you on platform 3, meeting lovers or travelling to meet them. It would, at least be pleasing to think this was the case. Or perhaps you have met handsome American Tourists on your arrival at St. Pancras. Some good Boddies used to be available there.

Could there be a more romantic station? or you may have received a letter arranging a meeting 'under the clock' at Waterloo, unfortunately to find it was for the previous day. No doubt the letter was carried by train. Or have you been at Kings Cross and said fare-well to your Lover, while an Express waits to carry you into the night and to The North?

There has always been this connection between Gay Men and railways, even if only for a chance encounter rather than a brief one. Perhaps it is due to the symbols of thrusting pistons and long objects entering tunnels, all surrounded by clouds of vapour. Alternately for some, it may be the attraction of, as they used to say, 'Iron Men and wooden coaches'. ~ Whatever it is there is a large fraternity of Railway Enthusiasts who, apart from an atrocious sense of dress, must reproduce by some mysterious means because they are all of the same sex. But then we know different.

Whatever it may be here is an opportunity for all of us to brighten the routine and bring a little romance into the everyday lives of ourselves and others. A journey by road is understandably dull because few of us find anything enchanting on the M1. But next time your train is left sitting, without explanation, in the wastelands of Beeston you don't have to groan. Just hope a little speck of dust gets into your eye. PETER SMITH

POSITIVE THEATRE

Derby Friends of Friend brought Positive Theatre back to the City, for two nights at the end of April at St. Helens House and played to a near capacity audience of 200 each night. The event was attended by the Deputy Lord Mayor of Derby and received financial assistance from the Pavilion Trust, East Midlands Arts, and the Southern Derbyshire Health Authority. Positive Theatre is a unique theatre company in that all of its members are HIV positive or living with AIDS and is composed mostly of gay men, who came together through workshops set up by Body Positive. The company had been scheduled to appear earlier in the year but fire destroyed the venue they were to perform in and the event had to be rebooked. Over 600 was raised.

FRIENDS OF FRIEND

A new social group, Friends of Friend has just started up in Derby and is open to anyone, providing a social alternative to the clubs and pubs scene. They have booked a minibus for Pride in London and might just put on another if demand is sufficient. If you want to go with good company give Derby Friend or Lesbian Line a ring. (Details on back page).

HIV/AIDS UPDATE

LEICESTERSHIRE
 Leicestershire AIDS Support Services has produced and released an audio cassette tape containing HIV/AIDS information and useful telephone numbers. The tape is available free to agencies working with people who have reading difficulties with currently-available information. It contains information about HIV transmission, safer sex and where to go for more advice. It is also available on loan to individuals direct from LASS, tel: (0533) 559995. A spokesperson for LASS said, 'This tape is the first of its kind produced in Leicestershire and represents a significant step forward in equal opportunities'.
