

Donald Munro,
Bournemouth.

10.1.55

Dear Donald,

My sincerest apologies for the great delay in acknowledging the 5s you sent some time ago.

You will doubtless be wondering whether we have gone into liquidation. That is not quite the case, though we shall not be able to publish "Direct Action" again for the time being, owing to lack of funds.

Instead, we have agreed to bring out a series of pamphlets devoted to syndicalist questions. The first one, "What's Wrong with the Unions?" by Tom Brown, is already partly written. We shall be able to do the setting by hand, thus cutting costs to an economic figure. It seemed to us that there is a better field for pamphlets on specific subjects, than for a newspaper dealing with popular broad issues under the present circumstances of social apathy.

How are things going with you?
Let's have some news from you sometimes. . . .

Best wishes,
Fraternally,