

Dear Ken,

I hope this arrives in time for the Jan-Feb. issue of W.L.N. These last few months have been busy ones with home work for the different courses. None of the class seem to have much faith in Vocational Teaching as a career and are just using the government grants as a means of getting a teaching certificate and then transferring into academic teaching. One of the professors, an American, insists that automation is creating more jobs than it is destroying and that these new jobs are mainly in the luxury field manufacturing outboard motors back-yard swimming pools etc. Not the type to inspire me with confidence in his abilities I'm afraid. Have you stopped publishing Direct Action? I have not been receiving it for several months now. Did Jim have any success with his pirate radio scheme, I read recently that the Welsh Nationalist party is still operating a pirate radio and that they have increased their strength through it.

All the best for the New Year,

Bill
