Dear Sir,

This summer a friend and myself are going to Spain. I now realize what a stupid choice it was and in fact, by my contributing to the tourist industry, I will be helping Franco's regime. This was particularly brought home by your article in Direct Action. However it is now too late to put off this holiday, especially I am going to improve my Spanish.

I am going on the cheap by hitchhiking and camping, so I don't think they will be able to get much out of me, but I want to do something to calm my conscience. I have long been anti-Franco and am a keen supporter of the Committee of 100 and I spent some time last summer - the first Campaign Caravan.

If you could give me an address of a Spanish Resistance movement such as the Consejo Ibero de Liberación, where I could obtain some 'subversive' literature (in Spanish) which I could leave around while I was there.

I would be most grateful if you could do this for me as it would make me a great deal happier to think I was doing something positive against Franco.

I would also be grateful if I could have a pithy and reply as school breaks up soon.

Yours paternally

Richard Vine
