RESIST CRUISE

FEB 6

SIT DOWN BLOCKADE

CND's next demonstration will be a Mass Blockade of USAF Molesworth on Thursday February 6th. This date is the first anniversary of Michael Heseltine's "invasion" of the base, when he ordered 1500 police and 1500 troops to evict forcibly the Peace Campers who had made their home there.

Since that invasion, the government has continuously tried to snuff out the Peace Movement's campaign of resistance against Cruise missiles. They have invested over four million pounds in building a ten-foot high razor wire fence around the base. They have even introduced new by-laws (dating from the 19th Century) which make it a criminal offence to trespass on the base, or hang a ribbon or leaflet to the perimeter.

But their efforts have obviously failed. The majority of British people still support us, not the government, on the question of Cruise. Just as importantly, the government have been unable to construct the base quietly and with public consent. They have been forced to draft in hundreds of MoD police from all over the UK, to patrol and guard the place 24 hours a day.

That is why this Blockade on February 6th is so important for all of us. We must show our government, and indeed the US government, that they will not be able to bully us and intimidate us and frighten us away. And we must remind the British people, and all peoples, that Cruise will NOT come easily to our land, that we feel so strongly about this that we are prepared to blockade, if necessary, to interfere with their construction plans.

For many of us, it will not be an easy decision to join the demonstration. February 6th is a weekday and many of us have commitments to family and to work that are difficult to break. For many of us also, this will be the first time that we have decided to risk arrest by taking part in non-violent direct action.

I would only ask that all of us at least think about the possibility of going to Molesworth on February 6th. Think about it and talk about it with friends and other members of your group. Think of this: that our government is building an extermination camp 77 miles away: 64 more Cruise missiles: equivalent to 1000 Hiroshimas.

Cont...

FEB 6

Think of this: that it is a most awful crime with no justification or excuse. Are we really going to stand by and watch them do it? At what point do we step forward and say "NO"? How many new bases are we going to let them build, without trying to interfere and get in the way? And think of this: that if only a small number of us go and interfere, then the government can deal with us easily. But if we all go...all of us, together: then we have a strength and a power that government cannot ignore or brush aside so easily. Think about taking a day off work. Is it really impossible? Can we get a day's holiday or unpaid leave? Is getting arrested and fined such a terrible, terrible thing? Is it beyond consideration? Our government arrests and fines people who try and interfere with the building of extermination camps. That's the reality and so we have to decide with whom we identify and sympathise: the builders or the interferers? If we sympathise with the interferers, then perhaps we should join them. Getting arrested can seem like a huge daunting prospect, but perhaps it is easier to consider, if we remember the context: 1000 Hiroshimas.

Please make time at your next meeting to discuss the Blockade. The organisers would like us to join the Blockade in groups rather than as individuals. February 6th might be an opportunity for us to revitalise our neighbourhood groups. There will be "Training Days" in Nottingham throughout January (see details below). If you decide to join the Blockade, please make

In the meantime, here are 4 points to remember:

1. Raise February 6th at your next meeting. If you want a speaker, phone me on 704621 between 6 and 7 pm or leave a message on 581178.
2. Think ahead for days-off work and Training Sessions.
3. If you can't join the Blockade, but would like to help in other ways (e.g. driving, baby sitting, staffing the office, press liaison, donations, stewarding on the coaches, providing food/drink, then please phone 704621 between 6 and 7 p.m. or leave a message on 581178.
4. You can help publicise the action by buying posters, leaflets and badges.

Let's make February 6th a day of resistance and a day of hope. Let's make Heseltine wish he'd never put on his flak jacket. Let's show the world we won't be frightened off.

See you on February 6th.

WIDENING THE WEB

14-15 December 1985

a weekend of bridge building and idea sharing

WHAT STARTED OUT AS A SINGLE THREAD OF RESISTANCE TO CRUISE HAS DEVELOPED INTO A MULTI-COLOURED WEB AS CONNECTIONS HAVE BEEN MADE WITH OTHER WOMEN'S ACTIONS AROUND RACISM, SEXISM, CLASSISM, IMPERIALISM AND POVERTY...

Greenham is calling all women everywhere to join together to extend the web of women's action

PROGRAMME:

SATURDAY 14 DEC 2PM:-

IN SILENCE WE WILL JOIN HANDS AND TURN OUR BACKS ON THE BASE LOOKING OUTWARDS TO THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD. BY TURNING AWAY FROM THE NEGATIVE WE CAN LOOK OUT INTO THE POSITIVE FUTURE.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON AND SUNDAY:-

WORKSHOPS AT THE VARIOUS CATES WITH DIFFERENT THEMES, E.G. FOOD MOUNTAINS, NUCLEAR FREE PACIFIC...AS WOMEN'S ACTION IS USUALLY IGNORED BY THE MEDIA, IF YOU CAN, BRING NEWS OR A WORKSHOP FROM YOUR AREA TO SHARE WITH OTHERS.

Embrace the base - Greenham Common 1985.
National action Saturday December 14th.
Coaches leave the Salutation Inn, Maid Marian Way at 8.30 a.m, arrive back at 9.00 p.m.
Tickets from Ouroboros, Mushroom, Hiziki from Nov 20th, £3-£5.
Also minibus for whole weekend, phone Liz 473145 to book seats.
ALL WOMEN WELCOME.

FUTURE:-

OTHER MASS ACTIONS HAVE FINISHED ON THE SUNDAY WITH ALL THE WEEKEND WOMEN LEAVING. YOU HAVE NO IDEA HOW DEPRESSING IT CAN BE TO SIT AT THE FIRE AND HEAR HUNDREDS OF WOMEN ONE BY ONE SAYING "GOODBYE" KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK", LEAVING THE SAME HALF DOZEN TIRED WOMEN TO COPE WITH EVICTIONS AND CONVOYS.

SO:- IF EVERY WOMAN WHO COMES TO THIS ACTION WOULD MAKE A COMMITMENT TO COME TO GREENHAM FOR TWO DAYS MIDWEEK EVEN ONCE DURING THE COMING YEAR, IT WOULD MAKE AN ENORMOUS DIFFERENCE TO THE NUMBERS OF WOMEN HERE, AND GIVE STRENGTH AND SUPPORT.

Operation Christmas Card

CND is asking members and supporters to send "personal peace treaties" to individuals and organisations in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. Sending a Christmas card and message in the recipient's own language is a practical and appropriate way of following up the Reagan-Gorbachev summit and making personal contacts across East-West boundaries. The text of the message which is available in Russian, German, Polish, Czech, Bulgarian and Hungarian is as follows.

I send you seasonal greetings and the following personal peace treaty which I have signed and ask you to consider signing.

I agree not to regard you as an enemy and declare:

1. That there are no reasons why the people of Europe should go to war with each other again.

2. That as there are already around 40,000 nuclear weapons in the world - sufficient to destroy our planet many times over - all additional new nuclear weapons are unnecessary and dangerous.
3. That all countries which possess nuclear weapons, or are members of alliances which possess nuclear weapons, can take independent initiatives towards nuclear disarmament without endangering their security in any way.
4. That the vast amount of money and resources spent on weapons of war could be better spent relieving world poverty and pollution of the environment.
5. That I will work for the promotion of peace between our two countries.

Signed:

Full details of Operation Christmas card, including foreign language texts and details of how to obtain addresses in Eastern Europe are given in November "Campaign". This has been circulated to Neighbourhood Groups. Spare copies are available at the office.

I would like to reply to Bob Spence's letter in which he explains why he is "uneasy" about Basic Case campaigning. He is quite wrong, I believe, to assume that Basic Case means CND will be arguing for immediate and total nuclear disarmament by the West. Basic Case is simply PUBLIC EDUCATION about broader issues than just individual weapons systems. It means PUBLIC EDUCATION on Deterrence; on the British Bomb and on the positive results of independent nuclear disarmament. Whether Britain gets rid of its nuclear weapons overnight or over five years is neither here nor there. The fact is that Britain won't get rid of any ever, unless the majority of people in this country want it to happen. Having majorities on Cruise, Trident + Civil Defence is all very fine ... but it isn't enough.

Bob is correct to say, like Bruce Kent, that we must "start from where people are at". Exactly! Most people in this country are profoundly ignorant about the most basic issues in the nuclear defence debate. Most people still believe in the concept of Mutual Assured Destruction. That's where they're at. And unless CND can show those people, through informed, imaginative and persistent PUBLIC EDUCATION, that they are being conned, then CND will not win.

Bob says Basic Case should come after we've got rid of Cruise + Trident. That would be too late. For we could get rid of those weapons systems for the wrong reasons. Because they are expensive (Trident) or controlled by the US (Cruise). If we got rid of them for the wrong reasons, the government would simply replace them with cheap (sea-launched Cruise Missiles) or British-controlled (dual-key) alternatives.

We have to start now, preparing the ground and creating the conditions that will allow a future British Government to implement CND policy. That cannot ever happen without pushing CND's public support up from 23% to over 50%. It's as simple as that.

PETE STRAUSS.

I am concerned about what went on at the October policy meeting, when a motion to "talk to the Post" was heavily defeated.

At the start, the chairman commented on a sudden influx of new members. They must have been the ones sitting in the front rows because, with the motion disposed of, many of the occupants stole away, leaving conspicuously empty seats for most of the evening's business.

Despite its recruitment appeal, the debate was restricted; only 25 minutes allowed, three minute contributions, no right of reply: an ideal vehicle for those who came with set-piece speeches, some of it breathtaking in its fantasy, some funny, but none of it to be challenged.

The proposer of the motion recanted and said he would vote against it. The seconder said nothing. The proposer flourished selected articles from the Post that offended his political philosophy; he did not condemn the verbal violence in Mr. Lundie's letter in the October issue of the Bulletin.

An NUJ speaker was invited, but the Post's request for the same privilege was not allowed. Not surprising when the Bulletin is censured for publishing a letter from the Post's editor. It all underlines a determination not to hear both sides and was reinforced by this meeting's decision that future editorial control will be in the hands of an elected editor.

How strange that CND members, often frustrated victims of emotive misrepresentation and selective facts, can be used in this way. Can't they recognise the same tactics when they're switched to another target? Or does the choice of target make it OK?

Selective fact no.1.

The NUJ speaker did not mention that it betrayed its Nottingham members. Once the pay dispute was resolved, it voted NOT to stay out on strike to secure their reinstatement. Why did the NUJ not test the principle of the "right to strike" then?

Selective fact no.2.

The highspot of his speech was that two of the sacked journalists were CND members. Neither turned up for the meeting; it would have been interesting to hear their views on why the NUJ - subsidised "Nottingham News", which gave them employment, was handed over to the Trade group without them.

MARIAN BRYSON,
(NCND member and a Post reporter.)

Campaigning Workshop

December 13th and 14th

At National Conference the idea of a Basic Case campaign integrating all the different strands of CND activity was overwhelmingly endorsed. In some areas, work has already begun on putting together such a strategy and National CND has plans for a series of public information campaigns beginning next year. Here in Nottm. we'll be getting going with a planning workshop. Please note that the times of this are slightly different to those advertised in last month's bulletin.

The workshop will take place at the WEA, Shakespeare Street, (Lecture Room, Peachey St. entrance) and the programme is as follows:

FRIDAY DEC 13th 7.00 - 9.00 p.m.

Bristol's "Chance of a Lifetime" - visiting speakers from Bristol CND will talk about the successful Basic Case campaign that their group has organised over the past year. This session will be followed by informal discussions.

SATURDAY DEC 14th 10.00 a.m. - 12.30 p.m.

"Taking Stock" - a chance to look at our local scene, our successes, failures, resources, organisation - and the message we want to put across. Helping us do this will be Bill Braddick, West Midlands Regional Organiser, who has been involved in Basic Case planning in Bristol and elsewhere.

1.30 - 4.00 p.m.

"Diversity and Integration" - mobilising for 1986 and beyond.

N.B. 1) If there's a demand for a creche on the Saturday, we'll try to run one. Please contact Ann Kestenbaum (602497).

2) We're sorry for the clash with the Greenham Demo on the Saturday, but hope that women going down there will try to make the Friday evening session.

MOLESWORTH RESIST CRUISE

THE PARADOX OF HESELTINE

A PEACE PUZZLE TO PONDER AT YULETIDE

It was a normal day inside the Greenworth cruise missile base. (How's that for a paradox in the very first sentence - "normal"!!?) The soldiers were imprisoned within the fence, the peace protesters were outside (well, most of them were), not seeming to do much. As I said, it was a normal day.

Suddenly, a soldier burst into the commander's office, gesticulating wildly at a leaflet in his hand. "Sir, sir, read this, sir, quick..!" The commander peered slowly at the agitated creature in front of him, then took the paper, seated himself comfortably and began to read. Ah, I wish you could have watched him as he read, the wonderful array of colours his face took on (actually passing through shades of red, white and blue in succession at one stage), the way his fingernails dug deeper and deeper into the surface of the desk as he gripped ever harder...

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TEMPORARY RESIDENTS OF U.S.A.F. GREENWORTH

We, the people of these islands, wish to inform you that on one of the seven nights next week - and you will not know which night until it happens - the peace movement will invade the base in irresistible numbers and take full control. We shall evacuate all people currently working there and begin to dismantle all the cruise missiles and other military hardware. We are so confident of success that we shall be announcing these plans in the press tomorrow, but we thought you would appreciate an extra day's notice, so you can make arrangements for wherever you'd like to go when you leave.

See you soon!

The silence in the room snapped as a chunk of the desk broke off in the commander's hand. "What on earth are we going to do about this?" he cried to no-one in particular. Then he noticed the piece of desk in his hand, looking deceptively like a thick piece of shortbread, and began to eat it. "We must stop them!" He spat out a tooth. "This is serious!"

Well, amongst the senior officers at the base that day, there was much consternation - panic would not be too strong a word - much of it about what on earth to do about the peace movement's plan, but even more about "Who Would Tell Heseltine?" Eventually, the commander emerged from a cupboard he'd been hiding in and announced that he would make the call. There was a respectful silence in the room as the receiver was lifted, The Number was dialled and The Name spoken. After a curious but obviously completely accidental series of wrong numbers (taking in the New Statesman and Ronald Reagan) and crossed lines (when he found himself talking simultaneously to the National Council for Civil Liberties and the Santa's rest room at Harrod's), he was finally connected. The commander was going to have to tell Heseltine. Now . . .

* * *

"Ah, I think I have it!" exclaimed Heseltine, half an hour later as his helicopter touched down in the base. "It's all right, chaps, there's no need to worry, they simply can't do it!"

"You mean they haven't got enough people..." began one officer.

"No!" (The Eyes swivelled to see who had spoken.)

"Or that our surveillance people will spot them all coming, so it won't be a surprise!" the officer hazarded.

"Again, no! In fact, they couldn't do it even if we didn't watch for them! In fact, let all the surveillance people have the week off, they deserve it!"

"But, Mr. Heseltine . . ."

"No 'buts', I have worked it out with iron logic - it is absolutely impossible for these protesters to carry out their plan, totally and utterly impossible!"

The Eyes swivelled around the room, daring anyone to speak, to challenge The Iron Logic, while The Feet lounged in slippers on a corner of a desk with what looked for all the world like a large bite taken out of it.

"Look", he said finally, "I'll convince you. They can't leave it to Saturday night because that's the last night of the week. If we got through to Saturday morning without the invasion, we'd know that it would happen on Saturday night, before it happens. That contradicts what they said, that we won't know until it happens. And they do always tell the truth, don't they?"

"Er, yes, sir. . ." said the officer, waiting for the clever bit.

"Right, so Saturday's out, and Friday is the last possible night. But they can't do it on

SPOT THE POLARIS CONVOY

Anyone who travels round the country may see a Nuclear Weapons Convoy, on its way between the Clyde and Burghfield, Berks.

Here's how you recognise it.

This size can vary but most convoys consist of the following:

- * Military motor cycle outriders at the front and back.
- * Green transit van carrying armed guards of the RAF regiment.
- * 3-6 Mammoth Major 10-ton carriers. They have a telescoping roof. The back part of the roof slides under the front for the loading of the weapons. Each lorry carries about 4 warheads, although one is usually empty.
- * A fire tender.
- * Command and control centre - similar to a plain furniture van, with a blue light on top. It is equipped to act as mobile armoury and control centre in the event of an accident.
- * More transit vans.

If You Spot a Convoy
Please do as many of the following things as you can:

- Record:
  - a) The number of warhead carriers
  - b) Registration number of the carriers
  - c) Where they were sighted & direction in which they were travelling
  - d) Approximate time and date
- Try to photograph the convoy, this will be of particular interest to your local press.
- Phone in your sighting to Janet Convery at CND, 01-250 4010 or leave a message at the switchboard.
- Give details to your local press
