There have been remarks that the Bulletin has fallen in standards. This we cannot dispute, but there are very, very few of us to produce this. A bulletin is as good as its contributors and we are not getting any articles or letters to publish.

As we no longer have active groups for stimulating discussion cannot we use the bulletin to provide this stimulus. With a good subject we could possibly get a workshop or discussion group revived. With a membership input we would be delighted to issue newsletters more frequently.

Membership:

As our membership has fallen nearly to crisis figures, we have done a very loose survey of the reasons we are losing our support. The bulk of the answers are:

C.N.D. is a lost cause, the problem is too big: No good cause is lost until it has completed its aim. It may be put aside, hidden under other good causes and forgotten, but not lost until it is won.

Is heart, or cancer, research a lost cause because people are still dying of these diseases? Think of all the causes which could be helped if the money was not be spent on nukes.

C.N.D. is no longer needed since the end of the Cold War: What about the devising and testing newer and bigger nukes? Testing is not done in our back-yard so gets very little media coverage. (U.S.A. have extended the test ban in the Nevada Desert, but the U.K. are ardently trying to reverse this decision.) When the other back-yards are fouled then we must share ours. The Government are refusing human refugees, but welcoming toxic waste to these shores.

There are valuable 'spin-offs' from space research: surely the astronomical cost and despoilation of the earth is a high price for freezer-to-oven and non-stick cooking equipment.

Natural disasters are just as catastrophic: certainly these are on a grand scale and result in loss of lives and property, but the earth is not polluted by radio-activity and unable to be worked for milleniums.

IS C.N.D. A LOST CAUSE? not whilst its members believe in peace, universal well-being and the desire to leave a healthy earth to be enjoyed by our children... ..and their children.....and theirs.....and theirs .....

Conference in Bradford

Martin Jones

This year's Conference will be in Bradford over the weekend of 13-14 November. We will be at the University which is a short (if uphill) walk from the centre of town and the railway station.

If any member would like to attend National Conference please contact the office.

Members must also be National members.

Some member may know somebody who they think would make an Executive member. We have nomination forms in the office.

The date for resolutions to National Conference is past, but amendments may be submitted when the resolutions are received by us.

Our members at the protest, at Toton Roundabout on Saturday, June 12th 1993, drawing attention to the transport of nuclear warheads by road to and from Sellafield and Wittering.

The action took the form of display of posters and distribution of leaflets. There was a larger turn-out of members than for some considerable time, and the reaction from passing motorists was encouraging. We attracted attention without causing any traffic hazard and were wished luck by the traffic police who visited us. The police seemed unaware that nuclear warheads were being transported by road, they assumed they went by rail.

Bardell's managerness took exception to the handing out of leaflets by the car park.

Trident Alert

Nicola Butler, campaigns worker

Calling all Trident campaigners! Trident submarine number one, HMS Vanguard, is due to be commissioned in August or September. At this time Vanguard will be formally handed over to the navy. Vanguard is currently undergoing finishing-off work and modifications at Vickers Shipbuilding and Engineering Ltd (VSEL) in Barrow, following its sea trials off Scotland. Trident submarine number two, HMS Victorious, is also under construction at VSEL and is due to be rolled out and dunked in the near future.

The commissioning, which will probably be in Barrow but could be at Faslane, may attract some press coverage. It is a good opportunity for CND groups and members to write letters to the local press highlighting the cost of the Trident programme and the threat to the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. Barrow CND and North Cumbrian groups will be protesting against the commissioning and the roll out and dunking. If you want to join them in Barrow, please contact Chris Sinton on [redacted] also be organising actions around the commissioning. For details please phone [redacted]

As soon as CND has dates and further details of the commissioning, roll-out and dunking we will be telephoning all interested groups and individuals. If you would like to be part of the Trident Alert telephone tree, please complete the form enclosed in this edition of Campaign, or contact Nicola Butler on [redacted]
