PUTTING THE BOOT IN

The Derby Evening Telegraph has been accused of Sun-style sleaze by distorting facts to maximise sales, in a front page story which appeared on 9th May.

Headlined 'Get Out of Town' - WPC launches solo campaign to rid toilets and popular park of perverts', it claimed that WPC Linda Sturgeon was waging a one-woman campaign against 'gay sex acts' in Markeaton Park. The story implied that the WPC was waging a solo crackdown against users of the cottage. The story has angered the gay community and police for different reasons: many gay and bisexual men are incensed at the apparent waste of police resources on cataloguing victimless crimes, arresting, charging and often ruining lives and breaking up families, whilst some in the police force see the press reporting as an attempt to discredit the work of the Derby Lesbian and Gay Police Liaison Group.

Outright! spoke to WPC Sturgeon who denied she had branded the park a 'pervert's paradise'. We later spoke to Inspector Glenn Wickes who agreed the WPC had admitted using the word 'sleazy' in her interview with the Telegraph but claimed that the 'perverts' paradise' was the invention of the newspaper.

Said Inspector Wickes (pictured): "It's true we are arresting people in Markeaton cottage but WPC Sturgeon is part of a team and is not working alone or on a 'crusade'.

We are in a catch-22 situation - the cottage is open 24 hours on a busy main road. Residents' complaints have centred on the problems of parking whilst some members of the gay community have called for the policing to continue, because they can't use the cottage for legitimate purposes", he said.

He added "I have nothing against gay men meeting one another but why can't they find somewhere else to do it, out of sight where complaints are unlikely to arise. We have leafletted the gay community outlets in Derby and warned them that we will be keeping surveillance and making arrests where necessary, and as a result, no Derby gay men use the cottage now".

Some months ago the Derbyshire Constabulary in association with the Derby Lesbian & Gay Liaison Group, produced a leaflet, 'Personal safety when you're out and about', paid for by the management of Freddie's Bar and Curzons, which is widely available in straight and gay venues in the city, including libraries.

John Clarkson 1946-1996

John Clarkson, was a past Co-ordinator of Nottingham Gay Switchboard, as it was then known, for almost ten years, and the Convenor of the Nottingham Campaign for Homosexual Equality in the late 1970's and early '80s.

Born in Nottingham, John worked for some time as an actor and was a lover of classical music and the arts. He had always wanted to visit Florence and was hoping to make the trip before he died.

He had a fun-loving sense of the ridiculous and his child-like humour endeared him to many but he had a serious side too. John was a tenacious campaigner and had personally experienced homophobia early in life, having been imprisoned as a teenager under the pre-1967 legislation which outlawed sex between men. His trial in the Nottingham Shire Court was re-enacted many years later in a BBC television programme.

In 1989 he settled in Liverpool. After several heart attacks he underwent heart by-pass surgery but never fully recovered. He was admitted to hospital on 15th May and died on the morning of Sunday 19th May 1996, a month after his 50th birthday.

There was a Humanist service at The Liverpool Philharmonic Concert Hall 30th May, followed by a Remembrance of his life at the Oxford pub near John's home. He has left his body for medical research.

Nothing Short of Brilliant

A new initiative in the fight for AIDS awareness and education has been launched in Lincolnshire.

The Lincolnshire HIV/AIDS Voluntary Group identified the need for new and fresh ideas for publicity using the skills of local art students. Scott Watkinson, Community Sexual Health Outreach Worker for LAVG said: "The idea to use local art students was both original and risky but a new angle was needed. I wanted one of the groups of people most affected by HIV and AIDS, students, to come up with their own images of AIDS awareness instead of someone sitting behind a desk in a stuffy office".

There were fifty six entries and the quality of the response was so high - "Nothing short of brilliant" says Scott - that the number selected for reproduction as posters was increased from four to six. Posters, postcards and leaflets bearing the new images are now circulating in Lincolnshire to schools, colleges, youth centres, health centres and hospitals. A Health Promotion bus bearing photos of the winning entries went on tour in April and May.

The project is a liaison between LAVG, Lincs Health Authority, Lincs Health Promotion and de Montfort University Lincoln School of Art and Design. More information from Scott Watkinson, 01522 513 999.

CLUB MANAGER SPEAKS OUT

Gay men in Derbyshire have been told by Trent Region of the National Blood Service not to donate blood - even if they have always practised safe sex. But injecting drug users and men who have been involved with prostitute women can still donate blood. And they will not even be asked whether they have used a condom.

The advice states that men who have had sex with other men should never give blood, even if they have used a condom. But the list of those allowed to give blood includes, prostitute women, injecting drug users, women who have had sex with bisexual men and people who have had sex in parts of Africa where HIV and AIDS are common among heterosexuals. These groups are merely asked to stop donating blood for a year after taking part in high risk activity.

A spokeswoman for the National Aids Helpline would not comment on the transfusion service's policy, but she said: "If a condom is used, and the condom doesn't burst, as far as we are concerned that is safe." A spokesperson for the Department of Health said: "These things are based on the best medical knowledge we have".

Dave Collins (pictured), manager of Freddie's Bar in Curzon Street, Derby said the rule was "stupid" and blatant discrimination. He added: "I think it is safer for a man to have sex with a man using a condom than to have sex with a prostitute without one".

"I could understand it if it was 10 years ago, but not now. The gay community are not ignorant about HIV whereas a lot of the heterosexual community are."

A TRIP TO TIRANA

English visitors to Albania are nothing new. Both Byron and Edward Lear were enthusiastic travellers. They admired the wild beauty of the countryside, the classical and Turkish architecture and the friendliness of the people although they did complain about bedbugs.

Today you would visit for much the same reasons. The country is at the stage of development when conditions have vastly improved since the horrors of the dictatorship of Enver Hoxha and before the culture of fastfood and western drug habits have taken over. There is a flourishing cafe culture in Tirana and discos now exist. The beaches, in the south, opposite Corfu are clean and uncrowded. The mosques and Orthodox churches are now operational. The people are remarkably friendly and are zealous hosts, despite power and water cuts. Albanian meals are full - a mixture of Turkish and Greek dishes and the wine is always an interesting experience.

You will see attractive men walking hand in hand as well as kissing in public but don't be fooled. This is standard Muslim male friendship being expressed and has nothing to do with gay affections. Albanians are still locked in the closet and cruising is an unwise activity. But the friendship towards visitors is still expressed, without a sexual element and this attitude of old world courtesy makes any visit worthwhile. Of course, Byron and Lear had sexual habits that would shock their contemporaries and it is alleged that Enver Hoxha liked attractive men so perhaps modern gay visitors are not quite so unusual today.

POST CARD CAMPAIGN

Sainsbury Specials

A postcard campaign against the Sainsbury chain has been organised by Everywoman magazine.

For the past four years the Jerusalem Trust, a charitable foundation set up by the Sainsbury family, has been making donations to an extremist evangelical organisation, the True Freedom Trust which claims to 'heal' lesbians and gay men of their sexuality.

Since 1992 the True Freedom Trust has received £22,000 from the Jerusalem Trust, which in turn has shareholdings in J Sainsbury plc.

Everywoman has been organising a protest campaign against Sainsbury's, urging readers to boycott the supermarket, Homebase and Texas chain, and to send protest postcards to them for forwarding to the Sainsbury Managing Director. The text of the postcard might be on the lines of:

Dear David Sainsbury.

As a regular customer at Sainsbury's, I am writing to protest against the donations made to the True Freedom Trust by the Jerusalem Trust, a charity established by the Sainsbury family, that holds substantial shares in J Sainsbury plc. The TFT claims to be able to 'heal' lesbians and gay men of their sexuality, a position I find morally repellent on the grounds that is neither possible nor desirable to change a person's sexual orientation.

I am interested to know what position J Sainsbury plc takes on this matter. Please note that I shall not be shopping at Sainsbury's until such time as I receive a satisfactory reply.

Yours sincerely,

Name and address.

Send your completed postcard in an envelope to Everywoman, 9 St Alban's Place, London, N1 0NX.

Working for the Community

One of the frustrations that gay-friendly insurers have had in recent years has been the difficulty of providing health insurance cover for 'critical illness' (cancer, strokes, heart attacks etc). We spoke to Phil Carvosso (pictured) of Portland Insurance about efforts to find a way around this problem.

"The reason why this type of cover has been difficult to obtain for gay and bisexual men has been that insurers have been concerned that, despite standard HIV AND AIDS exclusions in policies, the cancerous nature of the HIV virus and its effects on the immune system could have resulted in many 'critical illness claims' avoiding detection and not being recognised as AIDS related conditions.

My own personal feelings regarding 'critical illness cover' has always been that it is a policy tailor-made to meet the requirements of the gay lifestyle. We have a tendency, I believe, to burn the candle at both ends and perhaps over indulge in life's pleasures more so than our heterosexual counterparts. This can leave us more exposed to the illnesses and conditions covered by these policies. Fortunately we have now obtained a competitive quote for 'critical illness cover' with no discrimination against gay and bisexual men although, as with all life offices, each application will be dealt with on an individual basis and underwritten accordingly."

Another area in which discrimination against same sex couples has operated is motor insurance where insurers have refused to accept them as 'partner and spouse'. Phil is now working on that one. If progress is made, we'll let you know.

Forum Thrives

The LGB Forum in Nottingham continues to thrive, with twelve groups represented at their recent meeting. The May meeting heard news about the state of the local club and pub scene, a Unison weekend away in June, the Community Safety Working Party survey into homophobic crime, discussions with County Council Education officers, and arrangements for 'Pride'.

Next meeting Tues 13th Aug 7.30pm, Queens Walk Community Centre.

Coming Of Age

One of the longest established telephone helplines in the UK came of age in 1995. Nottingham Lesbian and Gay Switchboard celebrated twenty one years of service to the community with several new achievements. This was the year when the Switchboard at last got a room of its own at the Council for Voluntary Service and raised over £2,000 from various sources. Training events were organised for new and existing volunteers and a handbook for operators was published. The Annual Report reveals that 2,167 calls were received during the year and over 215 hours spent on the phone.

For details of telephone numbers and operating times of all regional switchboards, see our Helplines guide on page 10.

QUEERCORE UPROAR!

San Franciscan neo-punk trio Pansy Division hit the UK during June as part of their European Tour. Their fourth album 'Wish I'd Taken Pictures' is a blistering fourteen track racer and follows the sensible punk rule of short sharp shocks with the longest track clocking in at a mammoth four minutes. The set kicks off with 'Horny In The Morning', an under the sheets dick grabber, in an energetic shockwave of Ramones buzz-saw guitar and catchy hard hitting hooks. The dot-to-dot paint by numbers punk style is not the only string to their bow, as exemplified on 'The Summer You Let Your Hair Grow Out' which sparkles like a shimmering flashback to the late sixties with Byrdsesque harmonies and acoustic angles, whilst during 'The Ache' a mournful cello slouches in to perfectly conclude the tale of a stagnant relationship.

Pansy Division balance the spiky edge of pop sensibility with equally sussed witty observations of fast life in the gay lane as on 'Vanilla', a tale of unadventurous sex and the top class 'Dick of Death', which we urgently need as a single.... imagine the deep joy on hearing a Radio 1 DJ announcing the title and the group on the chart rundown whilst 'Expiration Date' is a faceslapping heavy snarl of fuzzed out megaphone madness with bastardised gnarly Feargal Sharkey vocals.

It's a shame this didn't happen twenty years ago when it would have been yet another shocking facet to the punk rock diamond, totally unacceptable and even more 'Up yours!'. But that's just me being a sad old git.

Pansy Division play at the Narrowboat, Canal Street, Nottingham on Friday 21 June, supported by Bradford's Kitsch. The fun starts at 8.30 pm. Do yourself a favour and go.

MADAGASCAR SKIN
Dir: Chris Newby/UK/1995/93 mins.

A little gem of a movie with winning performances from John Hannah and Bernard Hill. They play a pair of outsiders - respectively, a shy gay man and a bruiser with a dodgy past - who meet by chance on a remote stretch of coast, and set up an unlikely home together in a derelict cottage.

Wed 12 June, 6.15pm & Thu 13 June, 8.45pm

Positively Thriving!

Derby's Body Positive Group have recently moved house. Literally. After three years in a featureless city centre suite of offices complete with lousy landlord they've struck it lucky. "We'd no wish to renew our lease so we just walked the streets, saw this one, and took it from there", says Wayne Linsky, their Volunteer Fundraiser. The contrast between their previous and present premises couldn't be greater. "Our present landlord is fab, they can't do enough to help us here", Wayne he adds.

Funded by Southern Derbyshire Health Authority, the Centre lies in a residential Derby back street. The ground floor has a comfortable lounge, kitchen and bathroom, all wheelchair accessible, which lead via open plan stairs to the offices on the first floor which also includes a treatment room. The place feels cosy and pleasantly informal, with users dropping in during the day.

"We want to encourage an 'open house' approach. When we're here we're open!", And people take them at their word often travelling from as far afield as Mansfield and Nottingham to attend with regular socials, meals around the hearth and weekends away.

They make it a rule never to presume anyone's HIV status. "We have both HIV+ and HIV- people in our team, but when it comes to voting only those who are Positive can vote", said Peter Noble Deputy Chair of the Group.

But three months on, the street still can't quite figure them out. "They can't be a charity! they've all got posh cars! We don't know what's going off", they're overheard to say. But while the neighbours speculate who their new arrivals are, there's much work to be done with the Derby Walk for Life only a week away, and everyone working flat out to make it a success.

New developments include an HIV+ Positive Women's night starting in July providing the space for the women to self-organise and although only six months in their new home, plans are already under way to expand into adjoining property which includes much-needed conference facilities and a conservatory.

Work tends to get allocated around people's skills and interests. "If you enjoy the work, it can keep you going when things get tough", says Peter. But right now Wayne has thoughts on other things. He's off to Spain next week for a break. "We work hard and play hard but we have a lot of laughs too". I believe him.

The Centre is open Mon-Fri 2-5pm and Tuesday, 10-5pm. The Positive Women's Group begins on July 11th. Phone or write 01332 292129 or write to Derbyshire Body Positive, PO Box 124, Derby DE1 9NZ.

OUT AND ABOUT

Meet Jens (pronounced Yentz!). The GAI Project's new Outreach Worker who is also based half time at the Health Shop in Broad Street. He is taking Safer sex work out onto the streets and cruising areas of Nottingham providing information, support and free condoms to all men who have sex with men. The project is keen to provide information around sexuality, HIV testing and encouraging take up of the vaccine against Hep B.

"Part of my job is working with established groups and encouraging and supporting new groups as they spring up. So for example a group or a number of individuals might identify a workshop or training requirements on say sexuality, coming out or safer sex. I could then go off and set this up." (The recent 'Rough Sex' Seminar was one such initiative that was quickly filled - there is likely to be another one soon, Jens assures me).

But Jens is no stranger to Nottingham, having lived and worked here for a number of years before returning to Wolverhampton to work in Health Promotions with young people around HIV and AIDS.

He knows from personal experience that coming out or becoming gay identified can be painful for many including himself. "I had no positive role models as a teenager with whom I could identify with. And it wasn't just about being straight-acting or camp; we now see gay men on a whole range of different levels. All I had was John Inman!

Fortunately for Jens when he moved here in 1991 he made contact with the Nottingham Bisexual Group. "They were a very supportive group who helped me to come to terms with several things such as my first same sex experience at 16, which turned out to be very abusive, and in reinforcing my dislike of labels and rules. Returning to Wolverhampton was like coming out all over again. Some tears but overall one hell of a party!"

Now things seemed to have turned full circle and he's back in town. "This time I'm here wanting to put something back". You can reach Jens either by calling into the Health Shop on Tuesday/Thursday or phoning the GAI Project on their new direct line (0115) 9476868.

BROADWAY BENEFIT FOR OUT HOUSE

'Stonewall' the acclaimed movie charting the birth of Gay Liberation in the late 60's, plays Nottingham's Broadway during the first week of June. When the New York Drag Queens started fighting back against police brutality first with dimes then lobbing beer bottles. Directed by Nigel Finch, whose untimely death occurred towards completion of the film. A benefit showing of 'Stonewall' for Nottingham's Out House Project takes place on Tuesday, 4th June at 8.15pm.

At a recent meeting of the Out House Project it was agreed to continue discussions on the building next to the Admiral Duncan, in Lower Parliament Street.
